Two Are in Hospital After Truck Accident

Po'keepsie Block Halts Pair Wanted On Kidnap Charge

Patrolman Brophy, Aide With Gun Halt Two in Midtown at Early Hour

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—A policeman and a gun toting civilian set up a road block early today and captured two heavily armed youths wanted for kidnaping a Windsor Locks, Conn., patrolman.

The pair had been the object of a 13-state police search since Sunday, wanted for the kidnaping of Provisionary Patrolman Anthony B. Padelskas. Padelskas was held prisoner for several hours by an armed man who held him up as he investigated a suspicious car.

The fugitives were identified as Paul J. Fitzgerald, 23, a laborer of Hartford (1103 Main street.), Conn., and Charles F. Timms, 19, a short order cook, of Oakville, Conn.

They were captured in midtown Poughkeepsie at 1:30 a. m. (E.S.T.) today by city Patrolman John Brophy and Michael Maresca, a cafe proprietor.

Surrender at Gunpoint

Fitzgerald and Timms surrendered under the drawn guns of the two men. Sprawled with Timms in the back seat, and apparently asleep, was a 13-year-old girl. She said she was Dorothy Mezel of Chicago (6549 Baulin street).

Brophy said Timms started to

Two area men were hospitalized after two trucks collided almost head-on at 10 a. m. today on Route 213 at Atwood, state police reported.

Alfred Rose, (age unavailable) of Olive Bridge, was pinned in the cab of the rack body truck he was driving for more than an hour following the collision. Suffering leg injuries and other possible injuries, Rose was taken to the Benedictine Hospital in a W. N. Conner, Inc., ambulance, accompanied by Dr. John R. Roberts, who was brought to the scene by Sheriff Cluett Schantz.

Also taken to the hospital was Reginald Howland about 48, of Stone Ridge, a passenger in one of the trucks. Examinations of both men were in progress at the hospital and no condition report was available early this afternoon.

Kerosene on Road

Kerosene spilled on the roadway from the Walter T. Davenport tank truck that overturned brought Stone Ridge and High Falls fire departments to stand by with foamite extinguishers to guard against a fire. Troopers and sheriff's men strictly enforced "no smoking" orders in the area. The Davenport truck was driven by Raymond Davis of Stone Ridge, troopers said. Davis received minor injuries but was not hospitalized, according to the report.

The front ends of both trucks were demolished. The accident occurred on a curve on Route 213 about 500 feet west of the Atwood Chapel.

Advance Is 1,000 Yards By Infantry

Aerial Support Steps Up for Troops—Enemies' Jets Refuse Battle for Second Day

Two Planes Lost

Anti-Aircraft Fire Hits American Craft, Pilots Believed Lost

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 30 (AP)—Allied infantrymen in eastern Korea beat back an attack near Heartbreak Ridge by 1,000 Chinese in predawn darkness today, then drove ahead 1,000 yards in daylight.

On the western front United Nations forces gained more than half a mile northwest of Yonchon with little trouble.

Reinforced Chinese who had hurled day-long attacks at the allies southeast of Kumsong in the center of the line Monday made only two small probing attacks Tuesday. Both were turned back.

In the air war Communist anti-aircraft guns shot down two American planes today—an F-80 Shooting Star jet and a reconnaissance plane. The Fifth Air Force said there was "no chance of pilot survival."

For the second straight day Red jet pilots refused to fight American jets over MIG Alley in northwest Korea. American airmen said they spotted 60 MIG-15s, but the Reds kept out of range.

Fighter pilots stepped up their flights in support of ground troops to 131 Tuesday.

Stabs Two Miles

On the central front an allied raiding party stabbed two miles northwest of Kumsong and shot up the town of Choso.

UN patrols probed all through the area, feeling out strengthened positions of the Chinese since a fresh division moved in to back up units hurt by this month's allied offensive. One patrol was caught in Communist artillery fire and suffered some losses. Another blasted into the village of Changbangpyong.

Reds and Allies struggled for control of a ridgeline ten miles southeast of Kumsong. Troops of either army atop the ridgeline would endanger the other's supply line.

Sharpest fighting Tuesday was in the mountains between Kumsong and Heartbreak Ridge. A battalion of screaming Chinese stormed against Allied infantrymen in the early morning blackness.

Dug In, Stay There

UN troops, dug in on a ridge recently won from the Communists west of Heartbreak, stuck to their foxholes and trenches and cut down the shouting Reds.

With daylight, other UN infantrymen in the same area jumped off in an attack. By noon they had pushed forward 1,000 yards against light opposition.

The Reds mounted only four other "light probing attacks"

Hodes Says Reds Dally Cease-Fire

Nuckols Reports Enemy Presses Proposal of Trade for Important Positions

Defenses Sought

Allies Would Have UN Troops in Defensible Spots

Munsan, Korea, Oct. 30 (AP)—A United Nations truce negotiator said today "we're busting our guts trying to get this war settled" but the Reds are making "no attempt to get a reasonable solution."

The statement came from Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chairman of the UN truce subcommittee, during a recess in the sixth joint subcommittee session at Panmunjom.

The negotiators met three hours but failed to make headway toward creating a Korean cease-fire line. Another meeting is scheduled for 11 a. m. Wednesday (9 p. m. Tuesday, E.S.T.).

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN spokesman, said:

"The Communists continued to press for their proposal which would trade indefensible territory in west Korea in the Ongjin area for important military positions along the battlefront. No progress toward a solution was made."

Have Made No Trade

At Panmunjom, within sight of bursting allied shells, Hodes said the Communists "have made no trade, no offer, no attempt to get a reasonable solution.

"They say they will withdraw from the Ongjin and Yonan peninsulas. This is absolutely meaningless. It makes no difference to us and it makes no difference to them. There isn't any argument for it."

The two peninsulas are west of the battleline. They protrude below the 38th parallel, old political boundary line between North and South Korea. Ongjin is cut off by water from the rest of South Korea.

Would Have to Retreat

The allies want UN troops left in a defensible position along whatever cease-fire line is created for the armistice. Their latest proposal is for a 2½-mile wide buffer zone along present battle lines. Under the Reds' counter-proposal UN troops would have to retreat five to 15 miles southward from their present ridges.

A newsman commented to Hodes that the Red plan would mean allied withdrawal from newly won Heartbreak Ridge on the eastern front. The general chief of staff of the U. S. 8th Army replied:

"There are a hell of a lot of Heartbreak Ridges as far as I'm concerned—a couple of hundred of them."

Kramer Tells Illegality Of Police-Firemen Matter

City Clerk Reminds Public He Was One Who Began Action

In a radio speech last night, City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer dealt with the police-fireman pay question, and the illegal angle of it.

"I was the city official whose action resulted in the rejection of the petition because it was illegal," he said.

"It is therefore, my duty," he stressed, "to explode this phony campaign issue by explaining to you in detail the facts in this case."

Kramer's speech was as follows:

The Democratic Party for some time has been trying to make a political football of the police and firemen's petition for a referendum to increase their pay.

Mr. Plunkett, the Democratic county chairman, in his address opening their campaign, said: "Can you say that the people of Kingston are apathetic and indifferent to the wages being paid to the police and firemen of our city when over 6,000 of them signed the referendum petitions to place this question upon the ballot?"

This was followed by a question posed last Thursday night by the Democratic-Liberal Party candidate for mayor, who asked: "Mr. Mayor, why did you sign the firemen and police pay referendum petition and then repudiate it? In short, why did you, in effect, issue the police and firemen a check and then stop payment on it?"

Ladies and gentlemen, I was the city official whose action resulted in the rejection of the petition because it was illegal. It is therefore my duty to explode this phoney campaign issue by explaining to you in detail the facts in this case.

As many of you probably know, the firemen and policemen in 1950 asked for a wage increase of $800 for 1951. After consulting with the fire and police boards, they reduced their demand to $600. The Common Council upon the recommendations of the mayor, granted all city employes a cost of living bonus of $240 for 1951, including policemen and firemen. The city administration applied the principle of equal treatment to all city employes.

In 1951 the police and firemen

Bard College Gets Large Estate At Annandale as Zabriskie Gift Of Almost Half-Million Dollars

Famous Property Consists of Handsome Mansion, Buildings, Swimming Pool, 825 Acres; Case Cites Donor for 'Magnificent Action'; Campus 'One of Most Beautiful'

Annandale-on-Hudson, Oct. 30—Bard College announced today the gift of Blithewood, at Annandale-on-Hudson, one of the most famous and beautiful Hudson river estates, from Christian A. Zabriskie of New York.

The 825-acre estate, which adjoins the present college property, increases the college's campus almost 20-fold. It includes the estate once owned by John Bard, who founded the college in 1860, and represents the largest single gift in the history of the small, co-educational, liberal arts institution. Preliminary estimates place its value conservatively at more than a third of a million dollars.

Praises 'Magnificent Action'

In his acknowledgement of the gift, President James H. Case, Jr., stated: "Mr. Zabriskie's magnificent action in deeding his estate to Bard marks the turning point in the development of the college. We now have one of the most beautiful campuses in the country with a wide frontage on the Hudson river and a commanding view of the Catskill mountains. We also have the opportunity to enlarge our student body, to provide adequate faculty housing, and to develop and expand our instructional facilities.

"Bard College," he added, "has won wide recognition for its individualized and progressive plan of education, even though handicapped throughout its history by lack of many of the facilities that other colleges regard as essential. At last we shall have the things we really need to make our program permanent and effective."

Because of Bard's tradition of democratic community organization, plans for the use and development of the property will offer an unusual opportunity for concerted action by trustees, faculty, students, parents, and alumni. Committees are now being formed through which representatives of all these groups will participate in helping to determine the educational uses to

President Signs Postal Rate Boost

Penny Post Card Goes Out in February—Other Changes

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—President Truman today signed the postal rate increase bill which dooms the penny post card as a part of a $117,000,000 annual boost in postal charges.

The new two-cent rate on post cards goes into effect next Feb. 1.

In addition, there will be a 10 per cent boost in mailing charges for newspapers and magazines April 1 next year. Two other 10 per cent increases on this type of mail will take effect April 1, 1953, and April 1, 1954, making a 30 per cent hike in all.

An increase in the charge for third class mail—largely circulars and advertising—will take place July 1, 1952. This is achieved by hiking the minimum bulk rate from one cent to one and one-half cents a piece.

Charges for most postoffice special services—such as insured mail, special delivery, registered mail and C.O.D. deliveries—will go up next Feb. 1.

The special delivery stamp will be 20 cents instead of the present 15.

Drury Will Speak At Closing Dinner

Reports to Be Given About Gifts to Hospital Building Fund

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury will be the principal speaker at the closing dinner of the Benedictine Hospital building fund campaign tonight at the municipal auditorium. More than 400 workers and friends of the hospital are expected to attend.

Chairmen of all divisions, their captains and workers will be seated at special tables from which reports will be issued on their work of the last week.

The meeting will be in charge of co-general chairman James A. Dwyer. His associate, Senator Arthur H. Wicks will make a short talk as will Roger H. Loughran, chairman of the special gifts division.

A final report from the Max Ulman, Inc., employes today reached $1,484 which together with the company subscription of $1,500 permits the employes to take the memorial they had selected in the new wing of the hospital.

Old Stone Found

Tomb Marker Uncovered by Laborer; for Boy in 1733

Kearney, N. J., Oct. 30 (AP)—A telephone company laborer laying underground cables unearthed a 218-year-old tombstone yesterday.

The tombstone for a five-year-old boy was dug up by Manuel Rigo, an employe of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. It was buried two feet under ground.

An old English inscription on the stone read: "Here lyes ye body of John Tom, son of John Tom, aged 5 years. Decd. Marched 29, 1733."

About 20 years ago a tombstone dated 1732 was discovered in the same area.

Halloween Parade Set Wednesday

Port Ewen Corps Will Lead March; Party at Auditorium

The Port Ewen Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps will lead the recreation department's annual Halloween parade again this year it was announced today.

Members of the corps will meet at Academy Green at 7 p. m., tomorrow. From there they will lead the youngsters from the uptown area to the auditorium for the program there.

After the uptown paraders are left at the auditorium, the drum corps will continue down Broadway to Delaware avenue where they will join the downtown youngsters and lead them to the auditorium.

The Forty & Eight locomotive, which is temporarily out of commission, will not be in the parade for the first time in several years.

Selection of winning costumes this year will be by judges without assists from the audience in order to speed up that part of the program.

Bartke Restaurant Burns at Ravena; Loss Is $200,000

Bartke's restaurant on Route 9W one mile south of Ravena was totally destroyed by fire which broke out at 5 a. m. today.

State police said loss estimates ranged up to $200,000.

Five fire companies—Ravena, Selkirk, Coeymans Hollow, Coeymans and North Baltimore—were unable to save the building because of inadequate water supply, troopers reported.

Cause of the fire has not been determined. It was discovered by Frank Bartke, proprietor, state police reported. The restaurant had not opened for the day's business when the fire broke out.

Metropolitan Milk Users Will Pay Penny Additional

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Consumers in a large part of the New York Metropolitan area will start paying from one to one-and-a-half cents more a quart for their milk Thursday.

The Office of Price Stabilization announced yesterday a regulation increasing prices on milk at the processors' and distributors' level, and on home-delivered milk.

Milk industry employes struck one day last week to get wage increases and other benefits. The strike was settled with a pay increase after mediators were given the gist of the order allowing milk dealers more money.

The milk industry in this area had petitioned the OPS for price ceiling relief two months ago.

OPS Regional Director James G. Lyons estimated retail prices would average an increase of slightly less than one cent a quart.

And the specific ceilings set on home-delivered milk—25½ cents for regular and 26½ cents for homogenized—run one and a half cents above current prices.

These were the only specific prices placed at the retail level. The old mark-up system will continue to prevail in stores.

The order affects New York city and the counties of Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk, with the exception of Fisher's Island in Suffolk county.

Industry sources predicted a general rise of one and a half cents a quart, with an additional cost of $22,000,000 a year to consumers.

The cost of regular milk sold in glass containers to stores, restaurants and other wholesale outlets will be 21½ cents. In paper containers, the price will be 22 cents. Homogenized milk will be a half cent higher.

Lyons said the cost in the past has ranged from 17½ to 22 cents for regular milk in glass bottles, depending on various conditions.

Wholesalers, under the new order, must maintain the same margin of profit. The usual retail store mark-up is about two cents a quart, but it varies.

Churchill Names Four More Aides

Britain Awaits His First Domestic Move—to Build Homes

London, Oct. 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today named four more members to the cabinet with which he hopes to lead Britain out of the economic and international crises now facing her.

Churchill also appointed two junior ministers to the government.

London newspapers wondered, meanwhile, when the tory chief would make his first domestic policy move. One paper summed up Churchill's most pressing home front problems as "the kitty and the kitchen"—finance and food.

The new cabinet ministers are:

Harold Mac Millan, 57, wealthy book publisher, minister for housing and local government;

Lord Leathers, 67, industrialist, secretary of state for coordination of transport, fuel and power;

Harry F. C. Crookshank, 58, minister of health and deputy leader of the House of Commons;

Junior Ministers

The two junior ministers named were Patrick Buchan-Hepburn, 50, as parliamentary secretary to the treasury, and Selwyn Lloyd, 47, minister of state for foreign affairs—the No. 2 man to foreign secretary Anthony Eden in the foreign office.

MacMillan's first job will be to work toward the Tory target of 300,000 new homes a year. Lord Leathers, former minister of war transport, will deal with policies of the departments of transport, fuel and power. Ministers will be

Plane Lands Safely

Gets Instructions 400 Miles Away for Its Jammed Gear

New Orleans, Oct. 30 (AP)—An airliner carrying 40 persons came down safely last night after getting instructions 400 miles away for lowering a jammed landing gear.

The Chicago and Southern Constellation circled Moisant International Airport for two hours and 13 minutes while flight engineer Ed Acree of Memphis, Tenn., worked on the landing gear.

Acree, baffled after emergency measures failed to lower the giant liner's left wheel, asked C. and S. headquarters at Memphis for advice.

Allies Would Have UN Troops in Defensible Spots

Munsan, Korea, Oct. 30 (AP)—A United Nations truce negotiator said today "we're busting our guts trying to get this war settled" but the Reds are making "no attempt to get a reasonable solution."

The statement came from Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chairman of the UN truce subcommittee, during a recess in the sixth joint subcommittee session at Panmunjom.

The negotiators met three hours but failed to make headway toward creating a Korean cease-fire line. Another meeting is scheduled for 11 a. m. Wednesday (9 p. m. Tuesday, E.S.T.).

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN spokesman, said:

"The Communists continued to press for their proposal which would trade indefensible territory in west Korea in the Ongjin area for important military positions along the battlefront. No progress toward a solution was made."

At Panmunjom, within sight of bursting allied shells, Hodes said the Communists "have made no trade, no offer, no attempt to get a reasonable solution.

Two Are in Hospital After Truck Accident

Po'keepsie Block Halts Pair Wanted On Kidnap Charge

Patrolman Brophy, Aide With Gun Halt Two in Midtown at Early Hour

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—A policeman and a gun toting civilian set up a road block early today and captured two heavily armed youths wanted for kidnaping a Windsor Locks, Conn., patrolman.

The pair had been the object of a 13-state police search since Sunday, wanted for the kidnaping of Provisionary Patrolman Anthony B. Padelskas. Padelskas was held prisoner for several hours by an armed man who held him up as he investigated a suspicious car.

The fugitives were identified as Paul J. Fitzgerald, 23, a laborer of Hartford (1103 Main street.), Conn., and Charles F. Timms, 19, a short order cook, of Oakville, Conn.

They were captured in midtown Poughkeepsie at 1:30 a. m. (E.S.T.) today by city Patrolman John Brophy and Michael Maresca, a cafe proprietor.

Fitzgerald and Timms surrendered under the drawn guns of the two men. Sprawled with Timms in the back seat, and apparently asleep, was a 13-year-old girl. She said she was Dorothy Mezel of Chicago (6549 Baulin street).

Two area men were hospitalized after two trucks collided almost head-on at 10 a. m. today on Route 213 at Atwood, state police reported.

Alfred Rose, (age unavailable) of Olive Bridge, was pinned in the cab of the rack body truck he was driving for more than an hour following the collision. Suffering leg injuries and other possible injuries, Rose was taken to the Benedictine Hospital in a W. N. Conner, Inc., ambulance, accompanied by Dr. John R. Roberts, who was brought to the scene by Sheriff Cluett Schantz.

Also taken to the hospital was Reginald Howland about 48, of Stone Ridge, a passenger in one of the trucks. Examinations of both men were in progress at the hospital and no condition report was available early this afternoon.

Kerosene on Road

Kerosene spilled on the roadway from the Walter T. Davenport tank truck that overturned brought Stone Ridge and High Falls fire departments to stand by with foamite extinguishers to guard against a fire. Troopers and sheriff's men strictly enforced "no smoking" orders in the area. The Davenport truck was driven by Raymond Davis of Stone Ridge, troopers said. Davis received minor injuries but was not hospitalized, according to the report.

The front ends of both trucks were demolished. The accident occurred on a curve on Route 213 about 500 feet west of the Atwood Chapel.

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 30 (AP)—Allied infantrymen in eastern Korea beat back an attack near Heartbreak Ridge by 1,000 Chinese in predawn darkness today, then drove ahead 1,000 yards in daylight.

On the western front United Nations forces gained more than half a mile northwest of Yonchon with little trouble.

Reinforced Chinese who had hurled day-long attacks at the allies southeast of Kumsong in the center of the line Monday made only two small probing attacks Tuesday. Both were turned back.

In the air war Communist anti-aircraft guns shot down two American planes today—an F-80 Shooting Star jet and a reconnaissance plane. The Fifth Air Force said there was "no chance of pilot survival."

For the second straight day Red jet pilots refused to fight American jets over MIG Alley in northwest Korea. American airmen said they spotted 60 MIG-15s, but the Reds kept out of range.

Fighter pilots stepped up their flights in support of ground troops to 131 Tuesday.

Stabs Two Miles

On the central front an allied raiding party stabbed two miles northwest of Kumsong and shot up the town of Choso.

UN patrols probed all through the area, feeling out strengthened positions of the Chinese since a fresh division moved in to back up units hurt by this month's allied offensive. One patrol was caught in Communist artillery fire and suffered some losses. Another blasted into the village of Changbangpyong.

Reds and Allies struggled for control of a ridgeline ten miles southeast of Kumsong. Troops of either army atop the ridgeline would endanger the other's supply line.

Sharpest fighting Tuesday was in the mountains between Kumsong and Heartbreak Ridge. A battalion of screaming Chinese stormed against Allied infantrymen in the early morning blackness.

Dug In, Stay There

UN troops, dug in on a ridge recently won from the Communists west of Heartbreak, stuck to their foxholes and trenches and cut down the shouting Reds.

With daylight, other UN infantrymen in the same area jumped off in an attack. By noon they had pushed forward 1,000 yards against light opposition.

The Reds mounted only four other "light probing attacks"

Kramer Tells Illegality Of Police-Firemen Matter

City Clerk Reminds Public He Was One Who Began Action

In a radio speech last night, City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer dealt with the police-fireman pay question, and the illegal angle of it.

"I was the city official whose action resulted in the rejection of the petition because it was illegal," he said.

"It is therefore, my duty," he stressed, "to explode this phony campaign issue by explaining to you in detail the facts in this case."

Kramer's speech was as follows:

The Democratic Party for some time has been trying to make a political football of the police and firemen's petition for a referendum to increase their pay.

Mr. Plunkett, the Democratic county chairman, in his address opening their campaign, said: "Can you say that the people of Kingston are apathetic and indifferent to the wages being paid to the police and firemen of our city when over 6,000 of them signed the referendum petitions to place this question upon the ballot?"

This was followed by a question posed last Thursday night by the Democratic-Liberal Party candidate for mayor, who asked: "Mr. Mayor, why did you sign the firemen and police pay referendum petition and then repudiate it? In short, why did you, in effect, issue the police and firemen a check and then stop payment on it?"

Ladies and gentlemen, I was the city official whose action resulted in the rejection of the petition because it was illegal. It is therefore my duty to explode this phoney campaign issue by explaining to you in detail the facts in this case.

As many of you probably know, the firemen and policemen in 1950 asked for a wage increase of $800 for 1951. After consulting with the fire and police boards, they reduced their demand to $600. The Common Council upon the recommendations of the mayor, granted all city employes a cost of living bonus of $240 for 1951, including policemen and firemen. The city administration applied the principle of equal treatment to all city employes.

In 1951 the police and firemen

Britain Awaits His First Domestic Move—to Build Homes

London, Oct. 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today named four more members to the cabinet with which he hopes to lead Britain out of the economic and international crises now facing her.

Churchill also appointed two junior ministers to the government.

London newspapers wondered, meanwhile, when the tory chief would make his first domestic policy move. One paper summed up Churchill's most pressing home front problems as "the kitty and the kitchen"—finance and food.

The new cabinet ministers are:

Harold Mac Millan, 57, wealthy book publisher, minister for housing and local government;

Lord Leathers, 67, industrialist, secretary of state for coordination of transport, fuel and power;

Harry F. C. Crookshank, 58, minister of health and deputy leader of the House of Commons;

Junior Ministers

The two junior ministers named were Patrick Buchan-Hepburn, 50, as parliamentary secretary to the treasury, and Selwyn Lloyd, 47, minister of state for foreign affairs—the No. 2 man to foreign secretary Anthony Eden in the foreign office.

MacMillan's first job will be to work toward the Tory target of 300,000 new homes a year. Lord Leathers, former minister of war transport, will deal with policies of the departments of transport, fuel and power. Ministers will be

No Liquor November 6

John F. O'Connell, chairman of the New York State Liquor Authority, today reminded establishments dealing in alcoholic beverages, that none will be sold from 6 a. m., to 7 p. m., on Election Day, Nov. 6. The law governing the sale of liquor applies to "off-premises" as well as "on-premises" establishments.

Metropolitan Milk Users Will Pay Penny Additional

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Consumers in a large part of the New York Metropolitan area will start paying from one to one-and-a-half cents more a quart for their milk Thursday.

The Office of Price Stabilization announced yesterday a regulation increasing prices on milk at the processors' and distributors' level, and on home-delivered milk.

Milk industry employes struck one day last week to get wage increases and other benefits. The strike was settled with a pay increase after mediators were given the gist of the order allowing milk dealers more money.

The milk industry in this area had petitioned the OPS for price ceiling relief two months ago.

OPS Regional Director James G. Lyons estimated retail prices would average an increase of slightly less than one cent a quart.

And the specific ceilings set on home-delivered milk—25½ cents for regular and 26½ cents for homogenized—run one and a half cents above current prices.

These were the only specific prices placed at the retail level. The old mark-up system will continue to prevail in stores.

The order affects New York city and the counties of Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk, with the exception of Fisher's Island in Suffolk county.

Industry sources predicted a general rise of one and a half cents a quart, with an additional cost of $22,000,000 a year to consumers.

The cost of regular milk sold in glass containers to stores, restaurants and other wholesale outlets will be 21½ cents. In paper containers, the price will be 22 cents. Homogenized milk will be a half cent higher.

Lyons said the cost in the past has ranged from 17½ to 22 cents for regular milk in glass bottles, depending on various conditions.

Wholesalers, under the new order, must maintain the same margin of profit. The usual retail store mark-up is about two cents a quart, but it varies.

Mrs. Newkirk 'Fair' Today

The condition of Mrs. Oscar V. Newkirk, wife of Kingston's mayor, who underwent an operation at Kingston Hospital, was reported as fair today by hospital authorities. Mrs. Newkirk was reported to be seriously ill yesterday.

Plane Lands Safely

Gets Instructions 400 Miles Away for Its Jammed Gear

New Orleans, Oct. 30 (AP)—An airliner carrying 40 persons came down safely last night after getting instructions 400 miles away for lowering a jammed landing gear.

The Chicago and Southern Constellation circled Moisant International Airport for two hours and 13 minutes while flight engineer Ed Acree of Memphis, Tenn., worked on the landing gear.

Acree, baffled after emergency measures failed to lower the giant liner's left wheel, asked C. and S. headquarters at Memphis for advice.

The services, conducted by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, were largely attended and there were many floral pieces. Burial was in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Robert H. Long

Robert H. Long of East Kingston died early this morning in this city. He had been a resident of Kingston for the greater part of his life and was employed at the Governor Clinton Hotel for many years. Later he was employed by the Schilling Furniture Company in this city. One brother, Charles F. Long of Kingston survives, also several nieces and nephews. Funeral will be held from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., 296 Fair street, Thursday at 10 a. m. Cremation in Ferncliff Crematory, Hartsdale.

William F. Trinkle

The funeral of William F. Trinkle was held Monday at 9 a. m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home and at the Church of the Presentation 9:30 a. m. where a high Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. Joseph J. Comyns. The responses to the Mass were sung by Edward Cherny, assisted by Anne A. Goldrick, organist. The requiem was largely attended by relatives and friends who came to pay their last tribute by assisting at the Mass. During the time the body reposed in the funeral home, scores of acquaintances called to offer their condolence to the bereaved. Sunday night Father Comyns visited the home and assisted by those present, recited the Rosary. There were a profusion of flowers and spiritual bouquets. Bearers were William Brower, George Hovers, Sala Zoda, Cleon Jump, James Creighton and Edward McCloskey. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where the final absolution and blessing were given by Father Comyns.

Walter Witkowski

The funeral of Walter Witkowski of 68 Third avenue was held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, Thursday, at 9 a. m., thence to the Immaculate Conception Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered at 9:30 a. m. by the Rev. Joseph J. Sieczek for the repose of his soul. The church was filled with relatives, friends and members of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary Society. Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir assisted by Miss Theresa Gehringer at the organ. At the offertory, Miss Angela Lovy sang Ave Verum. While the body reposed in the funeral home there was a continuous flow of his many friends and relatives. The casket was completely banked with flowers and many spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were received. Wednesday night members of the Immaculate Conception Holy Name Society and the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary Society called and were led in the recitation of the Rosary by Father Sieczek, their spiritual director; the Rev. Stanislaus J. Malinowski also called and said prayers for the dead. Burial was in Mt. Calvary Cemetery where Father Sieczek gave the final blessing. Bearers were Leo, Stanley and John Buboltz, Walter Madajewski, Bernard Bujak and John J. Keiser.

The color guard of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, consisted of Commander Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd, Robert B. Zimer, Lester Barth, Sherwood Davis and Donald Moore. Bearers from Joyce-Schirick Post, No. 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, were Commander Ray Myer, John Johnson, Sidney Lane, Donald Griffen, Leo Smith and Andrew Dykes. The government escort who accompanied the remains from Brooklyn Distributing Depot was Sgt. Robert Reinhardt, who is a returned veteran from the Korean campaign who also served in the First Cavalry Division. Pfc. Bellio was wounded twice while serving in Korea and was the recipient of the Purple Heart. His body arrived in this country on October 5 aboard the Exmouth Victory. Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning with burial in St. Mary's Cemetery with full military honors.

Mayr Will Face Jury for Assault

George William Mayr, 18, of 5 Wurts street, who was arrested Oct. 6 by Officer James Harbeck after he had allegedly caused the officer difficulty on East Strand, waived examination before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today and was held for the grand jury on a second degree assault charge.

Mayr was sentenced to 30 days on a disorderly conduct charge when first arraigned. The officer had accused him of breaking a window at 13 East Strand and of physically resisting arrest.

Arrested at the same time was Donald F. Stokes, 18, of 11 East Pierpont street who was accused of interfering with the duties of an officer and was also booked on a disorderly conduct charge. The judge imposed a sentence of $10 or ten days in jail on Stokes, and police said the fine was paid after he had spent a day in jail.

Meanwhile, Stokes was one of two young men charged with the theft Saturday of the car of John F. Sass, of 144 Hunter street. The other arrested was Duane F. Hamilton, 18, of 177 Murray street. Hamilton waived examination yesterday and was held for the grand jury and Stokes asked for examination before trail which is scheduled for tomorrow.

Funeral Is Scheduled

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Funeral services for actress Mady Christians will be conducted Wednesday at noon at the Frank E. Campbell "Funeral Church" at Madison avenue and 81st street, New York city. Burial will be in Ferncliff Cemetery, Ardsley. The 49-year-old actress, best known for her portrayal of the title role in "I Remember Mama," suffered a cerebral hemorrhage at her country home in New Canaan, Conn., and died Sunday in Norwalk General Hospital.

McKinney to Take Post

Indianapolis, Oct. 30 (AP)—Frank E. McKinney, an Irish banker who pulled Indiana Democrats out of the red in 1948, is all set to become the Democrats' next national chairman — a fund raising job—tomorrow. The 47-year-old son of a fireman announced last night that he had agreed two days before to accept the party's top job. Just a few hours earlier, the outgoing chairman, William M. Boyle, Jr., gave McKinney his support, explaining that he'd talked with President Truman about the matter.

Po'keepsie Block

lower his hand toward a gun, then gave up without resistance under the menacing revolver in Maresca's hand.

Brophy had commandeered Maresca's car and took the cafe man along in pursuit of the two. The chase ended when Brophy blocked the street with the automobile. Maresca is licensed to carry a gun.

Brophy said Fitzgerald was carrying a loaded .32 calibre automatic and in the rear seat with Timms they found a .38 revolver, a .38 automatic and a 30-30 rifle.

Police Get Statement

Police said Timms made a statement saying it was he who kidnaped Patrolman Padelsky, driving him to Middletown before releasing him. They quoted him as saying he disarmed the policeman when Padelsky interfered with him taking a car found parked in a wooded land.

Fitzgerald, police said, told them he and Timms had picked up the Mezel girl and Marian Smith, 14, of Chicago, in Chicago on Oct. 16. He said they drove to Nashua, N. H., and left the Smith girl there after giving her $50 and rail ticket to Chicago.

Fitzgerald and Timms waived extradition when arraigned before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz, and were turned over to Connecticut state police for return to the Litchfield, Conn., police barracks. And from there, probably to Hartford.

Dutchess County Attorney Ely L. Gellert said the two men were being returned as fugitives to face charges of kidnaping, robbery and grand larceny. Although they violated the law in the local jurisdiction by being armed, Gellert said, the county was taking no action at this time "because of the more serious charges in Connecticut."

The Metzel girl was held as a juvenile delinquent for an appearance in children's court.

Jewelry Theft Reported

Monroe, Oct. 30 (AP)—State police last night reported the theft of $1,200 in jewelry from the home of socialite Mrs. George L. Maxwell while she was presiding over a debutante's ball at Tuxedo Park's exclusive Tuxedo Club. Police said Mrs. Maxwell notified them of the missing gems last night although the loss occurred Saturday night. Authorities said she gave no reason for the delay in calling them. Bracelets, watches and other valuables were reported taken from Mrs. Maxwell's Tuxedo Park home. Mrs. Maxwell was chairman of the committee for the ball, at which her step-daughter, Marie Madison Maxwell, made her debut into society.

Gable Divorce Rumpus

Hollywood, Oct. 30 (AP)—If Clark Gable moves to Nevada, could his wife get alimony from him in California courts? Especially since her passport lists her as a resident of Britain? The actor raised these questions yesterday in an affidavit opposing Mrs. Gable's petition for an injunction to prevent him from getting Nevada divorce. Gable said he had taken numerous steps to become a legal resident of Nevada, where he has filed suit to divorce the former Lady Sylvia Ashley. As a resident of Nevada, Gable contends, he is not subject to any ruling made by California courts. Mrs. Gable says he is still a resident of California.

Tone Goes to Jail

Hollywood, Oct. 30 (AP)—Franchot Tone, the movie actor, went to jail today accused of spitting in the face of a veteran movie columnist, red-headed Florabel Muir. The booking was suspicion of battery, on a citizen's arrest signed by the newspaper and magazine writer. The incident occurred at Ciro's night club on the Sunset Strip. Miss Muir told police the actor, new husband of actress Barbara Payton, came to her table, muttered something uncomplimentary, then said: "Florabel, I'm so mad I could spit in your face. As a matter of fact, I will." He did.

Third Test Made

Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 30 (AP)—A brilliant flash, followed by a mushrooming cloud which shot up with the speed of a rocket, marked the third of the AEC's current series of atomic tests today. Despite a bright dawn, the flash was visible here, some 75 miles away. Throngs of early risers gathered in knots at every high vantage point to watch.

Tillson School Meeting

Reginald D. Russell, Kingston, grade supervisor of District No. 1, will be guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Tillson School Association to be held at the Tillson school, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be in attendance and are requested to bring guests. Following the meeting, refreshments will be served.

Education Meeting

A regular meeting of the Board of Education will be held at the high School Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Any person receiving counterfeit money is the loser unless he unknowingly passes it on. Banks will not make good on such spurious bills or coins, but will confiscate them if presented.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—The position of the treasury Oct. 26: Net budget receipts $89,624,932.94. Budget expenditures $186,734,513.17. Cash balance $5,223,147,884.03. Customs receipts for month $44,952,141,05. Budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $14,710,569,387.75. Budget expenditures fiscal year $19,615,747,276.49. Budget deficit $4,905,177,888.74. Total debt $258,278,998,491.02. Decrease under previous day $5,864,188.56. Gold assets $22,183,303,855.86.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Demand for stocks spread all over the market today, and prices advanced substantially.

The forward movement was a continuation of the rally late yesterday which brought the market up sharply out of an early slump.

Today right from the opening stocks forged ahead with trading active. Gains extended into the 2 to 3 point range with some going on past that area. There were few backward revisions.

Getting the most attention were rails, steels, oils, motors, nonferrous metals, and chemicals.

Many of the oils were well out in front. Texas Pacific Land Trust yesterday shot up 20¾ at 183 and today added another 5 points to that before dropping back slightly. Amerada Petroleum was up more than 7 points in early trading and later held to bulk of the gain.

Superior Oil of California opened up 15 points at 515.

Standard Oil (N. J.) traded up to as much as a point better after directors declared a dividend of $1.50 which was split half and half as an extra and a regular. The previous payment was $1 of which 75 cents was regular and 25 cents extra.

Making 'Sky Survey'

The 48-inch photo-telescope at the California Institute of Technology, now making a "sky survey," will have done in 4 years what it would take a large reflecting telescope 5,000 years to accomplish.

Names Are Taken From Town Books

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick has ruled that 16 names in the first and second districts of the town of Denning must be stricken from the registration books of the town on the grounds they are not legal residents of the town and are therefor not eligible to vote in Denning.

The application to have the names stricken from the registration books was made by Benjamin Conklin of the first election district and Robert Noble, a resident of the second district.

William E. Riseley represented the petitioners on the motion which was heard at regular special term in Albany last Friday.

Temporary Residents

The petition stated that the inspectors of the first election district had placed the names of Eugene Lopinto, Madelyn Lopinto, Ralph Liscio, Dorothy Liscio, John Bagan and Augusta Rosenscheisen on the register while they were legal residents of the state of New Jersey and were but temporary residents in Denning during the summer of 1951. The petition recited that Eugene and Madelyn Lopinto registered their car in New Jersey and had no residence in Denning and that they had no children attending school in Denning. The case of the Liscio, Bagan and Rosenscheisen families was objected to on the grounds they had not been residents of New York for a year and that they had rented a cottage with the Lopintos in Denning in July, 1951.

In his petition relative to the second district Noble alleged that Vincent Robinson, Blanche Robinson, Andrew DuBois, Thelma DuBois, Francis Wolcott and Eleanor Wolcott were all residents of Sullivan county and none owned property in Denning. It further alleged Myrtle Guntlow was a resident of the town of Wawarsing and was registered there in the second election district. She was a former resident of Denning but the petition stated she had not resided there for three or four years and her children attend school in Wawarsing.

Owned Property

The petition also alleged that Evelyn Wiseman, a former Denning resident, had resided in the town of Wawarsing for more than three years and owned property in Denning. In the case of Gustav and Dorothy Lievre, it was alleged they had formerly resided in Denning but since 1949 had been residents of Saugerties.

In election districts where nonpersonal registration is in effect it is customary for the inspectors to place on the register the names of all former voters and then add names of newcomers. If the names copied on the register includes names of former resident voters who have moved from the election district, any voter may make an application for removal of the ineligible voters. This was done in the present instance.

The Eighth Army said ground forces inflicted 11,075 casualties on the Reds last week. These included 7,000 Reds killed, 3,500 wounded and 575 captured.

Ships Give Support

The U. S. cruiser Toledo and destroyer Mackenzie supplied seaborne artillery in support of South Koreans along the east coast. They hit Red entrenchments and ammunition dumps with 580 rounds from their eight and five-inch guns Monday.

At the opposite end of the line Red frontline positions were shelled by the Canadian destroyer Cayuga and the British frigate Emthyst.

The Amethyst is operating from the Han river, south of Panmunjom where allied truce negotiators said the Reds were making "no attempt to get a reasonable solution" for a cease-fire line in Korea. The statement came from Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chairman of the UN truce subcommittee during Tuesday's sessions to break the long armistice deadlock.

Like Different War

The official Red Korean version sounded like a different war.

A communique broadcast by North Korea's Pyongyang radio said three allied vessels were sunk when they attempted "to plunder the property and food stock of the peaceful residents" of Haeju on the west coast.

The reference was to an asserted South Korean amphibious operation which the allies said never occurred. The Communists said 103 South Korean troops were captured at Kaeju.

On the ground, the Reds said, "our combined forces repulsed seven assaults launched by U. S. Second Division and the Republic of Korea's Third Division north of Yanggu, and annihilated three enemy battalions—(including) one battalion of the 38th Regiment of the U. S. Second Division."

Drew Reassigned To Formosa, Is Maryknoll Report

Father John J. Drew of the Bronx, who was forced to leave the mainland of China by the Communists, has been reassigned to Formosa, according to Maryknoll headquarters, Maryknoll.

Father Drew is the son of James J. Drew and the late Catherine Greene Drew, 2483 Elm place, the Bronx. He is a nephew of Roger Greene, 144 Cedar street, Kingston, and a cousin of Sister Mary Veronica (Greene) of the Sisters of Charity at Wappingers Falls.

Father Drew has been stationed in China since 1948. His last mission was on historic Sancian Island, site of St. Francis Xavier's death nearly 400 years ago. He is a graduate of Cathedral College and St. Joseph's Seminary. He was ordained to the priesthood in St. Patrick's Cathedral in 1942. After four years as a diocesan priest, he received permission from his superiors to enter Maryknoll for foreign mission work.

Plan Shrine Trip

Mrs. Francis Tiano of East Kingston announced today that a bus trip to the Mother Cabrini Shrine in the Bronx is planned for Nov. 11. She suggested that all persons interested in making the trip telephone her at Kingston 4244-R.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning with burial in St. Mary's Cemetery with full military honors.

Mayr Will Face Jury for Assault

George William Mayr, 18, of 5 Wurts street, who was arrested Oct. 6 by Officer James Harbeck after he had allegedly caused the officer difficulty on East Strand, waived examination before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today and was held for the grand jury on a second degree assault charge.

Mayr was sentenced to 30 days on a disorderly conduct charge when first arraigned. The officer had accused him of breaking a window at 13 East Strand and of physically resisting arrest.

Arrested at the same time was Donald F. Stokes, 18, of 11 East Pierpont street who was accused of interfering with the duties of an officer and was also booked on a disorderly conduct charge. The judge imposed a sentence of $10 or ten days in jail on Stokes, and police said the fine was paid after he had spent a day in jail.

Meanwhile, Stokes was one of two young men charged with the theft Saturday of the car of John F. Sass, of 144 Hunter street. The other arrested was Duane F. Hamilton, 18, of 177 Murray street. Hamilton waived examination yesterday and was held for the grand jury and Stokes asked for examination before trail which is scheduled for tomorrow.

Funeral Is Scheduled

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Funeral services for actress Mady Christians will be conducted Wednesday at noon at the Frank E. Campbell "Funeral Church" at Madison avenue and 81st street, New York city. Burial will be in Ferncliff Cemetery, Ardsley. The 49-year-old actress, best known for her portrayal of the title role in "I Remember Mama," suffered a cerebral hemorrhage at her country home in New Canaan, Conn., and died Sunday in Norwalk General Hospital.

McKinney to Take Post

Indianapolis, Oct. 30 (AP)—Frank E. McKinney, an Irish banker who pulled Indiana Democrats out of the red in 1948, is all set to become the Democrats' next national chairman — a fund raising job—tomorrow. The 47-year-old son of a fireman announced last night that he had agreed two days before to accept the party's top job. Just a few hours earlier, the outgoing chairman, William M. Boyle, Jr., gave McKinney his support, explaining that he'd talked with President Truman about the matter.

Po'keepsie Block

lower his hand toward a gun, then gave up without resistance under the menacing revolver in Maresca's hand.

Brophy had commandeered Maresca's car and took the cafe man along in pursuit of the two. The chase ended when Brophy blocked the street with the automobile. Maresca is licensed to carry a gun.

Brophy said Fitzgerald was carrying a loaded .32 calibre automatic and in the rear seat with Timms they found a .38 revolver, a .38 automatic and a 30-30 rifle.

Police Get Statement

Police said Timms made a statement saying it was he who kidnaped Patrolman Padelsky, driving him to Middletown before releasing him. They quoted him as saying he disarmed the policeman when Padelsky interfered with him taking a car found parked in a wooded land.

Fitzgerald, police said, told them he and Timms had picked up the Mezel girl and Marian Smith, 14, of Chicago, in Chicago on Oct. 16. He said they drove to Nashua, N. H., and left the Smith girl there after giving her $50 and rail ticket to Chicago.

Fitzgerald and Timms waived extradition when arraigned before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz, and were turned over to Connecticut state police for return to the Litchfield, Conn., police barracks. And from there, probably to Hartford.

Dutchess County Attorney Ely L. Gellert said the two men were being returned as fugitives to face charges of kidnaping, robbery and grand larceny. Although they violated the law in the local jurisdiction by being armed, Gellert said, the county was taking no action at this time "because of the more serious charges in Connecticut."

The Metzel girl was held as a juvenile delinquent for an appearance in children's court.

Jewelry Theft Reported

Monroe, Oct. 30 (AP)—State police last night reported the theft of $1,200 in jewelry from the home of socialite Mrs. George L. Maxwell while she was presiding over a debutante's ball at Tuxedo Park's exclusive Tuxedo Club. Police said Mrs. Maxwell notified them of the missing gems last night although the loss occurred Saturday night. Authorities said she gave no reason for the delay in calling them. Bracelets, watches and other valuables were reported taken from Mrs. Maxwell's Tuxedo Park home. Mrs. Maxwell was chairman of the committee for the ball, at which her step-daughter, Marie Madison Maxwell, made her debut into society.

Gable Divorce Rumpus

Hollywood, Oct. 30 (AP)—If Clark Gable moves to Nevada, could his wife get alimony from him in California courts? Especially since her passport lists her as a resident of Britain? The actor raised these questions yesterday in an affidavit opposing Mrs. Gable's petition for an injunction to prevent him from getting Nevada divorce. Gable said he had taken numerous steps to become a legal resident of Nevada, where he has filed suit to divorce the former Lady Sylvia Ashley. As a resident of Nevada, Gable contends, he is not subject to any ruling made by California courts. Mrs. Gable says he is still a resident of California.

Tone Goes to Jail

Hollywood, Oct. 30 (AP)—Franchot Tone, the movie actor, went to jail today accused of spitting in the face of a veteran movie columnist, red-headed Florabel Muir. The booking was suspicion of battery, on a citizen's arrest signed by the newspaper and magazine writer. The incident occurred at Ciro's night club on the Sunset Strip. Miss Muir told police the actor, new husband of actress Barbara Payton, came to her table, muttered something uncomplimentary, then said: "Florabel, I'm so mad I could spit in your face. As a matter of fact, I will." He did.

Third Test Made

Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 30 (AP)—A brilliant flash, followed by a mushrooming cloud which shot up with the speed of a rocket, marked the third of the AEC's current series of atomic tests today. Despite a bright dawn, the flash was visible here, some 75 miles away. Throngs of early risers gathered in knots at every high vantage point to watch.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Demand for stocks spread all over the market today, and prices advanced substantially.

The forward movement was a continuation of the rally late yesterday which brought the market up sharply out of an early slump.

Today right from the opening stocks forged ahead with trading active. Gains extended into the 2 to 3 point range with some going on past that area. There were few backward revisions.

Getting the most attention were rails, steels, oils, motors, nonferrous metals, and chemicals.

Many of the oils were well out in front. Texas Pacific Land Trust yesterday shot up 20¾ at 183 and today added another 5 points to that before dropping back slightly. Amerada Petroleum was up more than 7 points in early trading and later held to bulk of the gain.

Superior Oil of California opened up 15 points at 515.

Standard Oil (N. J.) traded up to as much as a point better after directors declared a dividend of $1.50 which was split half and half as an extra and a regular. The previous payment was $1 of which 75 cents was regular and 25 cents extra.

Names Are Taken From Town Books

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick has ruled that 16 names in the first and second districts of the town of Denning must be stricken from the registration books of the town on the grounds they are not legal residents of the town and are therefor not eligible to vote in Denning.

The application to have the names stricken from the registration books was made by Benjamin Conklin of the first election district and Robert Noble, a resident of the second district.

William E. Riseley represented the petitioners on the motion which was heard at regular special term in Albany last Friday.

Temporary Residents

The petition stated that the inspectors of the first election district had placed the names of Eugene Lopinto, Madelyn Lopinto, Ralph Liscio, Dorothy Liscio, John Bagan and Augusta Rosenscheisen on the register while they were legal residents of the state of New Jersey and were but temporary residents in Denning during the summer of 1951. The petition recited that Eugene and Madelyn Lopinto registered their car in New Jersey and had no residence in Denning and that they had no children attending school in Denning. The case of the Liscio, Bagan and Rosenscheisen families was objected to on the grounds they had not been residents of New York for a year and that they had rented a cottage with the Lopintos in Denning in July, 1951.

In his petition relative to the second district Noble alleged that Vincent Robinson, Blanche Robinson, Andrew DuBois, Thelma DuBois, Francis Wolcott and Eleanor Wolcott were all residents of Sullivan county and none owned property in Denning. It further alleged Myrtle Guntlow was a resident of the town of Wawarsing and was registered there in the second election district. She was a former resident of Denning but the petition stated she had not resided there for three or four years and her children attend school in Wawarsing.

Owned Property

The petition also alleged that Evelyn Wiseman, a former Denning resident, had resided in the town of Wawarsing for more than three years and owned property in Denning. In the case of Gustav and Dorothy Lievre, it was alleged they had formerly resided in Denning but since 1949 had been residents of Saugerties.

In election districts where nonpersonal registration is in effect it is customary for the inspectors to place on the register the names of all former voters and then add names of newcomers. If the names copied on the register includes names of former resident voters who have moved from the election district, any voter may make an application for removal of the ineligible voters. This was done in the present instance.

The Eighth Army said ground forces inflicted 11,075 casualties on the Reds last week. These included 7,000 Reds killed, 3,500 wounded and 575 captured.

Ships Give Support

The U. S. cruiser Toledo and destroyer Mackenzie supplied seaborne artillery in support of South Koreans along the east coast. They hit Red entrenchments and ammunition dumps with 580 rounds from their eight and five-inch guns Monday.

At the opposite end of the line Red frontline positions were shelled by the Canadian destroyer Cayuga and the British frigate Emthyst.

The Amethyst is operating from the Han river, south of Panmunjom where allied truce negotiators said the Reds were making "no attempt to get a cease-fire line in Korea. The statement came from Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chairman of the UN truce subcommittee during Tuesday's sessions to break the long armistice deadlock.

Like Different War

The official Red Korean version sounded like a different war.

A communique broadcast by North Korea's Pyongyang radio said three allied vessels were sunk when they attempted "to plunder the property and food stock of the peaceful residents" of Haeju on the west coast.

The reference was to an asserted South Korean amphibious operation which the allies said never occurred. The Communists said 103 South Korean troops were captured at Kaeju.

On the ground, the Reds said, "our combined forces repulsed seven assaults launched by U. S. Second Division and the Republic of Korea's Third Division north of Yanggu, and annihilated three enemy battalions—(including) one battalion of the 38th Regiment of the U. S. Second Division."

Drew Reassigned To Formosa, Is Maryknoll Report

Father John J. Drew of the Bronx, who was forced to leave the mainland of China by the Communists, has been reassigned to Formosa, according to Maryknoll headquarters, Maryknoll.

Father Drew is the son of James J. Drew and the late Catherine Greene Drew, 2483 Elm place, the Bronx. He is a nephew of Roger Greene, 144 Cedar street, Kingston, and a cousin of Sister Mary Veronica (Greene) of the Sisters of Charity at Wappingers Falls.

Father Drew has been stationed in China since 1948. His last mission was on historic Sancian Island, site of St. Francis Xavier's death nearly 400 years ago. He is a graduate of Cathedral College and St. Joseph's Seminary. He was ordained to the priesthood in St. Patrick's Cathedral in 1942. After four years as a diocesan priest, he received permission from his superiors to enter Maryknoll for foreign mission work.

Kramer Tells . . .

decided to circulate petitions for a public referendum to provide them with an increase in pay of $1,000 over limits established by previous local laws. Their committee hired a lawyer and he prepared the petitions and members of both departments obtained about 6,000 signatures to those petitions.

Favored Voting Only

Mayor Newkirk signed that petition. The important thing to remember, however, is this: The petition did not say that those who signed it were in favor of granting each member of the fire and police departments a raise of $1,000 over limits previously established. It simply said that those who signed were in favor of putting the proposition up to the voters to decide for themselves whether or not they were in favor of it.

Mayor Newkirk, like many others who signed the petition, were not saying that they were for or against a raise of $1,000. They were simply indicating their willingness to have the proposition put on the ballot as a public referendum to let the voters decide.

In the face of this fact, how, in all fairness, can the Democrat-Liberal Party candidate for mayor charge that Mayor Newkirk in signing the petition gave the police and firemen a check and then stopped payment on it?

The truth of the matter is that outside of signing the petition, the mayor under the law had no jurisdiction whatsoever over the fate of the referendum. Under the law that fate was up to the City Clerk and the Common Council. And this is what happened?

The State Home Rule Law requires that such petitions be filed with the city clerk and if they are in legal form the city clerk is required to certify them to the Common Council and that body authorizes the referendum to be placed on the ballot for the people to vote upon. If the petition is not in legal form, the same law prohibits the city clerk from certifying them to the Common Council.

After the petitions were filed in my office, I carefully examined them and then asked the corporation counsel for an opinion as to their legality. The corporation counsel advised me that, in his opinion, the petition was illegal for the reason that it did not contain a plan for raising the necessary money in compliance with the City Home Rule Law.

Courts Agreed

The attorney who had been hired by the fire and police committee appealed my decision to the Supreme Court. That court agreed with my findings. The attorney then took the matter to the next highest court, the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. That court, composed of five judges—Democrats and Republicans — unanimously agreed with the decision of the Supreme Court judge. The same attorney then took the matter to the state's highest court, the Court of Appeals. That court, composed of seven of the outstanding judges in the state, and composed of both Republicans and Democrats, unanimously confirmed the decision of the lower courts.

In other words, my friends, all of these 13 judges agreed with my findings that the petition submitted was illegal because it contained no plan for raising the money for the requested wage increase as required by the law.

You might well ask: Why were the petitions prepared in such a faulty manner as to prevent the firemen and policemen from getting their pay referendum on the ballot? Was it accidental or deliberate? I don't know. I can only reply that the answer to that question must come from the attorney who was hired and paid by the police and firemen to prepare their petition.

How Can They Blame Mayor?

In the face of these facts, my friends, how can the Democrats blame Mayor Newkirk, or me, or anyone else for the legal shortcomings of the attorney engaged by the police and firemen to prepare their petition?

Some partisan Democrats, wishing to gain political advantage for their party from the unfortunate and expensive experience of the police and firemen because of their own attorney's mistakes claim that I could have overlooked the fact that the petition was not in legal form and could have certified them to the Common Council as complying with the Home Rule Law. To that I can only say that even if I had no respect for the laws which I, under oath, have sworn to uphold and obey, and had I falsely certified the petitions to the Common Council as complying with the law, that same law prohibits the city from paying wage increases under those circumstances even if the referendum had been placed on the ballot and had been approved by the voters on Election Day.

Were They Sincere?

As I review the happenings which occurred during the referendum controversy, ladies and gentlemen, a question arises in my mind as to whether the personality or personalities who directed the strategy behind the scenes of the fire and police committee were sincerely trying to get a pay increase for the rank and file of the police and fire departments or whether he or they were not more interested in trying to embarrass the Republican party, or some one in the Republican party.

Does it not strike you as strange that last year the members of these two departments asked for a $600 raise; that this year their committee jumped it up to $1,000 after getting in the meantime a $240 bonus, and that the attorney whom they hired and paid for that purpose prepared an illegal petition which was sure to create controversy and public confusion and misunderstanding? Could it be, do you think, that the master strategist or strategists who operated behind the scenes did not really want the referendum to get on the ballot for a vote but were aiming only to maneuver the city administration in a position where it had to declare the petition illegal in the hope that the Republican party would lose the votes of individual police and firemen and their families and friends?

It is interesting to note how the Democratic party and its candidates keep harping on the police and fire referendum. You will also notice, however, that they are most careful not to take a frank and open stand for or against the $1,000 pay rise over previously established salaries. The Democrats want our city employes to believe that the Democratic candidates are in their corner. However, you will also notice that they are very careful not to publicly comment themselves for fear of arousing the wrath of the taxpayers who would have to foot the bill. The, Democrats, as usual, are trying to carry water on both political shoulders.

Instead of insinuating, by innuendo, that the city administration has been unfair in the public referendum controversy, there is one way, and only one way, in which the Democrats can really prove their sincerity in this matter.

And this is the way.

The Democrat-Liberal Party candidate for mayor knows that the police and firemen want a $1,000 raise.

He knows that such a raise will cost more than $100,000 a year which the taxpayers will have to pay, including the resulting increases in pension payments.

He also know that the salaries of city employes can be fixed in the budget and that the city government can raise salaries without a public referendum.

Will He Pledge Raises?

Will he pledge publicly in this campaign that he will, if elected, give a $1,000 raise over levels established in the previous referenda to policemen and firemen commencing on January 1, 1952?

The answer to that question will be the acid test of whether the Democrats are in favor of such a salary boost or whether they are just trying to kid the police and firemen in order to get their votes on election day.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, may I say a few words about our Common Council. As city clerk, I am also clerk of the Common Council. I work closely with the aldermen and know their problems and their accomplishments.

The Council is presided over by our genial alderman-at-large, Joe Kelly. He has done an outstanding job. He has been fair and impartial and is admired and respected by all of us.

Our Republican candidates for aldermen are Hirschell Mays, in the 1st ward; Ben Storms in the 2nd; Ed Sammons in the 3rd; Joe Wenzel in the 4th; Sam Perry in the 5th; Dave Schechter in the 6th; Joe Rodden in the 7th; John Dolan in the 8th; Marty Golden in the 9th; Sid Lane in the 10th; Abe Relyea in the 11th; Bob Cullum in the 12th, and Bill Parmelee in the 13th. They are all good, capable, dependable men. They deserve your support on Election Day.

When it comes to discussing the fine qualities of Mayor Newkirk, I can only speak from personal experience during the past four years I have worked closely with the mayor. I have watched him grow in stature and ability and in his grasp of municipal affairs.

He is a man of unimpeachable honesty and integrity. He bears an excellent reputation for dependability and fine character. He has moral courage and the strength of his convictions. These are valuable assets in a public official in these days when some office seekers will do almost anything to gain public office.

Mayor Newkirk has gone far and wide to get conventions for the city and to do anything that he thought would benefit Kingston and its people.

On Board of Governors

The New York State Conference of Mayors and other Public officials recognized Mayor Newkirk's character and ability by electing him a member of its governing board.

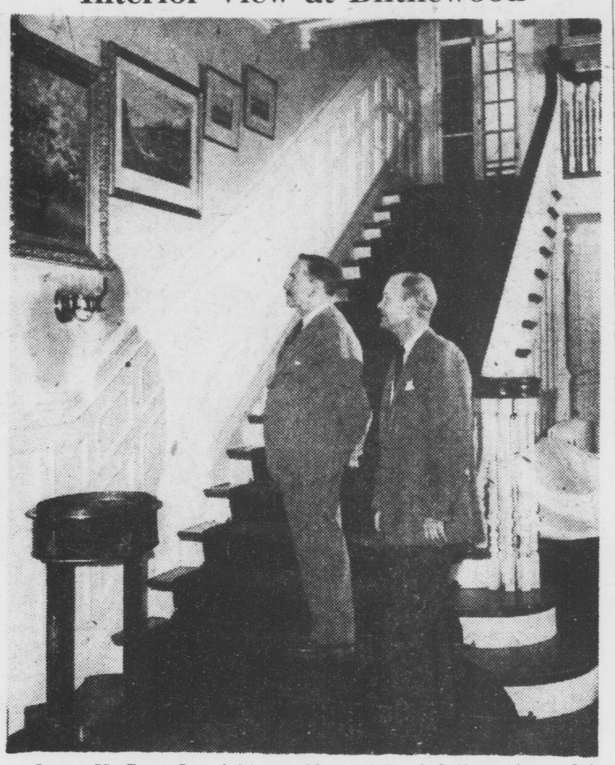

You, the people, will make no mistake in re-electing Oscar Newkirk mayor. His re-election will insure a sincere, intelligent, and efficient management of your city's affairs during the two troublesome years that lie ahead.

Thanks for allowing me to come into your homes this evening and please remember to vote Republican on Election Day by pulling all of the levers down over Row A and leaving them down.

which the land and buildings can most effective be put.

Noted Book-Collector

Zabriskie, a noted bibliophile and collector of art, has been a friend of the college for many years and has taken a particular interest in the library, to which he has donated many precious rarities, including a leaf from the 42-line Gutenberg Bible, and manuscripts and important first editions of English authors, especially Walter Scott, Dickens, and Thomas Hardy.

His father, Captain Andrew C. Zabriskie (1853-1916), who largely developed the present estate, was a well-known authority on antiquarian and numismatic subjects, was an active member of the 7th and 71st Regiments, New York National Guard, and was also interested in breeding Ayrshire cattle.

Many Buildings on Land

On the estate are the large and extensive manor house built by Captain and Mrs. Zabriskie about 1900, three large barns and two garages that can be converted for educational purposes, and seven houses of varying size that have been occupied by tenants and employes. There is also a beautiful formal garden overlooking the Hudson riven; an outdoor swimming pool by the waterfalls on the Sawkill; greenhouses; and a dock site.

Traces to Schuyler

The history of the estate and surrounding area can be traced back to its original purchase from the Indians in 1680 by Colonel Peter Schuyler. Subsequent owners of various sections have included the famous sportsman, John C. Stephens of New York (circa 1800), Robert Donaldson, a gentleman from North Carolina, John Bard, and, since 1899, the Zabriskie family.

It was widely heralded as early as 1849 as one of the most beautiful estates in America. A. J. Downing, the noted landscape architect of that period, wrote that Blithewood, then owned by Mr. Donaldson, "is one of the most charming villa residences in the Union. . . . We can recall no place of moderate extent, where nature and tasteful art are both so harmoniously combined to express grace and elegance."

Were They Sincere?

As I review the happenings which occurred during the referendum controversy, ladies and gentlemen, a question arises in my mind as to whether the personality or personalities who directed the strategy behind the scenes of the fire and police committee were sincerely trying to get a pay increase for the rank and file of the police and fire departments or whether he or they were not more interested in trying to embarrass the Republican party, or some one in the Republican party.

Does it not strike you as strange that last year the members of these two departments asked for a $600 raise; that this year their committee jumped it up to $1,000 after getting in the meantime a $240 bonus, and that the attorney whom they hired and paid for that purpose prepared an illegal petition which was sure to create controversy and public confusion and misunderstanding? Could it be, do you think, that the master strategist or strategists who operated behind the scenes did not really want the referendum to get on the ballot for a vote but were aiming only to maneuver the city administration in a position where it had to declare the petition illegal in the hope that the Republican party would lose the votes of individual police and firemen and their families and friends?

It is interesting to note how the Democratic party and its candidates keep harping on the police and fire referendum. You will also notice, however, that they are most careful not to take a frank and open stand for or against the $1,000 pay rise over previously established salaries. The Democrats want our city employes to believe that the Democratic candidates are in their corner. However, you will also notice that they are very careful not to publicly comment themselves for fear of arousing the wrath of the taxpayers who would have to foot the bill. The, Democrats, as usual, are trying to carry water on both political shoulders.

Instead of insinuating, by innuendo, that the city administration has been unfair in the public referendum controversy, there is one way, and only one way, in which the Democrats can really prove their sincerity in this matter.

And this is the way.

The Democrat-Liberal Party candidate for mayor knows that the police and firemen want a $1,000 raise.

He knows that such a raise will cost more than $100,000 a year which the taxpayers will have to pay, including the resulting increases in pension payments.

He also know that the salaries of city employes can be fixed in the budget and that the city government can raise salaries without a public referendum.

Will He Pledge Raises?

Will he pledge publicly in this campaign that he will, if elected, give a $1,000 raise over levels established in the previous referenda to policemen and firemen commencing on January 1, 1952?

The answer to that question will be the acid test of whether the Democrats are in favor of such a salary boost or whether they are just trying to kid the police and firemen in order to get their votes on election day.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, may I say a few words about our Common Council. As city clerk, I am also clerk of the Common Council. I work closely with the aldermen and know their problems and their accomplishments.

The Council is presided over by our genial alderman-at-large, Joe Kelly. He has done an outstanding job. He has been fair and impartial and is admired and respected by all of us.

Our Republican candidates for aldermen are Hirschell Mays, in the 1st ward; Ben Storms in the 2nd; Ed Sammons in the 3rd; Joe Wenzel in the 4th; Sam Perry in the 5th; Dave Schechter in the 6th; Joe Rodden in the 7th; John Dolan in the 8th; Marty Golden in the 9th; Sid Lane in the 10th; Abe Relyea in the 11th; Bob Cullum in the 12th, and Bill Parmelee in the 13th. They are all good, capable, dependable men. They deserve your support on Election Day.

When it comes to discussing the fine qualities of Mayor Newkirk, I can only speak from personal experience during the past four years I have worked closely with the mayor. I have watched him grow in stature and ability and in his grasp of municipal affairs.

He is a man of unimpeachable honesty and integrity. He bears an excellent reputation for dependability and fine character. He has moral courage and the strength of his convictions. These are valuable assets in a public official in these days when some office seekers will do almost anything to gain public office.

Mayor Newkirk has gone far and wide to get conventions for the city and to do anything that he thought would benefit Kingston and its people.

On Board of Governors

The New York State Conference of Mayors and other Public officials recognized Mayor Newkirk's character and ability by electing him a member of its governing board.

You, the people, will make no mistake in re-electing Oscar Newkirk mayor. His re-election will insure a sincere, intelligent, and efficient management of your city's affairs during the two troublesome years that lie ahead.

Thanks for allowing me to come into your homes this evening and please remember to vote Republican on Election Day by pulling all of the levers down over Row A and leaving them down.

Noted Book-Collector

Zabriskie, a noted bibliophile and collector of art, has been a friend of the college for many years and has taken a particular interest in the library, to which he has donated many precious rarities, including a leaf from the 42-line Gutenberg Bible, and manuscripts and important first editions of English authors, especially Walter Scott, Dickens, and Thomas Hardy.

His father, Captain Andrew C. Zabriskie (1853-1916), who largely developed the present estate, was a well-known authority on antiquarian and numismatic subjects, was an active member of the 7th and 71st Regiments, New York National Guard, and was also interested in breeding Ayrshire cattle.

Many Buildings on Land

On the estate are the large and extensive manor house built by Captain and Mrs. Zabriskie about 1900, three large barns and two garages that can be converted for educational purposes, and seven houses of varying size that have been occupied by tenants and employes. There is also a beautiful formal garden overlooking the Hudson riven; an outdoor swimming pool by the waterfalls on the Sawkill; greenhouses; and a dock site.

Traces to Schuyler

The history of the estate and surrounding area can be traced back to its original purchase from the Indians in 1680 by Colonel Peter Schuyler. Subsequent owners of various sections have included the famous sportsman, John C. Stephens of New York (circa 1800), Robert Donaldson, a gentleman from North Carolina, John Bard, and, since 1899, the Zabriskie family.

It was widely heralded as early as 1849 as one of the most beautiful estates in America. A. J. Downing, the noted landscape architect of that period, wrote that Blithewood, then owned by Mr. Donaldson, "is one of the most charming villa residences in the Union. . . . We can recall no place of moderate extent, where nature and tasteful art are both so harmoniously combined to express grace and elegance."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 30, 1951

AMENDMENT NO. 4

Under several provisions of the Constitution, the state is prohibited from pledging its credit in support of the obligations of certain public corporations.

The limitation has proved to be a handicap to the proper financing of the proposed Thruway from New York City to Buffalo, which is to be constructed by a public corporation created for that purpose and financed through revenue bonds issued by such corporation. To assure proper conditions for the successful issuance of these bonds, it is necessary that the legislature have the power to guarantee the payment of principal and interest of the bonds to be issued, in an amount not exceeding five hundred million dollars.

The proposed Truway will be a toll facility, and it is expected that the revenues thus derived will be sufficient in amount to meet the interest and principal payments on the debt incurred. In all likelihood, the state will not be called on to assume the liability which the amendment would create. Without the pledge of the state's credit, however, interest charges on the proposed bond issue would be higher than on bonds having state backing. The support of state credit for the proposed bond issue, therefore, will result in substantial savings in the financing of the proposed Thruway.

The amendments also would permit the use "of any state canal lands and properties by such public corporation for so long as the law may provide."

The proposed Thruway is a desirable undertaking. It would create a needed, new traffic artery serving areas of the state where present highway facilities are overburdened. The use of a public corporation to construct and operate the Thruway on a self-sustaining revenue basis already has been authorized. The proposed amendment is necessary to the proper financing of the Thruway. It should be approved.

LADDER OR QUEUE

So many special factors were thrown into the British election at the eleventh hour that the significance of its result might easily be overestimated. Such events as the fumbling of the negotiations with Iran, the trouble with Egypt, the deterioration of the situation in Korea and the serious illness of the King doubtless swayed many wavering voters, yet had little to do wtih the basic differences between the Conservative and Labor parties.

It seems logical to assume, however, that most of the voters were deliberately choosing between the course set by the Labor government and the former principles of government and economy to which the Conservatives proposed to return. They came very close to a rejection of the Laborite program in the 1950 elections. The failure of the Labor government since then to turn the tide toward better times must have clinched the decision of the majority that they wanted to go no further along the socialistic road.

In his campaign Winston Churchill made a terse comparison of the two parties. He said that the difference was that between the ladder and the queue. The free enterprise system offers to each man the chance and the encouragement to climb if he can. The socialistic state offers the queue in which he must await his turn to receive what the state allots to him. Perhaps not every voter thought the issue out in such philosophical terms, but many must have thought over their own experiences in the old way of sturdy, individualistic Britain and in the new way of the paternalistic state. Utopia was not gained overnight by government ownership of industries. There is something to be said for the freedom of a man to make of his life what he can by his own strength and will. Such thoughts must have been in the minds of many British voters.

The modern gadget which "will pay for itself" too often turns out to be the straw which breaks the budget's back.

The limitation on the number of football games being televised is irritating home set owners, who think that the "T" belongs to TV.

'These Days'

EISENHOWER

The campaign to make General Eisenhower a presidential nominee for one of the two major political parties is now in full blast. Almost simultaneously, the "New York Herald Tribune" named him as its candidate, "Collier's" published an article by Leonard V. Finder announcing that Eisenhower would accept a nomination by either party, and a news story stated that a headquarters for him would be established at Topeka, Kansas.

Even General Eisenhower's most ardent supporters have to recognize that politically this is not good enough, for no direct word has come from General Eisenhower. In fact, his headquarters stated:

"This is a military headquarters and we cannot be expected to comment on the views of an editorial in a purely political matter. There is no change contemplated in General Eisenhower's military status, about which this headquarters has been informed."

Admittedly, the position of General Eisenhower is difficult and embarrassing. As supreme commander of NATO, he cannot become involved in the internal politics of his own country. While serving in uniform under President Truman, he cannot oppose him politically. All this, General Eisenhower was told by friendly persons before he went to Europe. He was told that such a complex situation was inevitable and that he ought to make his choice in advance of the campaign for his nomination. Others counseled him that his position in Europe would improve his political stature.

Until General Eisenhower himself publicly proclaims himself a Republican, which he has never done, and that he seeks the nomination and would accept it, the politicians who control state delegations to the convention will avoid, as far as possible, commitments which may prove embarrassing to them at the convention.

General Eisenhower, furthermore, is being presented in a false light by those who are publicly supporting him. The "New York Herald Tribune" was one of the principal advocates of Wendell willkie, which is likely to frighten middle-western Republicans.

Mr. Finder has no status in the Republican Party. His claim to fame is that in 1948, General Eisenhower wrote to him stating that "it is my conviction that the necessary and wise subordination of the military to civil power will be best sustained, and our people will have greater confidence that it is so sustained, when lifelong professional soldiers, in the absence of some obvious and overriding reason, abstain from seeking high political office. . . ."

Nowhere in his article does Mr. Finder publish a statement prepared by or signed by General Eisenhower acknowledging that he is a candidate and will accept if chosen. All that appears is Mr. Finder's political judgment. But there is no record to indicate that Mr. Finder's political judgment is politically important.

The real danger for the Eisenhower candidacy is that his friends are placing him in the awkward position of being Tom Dewey's candidate supported by the internationalist crowd in the east. To professional politicians this means a split party for the following reasons:

1. It is based not on a desire to support Eisenhower but to use him to block Taft and to bring Dewey in as a compromise;

2. He is being used as a political refuge by a discrediated crowd who have kept Republicans at loggerheads and defeated since 1940 when they projected Wendell Willkie. This same group is regarded as responsible for the agreement between Roosevelt and Dewey to limit the debate in 1944;

3. It is perilous to say, as Eisenhower's friends do, that if the Republicans do not nominate him, he would accept a Democratic nomination. This is an admission that he is not a Republican but a Maverick who will accept any brand. Further, it implies that he is above party and therefore will not function as a Republican if elected.

All of this adds up to three points:

1. General Eisenhower must declare himself a Republican;

2. He must declare himself a candidate who will accept the nomination, come what may. No man can lead a party who in his mind or occupation is greater than his party;

3. He must state his platform—his domestic and foreign platform—before the convention, as no party can afford this year to buy a pig in a poke.

A political party in the United States is a state organization which selects delegates to a national convention. To many leaders, the state and congressional elections are of equal importance to the presidential election. They will not risk the former for an uncertainty in the latter if they can help it. That is why the Eisenhower candidacy evokes little enthusiasm among those who will select the delegates to Chicago.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

WHAT IS BEST FOR RETARDED CHILD

One of the difficult problems facing the parents of a backward child is just what is the wisest plan to give the child his best opportunity in life.

It is true that some backward children are helped by the use of thyroid extract because the thyroid gland in these children is underactive. There are also some children who are "brightened" mentally by glummatic acid. It is only fair to say, however, that the majority of backward children need special care and instruction if they are going to be able to take a place, however humble, in the community.

In the Swiss Medical Journal, Dr. Jacob Lutz (University of Zurich) states that odd behavior reactions are very apt to occur with diseases of the brain and its coverings. There is regularly a disturbance of consciousness with disordered thinking, judgment is poor, attention span is short. The mood is variable; usually anxious, often angry, sometimes depressed.

In American Journal of Psychiatry, Dr. Reynold A. Jensen, University of Minnesota, states that the task of helping parents of a retarded or backward child is complicated. The complication arises from the mistakes parents make because of their natural anxiety. Some of these mistakes are: (1) delay in consulting their physician; (2) encouragement of parents by holding out false hopes which result in disillusionment later and (3) too much direct advice or urging of one specific plan. Most parents regard mental deficiency as a stigma. In their natural anxiety they are overconcerned and overprotective of the child.

Dr. Jensen advises that the physician get a complete history of the case — his birth, his present capabilities in his everyday activities. The parents are asked, "How old would you estimate your child to be?" The accuracy with which average parents estimate their child's development is remarkable.

The physician in advising parents has to keep in mind the other members of the family. The four possible solutions outlined by Dr. Jansen are (1) The child may be kept at home. By offering this plan first it reduces resistance to other plans later. (2) An appropriate boarding home may be found. (3) The child may be placed in a church or private school for care. (4) The parents can take advantage of the facilities which the government offers by considering placement at the state school where especially trained teachers are in charge.

The Soda-Jerk

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It now looks as if senators' secretaries might be put on the investigating griddle. If so, this column has turned up a letter pertaining to the office of Nevada's senator 'Molly" Malone that makes Flo Bratton, secretary to Vice President Barkley, look like a sandwich-snitcher at a Sunday-school picnic.

The letter was written by Senator Malone's administrative assistant, Ben Whitehurst, and proposed that he work for the Long Beach, Calif., harbor commissioners against federal ownership of tidelands oil—for fifty grand plus expenses and plus taxes. The funny thing about the letter is that Whitehurst's boss, the senator from Nevada, is now for federal ownership of tidelands oil.

Of course, the senator has had a position on the billion-dollar submerged oil lands which seems subject to change. At first, Malone appeared hostile to federal ownership, now has turned around and is for it. Quite recently Malone has been conferring with E. L. Cord, the industrial magnate, who vigorously favors federal ownership and has been buying up hitherto worthless Civil War scrip, which he claims, entitles him to vast tracts of oil rich tidelands—if the federal government controls.

The Whitehurst Letter

The manner in which the senator from Nevada has taken different sides on tidelands oil, and the manner in which his administrative assistant was willing to sell his services, is a highly interesting chapter in backstage congressional wire-pulling. Here is what happened.

One year ago, Sept. 20, 1950, Ben Whitehurst wrote the Long Beach Harbor Board which has more oil wells sticking up from its harbor than most cities have telephone poles, offering his services. The letter was written on Senator Malone's official stationery and read:

"Sept. 20, 1950

"Board of Harbor Commissioners
"City of Long Beach
"Long Beach, Calif.

"Gentlemen:

"I wish to thank you for your courtesies to me in our discussion of my proposed part in getting through the Congress and over a possible presidential veto tideland legislation which would be acceptable to the harbor board.

"You requested that I inform you at once as to the kind of financial arrangement which would be satisfactory to me. I would want:

"Salary—None;

"Expenses—$1,000 per month, payable monthly; (this amount for expenses is required as I would immediately go off the U. S. Senate payroll.) Plus the actual cost of any long distance telephone calls and telegrams relating directly to this matter and any travel authorized in advance by the harbor board, the cost of these items to be accounted for;

"Retainer—$1,000, payable upon signing of contract;

"Fee—$50,000 in a lump sum to be paid me upon passage of legislation acceptable to the harbor board or upon other settlement acceptable to the harbor board; plus an amount sufficient to offset the federal income taxes involved.

"If the general principles of this proposal are acceptable to you, or if you prefer to suggest a counter proposal, will you kindly have a contract drawn up for my consideration.

"Yours respectfully,

"(Sgd) BEN WHITEHURST

"P. S. My home address in Washington is 1016 16th street, Northwest; on Friday and Saturday of this week, I will be at the Desert Inn, Las Vegas; for the seven days following, I will be at the Mapes Hotel, Reno; my office is 447 U. S. Senate, Washington, D. C."

Friendly Malone

At the time Whitehurst wrote this letter, Senator Malone seemed friendly to state ownership of tidelands oil and against federal ownership. Certainly when Irving Smith, a representative of the Long Beach harbor board testified, Aug. 17, 1950, before the Senate Interior Committee of which Malone is a member, Malone went out of his way to be friendly.

"Mr. Smith," Malone asked, seeking to draw out the witness, "you do consider the situation at this time impossible from the standpoint of the city of Long Beach? In other words, without a modification of the Supreme Court decision or legislation by Congress, you do consider the situation the city now finds itself impossible (sic) and practically without rights if the decision is enforced?"

This friendly questioning took place at about the time Malone's assistant was dickering with the Long Beach commissioners for the fat fee of $50,000 plus taxes and plus expenses.

But the Long Beach people did not sign up. Whitehurst did not get his job.

And later, Senator Malone completely reversed his position.

In fact, Malone was the senator who, with Murray of Montana, Democrat, blocked the O'Mahoney-Long compromise Tidelands Oil bill inside the Senate Interior Committee. This compromise would have kept Tidelands Oil under the control of the federal government, though permitting present lease-holders to continue. This would favor Senator Malone's old friends from Long Beach who own leases—but despite that fact, he voted against them.

But it would not have favored his new friends, including various speculators who staked out claims to Tidelands Oil or those who want to lease under the federal leasing act. One of these groups is represented by the son of Montana's Senator Murray, and it was Murray who first moved inside the committee to block the compromise bill.

Civil War Scrip

The other group includes E. L. Cord, who has entertained Sen. Malone of late, and who has been buying Civil and Mexican War scrip. This scrip was given to Civil and Mexican War veterans authorizing them to claim any uninhabited lands in the west. After the Supreme Court declared that the Tidelands were federal domain, Cord began buying up this scrip on the theory that under it he could claim Tidelands Oil.

Significantly, Sen. Malone not only helped block the compromise bill which would have helped Long Beach, who did not hire his assistant, but which would have hurt his new friend, Cord; but in addition Malone introduced a resolution friendly to those who had scrip claims to Tidelands Oil.

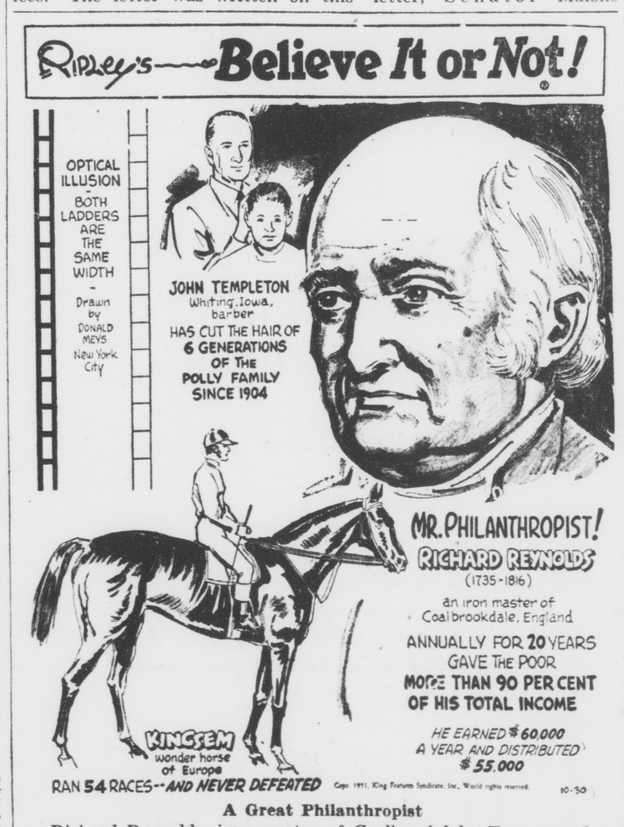

"Whereas," read the Malone resolution, "certain lands have been filed upon through certain 'scrip' authorized under prior successive congressional acts . . . etc. . . . Resolved, that the Senate of the United States through its proper committee investigate such applications under the National Oil and Gas Leasing Act and filings made under the 'scrip' authorized by prior congressional acts . . ."

Maybe the investigation of Vice Presidential Secretary Flo Bratton should be broadened.

30,000 Layoffs

Detroit, Oct. 30 (AP) — Layoffs during the first two weeks of December will affect some 30,000 employes at its Big Rouge plant in Dearborn, the Ford Motor Co. said today. About 15,000 workers at Ford assembly plants in 15 cities will be laid off during the latter part of December, the company said. The layoffs are attributed to model changeovers and government production quotas.

A Great Philanthropist

Richard Reynolds, iron master of Coalbrookdale, Eng., may have been the greatest philanthropist of all time. Not because of the size of his charity, but because his yearly contributions amounted to 90% of his income. In the last twenty years of his life, when his annual income was $60,000, he gave to the poor $55,000 each year. Altogether he gave away $1,100,000 to house the sick and for schools in which both parents and children were fed, clothed and educated.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 29—The Herald Tribune and the New York Times have had the gall to try to put over on the public as the work of an honest author, the latest book by a notorious sneak and liar named Avedis Boghos Derounian, who goes under many false names including John Roy Carlson. I do not know why they have returned to him like the biblical dog. He seems to fascinate them. But this is a gloomy commentary on two New York papers which once were held in high esteem by much of the public and by all honest newspaper workers.

Why do they squander the public confidence which they formerly enjoyed to praise the exploits of one of the most notorious fakers of the time?

Carlson has produced a new book called "Cairo to Damascus," in which he writes that he assumed a variety of guises and went on dangerous adventures among Arabs, Fascists and Jews in Palestine.

The Times gave it two reviews. In one of them, covering almost a quarter of a page, Orville Prescott, a staff man, undertakes to assure the public, that "it is all true."

Another review in the Sunday section, says: "In 'Under Cover' and 'The Plotters,' Carlson established a reputation for veracity and accuracy which was never seriously challenged."

The Herald Tribune gave Carlson a quarter of a page in the weekly book review and more space in a gratuitous plug consisting of rank ballyhoo. The Sunday piece says he set down "'the absolute truth' as he was convinced he had discovered it."

It is doubtful that any other person purporting to be a reporter and author has a more notorious record.

In New York, a policeman named John L. Drew, who had served 17 years in a Jewish neighborhood with a clean record, was accused of anti-Semitism by Carlson.

Drew was exonerated in a departmental trial. Police Commissioner Valentine confirmed the verdict. Agitation continued and Mayor LaGuardia appointed former Police Commissioner McLaughlin and two distinguished jurists, Fred E. Crain and Edward R. Finch, of the Court of Appeals, to review the case. They vindicated Drew. Alfred J. Talley, formerly a judge of Special Sessions, said that in 50 years he had not encountered any person as reprehensible and untruthful as Carlson.

In Salt Lake City a group of plaintiffs recovered $10,000 in the federal court for false statements written by Carlson.

In Chicago, Federal Judge John P. Barnes, in a libel suit against E. P. Dutton, the publishers, said that if he had tried the case without a jury he would have assessed "very substantial" damages instead of the judgment of one dollar awarded by the jury. The cost to Dutton was much larger because Dutton had to pay the plaintiff's costs.

Judge Barnes said the book, "Under Cover," was "over 500 pages of twaddle with a few outrageous charges, of which any loyal citizen may very properly complain." The plaintiff had been charged with disloyalty to the United States.

"And I didn't hear any evidence of the truth of those charges," he continued. "It wasn't attempted to show that he was a Nazi agent. It wasn't attempted to show that he was anti-Semitic. I think this book was written by a wholly irresponsible person who was willing to say anthing for money. I wouldn't believe him on oath.

"I think that book was published by a publisher (Dutton) who was willing to publish anything for money. I don't think they made any adequate investigation of the author. If they had they would not publish it unless they cared more for the almighty dollar than they care for human decency."

Carlson and Dutton did not attempt to wipe out this stain.

In Boston, Conrad Chapman was accused by Carlson of having contacts with the Nazi ministry of propaganda. Carlson's lawyers, lacking evidence to support the charge, threw up their hands and Carlson, in effect, admitted that he was a liar and a faker when he signed a retraction and apology.

In the face of all this, Orville Prescott of the Times wrote that "all Americans who value liberty and love their country owe Mr. Carlson a debt of thanks. That debt is increased by the publication of * * * * 'The Plotters'."

Patrick Scanlon, the editor of The Catholic Brooklyn Tablet, challenged Prescott's review.

Prescott replied that Judge Barnes was biased and irresponsible. Scanlon dared Prescott to file charges against Judge Barnes. Prescott folded up.

Such was the Herald Tribune's obsession that Irita Van Doren, editor of the Weekly Book Review, wrote that she had "investigated" Carlson "and found his claims to be substantiated at every point by the State Department and the FBI with whom he worked at considerable danger to himself in the interest of his country's welfare."

Mrs. Van Doren later admitted that the State Department had never expressed any opinion on Carlson, J. Edgar Hoover wrote that for three months in 1942 Carlson was used as an "informant" but contributed little of value and was dropped. The FBI took him at the specific request of the spectacular O. John Rogge, who was chief prosecutor in the disgraceful mass sedition case. Rogge eventually left the Department of Justice and the indictments were dropped.

Carlson boasted that he had worked as a detective for the Friends of Democracy for six years. This organization maintains a private espionage system and appeals for contributions to promote "democracy."

Nevertheless, the Times and Herald Tribune doggedly attempt to put over his books as trustworthy reporting. It is a mystery and they never try to justify their strange conduct.

The trouble with bridge players these days is that they're just too good. Every big city has a few players, sometimes a few dozen players, who are as good as the headliners. The result is that there are no easy spots when you play in a national tournament.

The going will be especially rough when the winter nationals begin in Detroit on the first of December. The hand shown today was played by Mrs. Sidney Heinrich of Detroit and if the girls play that hard Detroit will be no place for a rest cure.

West opened the jack of hearts, and Mrs. Heinrich looked with interest at the dummy that came down after the short but explosive auction. The big question was whether or not to take a trump finesse with only two trumps missing.

It looked at first as though the right play was to cash the ace of trumps in the hope of dropping the king. If the king of clubs failed to drop, South could fall back on the spade finesse or perhaps try some sort of end play.

Then Mrs. Heinrich saw a better plan and proceeded to adopt it. She took two top heart tricks, discarding a spade from dummy, ruffed a heart in dummy, and then cashed the top diamonds. This eliminated the red suits from the South hand and also from the dummy.

At this point Mrs. Heinrich led the jack of clubs from her hand and let it ride for a finesse. If East could win the trick, he would be unable to make a safe return. A spade would give South a free finesse; and either red suit would allow South to ruff while dummy discarded another low spade.

As it happened, of course, the trump finesse succeeded, so the slam contract was easily made. The point was, however, that there was no need to guess about the trumps. If West had both trumps the finesse would succeed; and if East had the king of trumps he was sure to be end-played.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 30, 1951

AMENDMENT NO. 4

Under several provisions of the Constitution, the state is prohibited from pledging its credit in support of the obligations of certain public corporations.

The limitation has proved to be a handicap to the proper financing of the proposed Thruway from New York City to Buffalo, which is to be constructed by a public corporation created for that purpose and financed through revenue bonds issued by such corporation. To assure proper conditions for the successful issuance of these bonds, it is necessary that the legislature have the power to guarantee the payment of principal and interest of the bonds to be issued, in an amount not exceeding five hundred million dollars.

The proposed Truway will be a toll facility, and it is expected that the revenues thus derived will be sufficient in amount to meet the interest and principal payments on the debt incurred. In all likelihood, the state will not be called on to assume the liability which the amendment would create. Without the pledge of the state's credit, however, interest charges on the proposed bond issue would be higher than on bonds having state backing. The support of state credit for the proposed bond issue, therefore, will result in substantial savings in the financing of the proposed Thruway.

The amendments also would permit the use "of any state canal lands and properties by such public corporation for so long as the law may provide."

The proposed Thruway is a desirable undertaking. It would create a needed, new traffic artery serving areas of the state where present highway facilities are overburdened. The use of a public corporation to construct and operate the Thruway on a self-sustaining revenue basis already has been authorized. The proposed amendment is necessary to the proper financing of the Thruway. It should be approved.

LADDER OR QUEUE

So many special factors were thrown into the British election at the eleventh hour that the significance of its result might easily be overestimated. Such events as the fumbling of the negotiations with Iran, the trouble with Egypt, the deterioration of the situation in Korea and the serious illness of the King doubtless swayed many wavering voters, yet had little to do wtih the basic differences between the Conservative and Labor parties.

It seems logical to assume, however, that most of the voters were deliberately choosing between the course set by the Labor government and the former principles of government and economy to which the Conservatives proposed to return. They came very close to a rejection of the Laborite program in the 1950 elections. The failure of the Labor government since then to turn the tide toward better times must have clinched the decision of the majority that they wanted to go no further along the socialistic road.

In his campaign Winston Churchill made a terse comparison of the two parties. He said that the difference was that between the ladder and the queue. The free enterprise system offers to each man the chance and the encouragement to climb if he can. The socialistic state offers the queue in which he must await his turn to receive what the state allots to him. Perhaps not every voter thought the issue out in such philosophical terms, but many must have thought over their own experiences in the old way of sturdy, individualistic Britain and in the new way of the paternalistic state. Utopia was not gained overnight by government ownership of industries. There is something to be said for the freedom of a man to make of his life what he can by his own strength and will. Such thoughts must have been in the minds of many British voters.

The modern gadget which "will pay for itself" too often turns out to be the straw which breaks the budget's back.

'These Days'

EISENHOWER

The campaign to make General Eisenhower a presidential nominee for one of the two major political parties is now in full blast. Almost simultaneously, the "New York Herald Tribune" named him as its candidate, "Collier's" published an article by Leonard V. Finder announcing that Eisenhower would accept a nomination by either party, and a news story stated that a headquarters for him would be established at Topeka, Kansas.

Even General Eisenhower's most ardent supporters have to recognize that politically this is not good enough, for no direct word has come from General Eisenhower. In fact, his headquarters stated:

"This is a military headquarters and we cannot be expected to comment on the views of an editorial in a purely political matter. There is no change contemplated in General Eisenhower's military status, about which this headquarters has been informed."

Admittedly, the position of General Eisenhower is difficult and embarrassing. As supreme commander of NATO, he cannot become involved in the internal politics of his own country. While serving in uniform under President Truman, he cannot oppose him politically. All this, General Eisenhower was told by friendly persons before he went to Europe. He was told that such a complex situation was inevitable and that he ought to make his choice in advance of the campaign for his nomination. Others counseled him that his position in Europe would improve his political stature.

Until General Eisenhower himself publicly proclaims himself a Republican, which he has never done, and that he seeks the nomination and would accept it, the politicians who control state delegations to the convention will avoid, as far as possible, commitments which may prove embarrassing to them at the convention.

General Eisenhower, furthermore, is being presented in a false light by those who are publicly supporting him. The "New York Herald Tribune" was one of the principal advocates of Wendell willkie, which is likely to frighten middle-western Republicans.

Mr. Finder has no status in the Republican Party. His claim to fame is that in 1948, General Eisenhower wrote to him stating that "it is my conviction that the necessary and wise subordination of the military to civil power will be best sustained, and our people will have greater confidence that it is so sustained, when lifelong professional soldiers, in the absence of some obvious and overriding reason, abstain from seeking high political office. . . ."

Nowhere in his article does Mr. Finder publish a statement prepared by or signed by General Eisenhower acknowledging that he is a candidate and will accept if chosen. All that appears is Mr. Finder's political judgment. But there is no record to indicate that Mr. Finder's political judgment is politically important.

The real danger for the Eisenhower candidacy is that his friends are placing him in the awkward position of being Tom Dewey's candidate supported by the internationalist crowd in the east. To professional politicians this means a split party for the following reasons:

1. It is based not on a desire to support Eisenhower but to use him to block Taft and to bring Dewey in as a compromise;

2. He is being used as a political refuge by a discrediated crowd who have kept Republicans at loggerheads and defeated since 1940 when they projected Wendell Willkie. This same group is regarded as responsible for the agreement between Roosevelt and Dewey to limit the debate in 1944;

3. It is perilous to say, as Eisenhower's friends do, that if the Republicans do not nominate him, he would accept a Democratic nomination. This is an admission that he is not a Republican but a Maverick who will accept any brand. Further, it implies that he is above party and therefore will not function as a Republican if elected.

All of this adds up to three points:

1. General Eisenhower must declare himself a Republican;

2. He must declare himself a candidate who will accept the nomination, come what may. No man can lead a party who in his mind or occupation is greater than his party;

3. He must state his platform—his domestic and foreign platform—before the convention, as no party can afford this year to buy a pig in a poke.

A political party in the United States is a state organization which selects delegates to a national convention. To many leaders, the state and congressional elections are of equal importance to the presidential election. They will not risk the former for an uncertainty in the latter if they can help it. That is why the Eisenhower candidacy evokes little enthusiasm among those who will select the delegates to Chicago.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

WHAT IS BEST FOR RETARDED CHILD

One of the difficult problems facing the parents of a backward child is just what is the wisest plan to give the child his best opportunity in life.

It is true that some backward children are helped by the use of thyroid extract because the thyroid gland in these children is underactive. There are also some children who are "brightened" mentally by glummatic acid. It is only fair to say, however, that the majority of backward children need special care and instruction if they are going to be able to take a place, however humble, in the community.

In the Swiss Medical Journal, Dr. Jacob Lutz (University of Zurich) states that odd behavior reactions are very apt to occur with diseases of the brain and its coverings. There is regularly a disturbance of consciousness with disordered thinking, judgment is poor, attention span is short. The mood is variable; usually anxious, often angry, sometimes depressed.

In American Journal of Psychiatry, Dr. Reynold A. Jensen, University of Minnesota, states that the task of helping parents of a retarded or backward child is complicated. The complication arises from the mistakes parents make because of their natural anxiety. Some of these mistakes are: (1) delay in consulting their physician; (2) encouragement of parents by holding out false hopes which result in disillusionment later and (3) too much direct advice or urging of one specific plan. Most parents regard mental deficiency as a stigma. In their natural anxiety they are overconcerned and overprotective of the child.

Dr. Jensen advises that the physician get a complete history of the case — his birth, his present capabilities in his everyday activities. The parents are asked, "How old would you estimate your child to be?" The accuracy with which average parents estimate their child's development is remarkable.

The physician in advising parents has to keep in mind the other members of the family. The four possible solutions outlined by Dr. Jansen are (1) The child may be kept at home. By offering this plan first it reduces resistance to other plans later. (2) An appropriate boarding home may be found. (3) The child may be placed in a church or private school for care. (4) The parents can take advantage of the facilities which the government offers by considering placement at the state school where especially trained teachers are in charge.

The Soda-Jerk

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It now looks as if senators' secretaries might be put on the investigating griddle. If so, this column has turned up a letter pertaining to the office of Nevada's senator 'Molly" Malone that makes Flo Bratton, secretary to Vice President Barkley, look like a sandwich-snitcher at a Sunday-school picnic.

The letter was written by Senator Malone's administrative assistant, Ben Whitehurst, and proposed that he work for the Long Beach, Calif., harbor commissioners against federal ownership of tidelands oil—for fifty grand plus expenses and plus taxes. The funny thing about the letter is that Whitehurst's boss, the senator from Nevada, is now for federal ownership of tidelands oil.

Of course, the senator has had a position on the billion-dollar submerged oil lands which seems subject to change. At first, Malone appeared hostile to federal ownership, now has turned around and is for it. Quite recently Malone has been conferring with E. L. Cord, the industrial magnate, who vigorously favors federal ownership and has been buying up hitherto worthless Civil War scrip, which he claims, entitles him to vast tracts of oil rich tidelands—if the federal government controls.

The Whitehurst Letter

The manner in which the senator from Nevada has taken different sides on tidelands oil, and the manner in which his administrative assistant was willing to sell his services, is a highly interesting chapter in backstage congressional wire-pulling. Here is what happened.

One year ago, Sept. 20, 1950, Ben Whitehurst wrote the Long Beach Harbor Board which has more oil wells sticking up from its harbor than most cities have telephone poles, offering his services. The letter was written on Senator Malone's official stationery and read:

"Sept. 20, 1950

"Board of Harbor Commissioners
"City of Long Beach
"Long Beach, Calif.

"Gentlemen:

"I wish to thank you for your courtesies to me in our discussion of my proposed part in getting through the Congress and over a possible presidential veto tideland legislation which would be acceptable to the harbor board.

"You requested that I inform you at once as to the kind of financial arrangement which would be satisfactory to me. I would want:

"Salary—None;

"Expenses—$1,000 per month, payable monthly; (this amount for expenses is required as I would immediately go off the U. S. Senate payroll.) Plus the actual cost of any long distance telephone calls and telegrams relating directly to this matter and any travel authorized in advance by the harbor board, the cost of these items to be accounted for;

"Retainer—$1,000, payable upon signing of contract;

"Fee—$50,000 in a lump sum to be paid me upon passage of legislation acceptable to the harbor board or upon other settlement acceptable to the harbor board; plus an amount sufficient to offset the federal income taxes involved.

"If the general principles of this proposal are acceptable to you, or if you prefer to suggest a counter proposal, will you kindly have a contract drawn up for my consideration.

"Yours respectfully,

"(Sgd) BEN WHITEHURST

"P. S. My home address in Washington is 1016 16th street, Northwest; on Friday and Saturday of this week, I will be at the Desert Inn, Las Vegas; for the seven days following, I will be at the Mapes Hotel, Reno; my office is 447 U. S. Senate, Washington, D. C."

Friendly Malone

At the time Whitehurst wrote this letter, Senator Malone seemed friendly to state ownership of tidelands oil and against federal ownership. Certainly when Irving Smith, a representative of the Long Beach harbor board testified, Aug. 17, 1950, before the Senate Interior Committee of which Malone is a member, Malone went out of his way to be friendly.

"Mr. Smith," Malone asked, seeking to draw out the witness, "you do consider the situation at this time impossible from the standpoint of the city of Long Beach? In other words, without a modification of the Supreme Court decision or legislation by Congress, you do consider the situation the city now finds itself impossible (sic) and practically without rights if the decision is enforced?"

This friendly questioning took place at about the time Malone's assistant was dickering with the Long Beach commissioners for the fat fee of $50,000 plus taxes and plus expenses.

But the Long Beach people did not sign up. Whitehurst did not get his job.

And later, Senator Malone completely reversed his position.

In fact, Malone was the senator who, with Murray of Montana, Democrat, blocked the O'Mahoney-Long compromise Tidelands Oil bill inside the Senate Interior Committee. This compromise would have kept Tidelands Oil under the control of the federal government, though permitting present lease-holders to continue. This would favor Senator Malone's old friends from Long Beach who own leases—but despite that fact, he voted against them.

But it would not have favored his new friends, including various speculators who staked out claims to Tidelands Oil or those who want to lease under the federal leasing act. One of these groups is represented by the son of Montana's Senator Murray, and it was Murray who first moved inside the committee to block the compromise bill.

Civil War Scrip

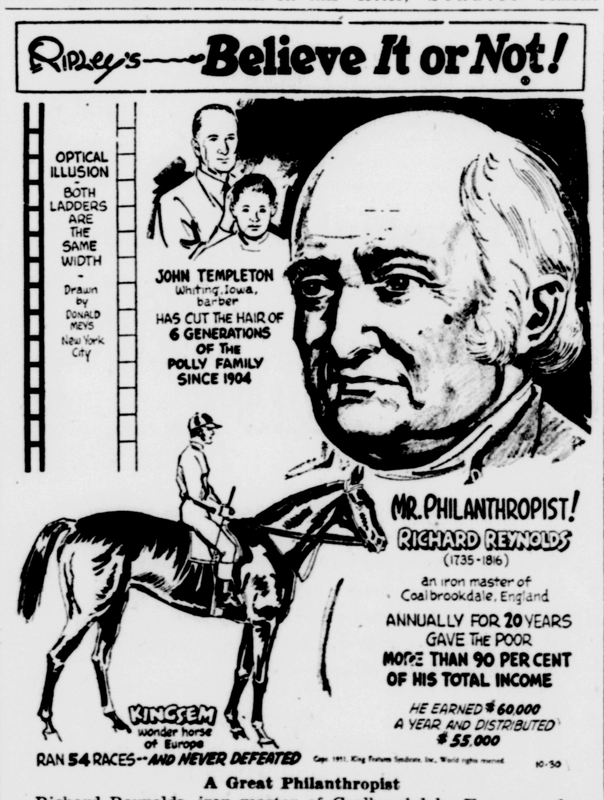

The other group includes E. L. Cord, who has entertained Sen. Malone of late, and who has been buying Civil and Mexican War scrip. This scrip was given to Civil and Mexican War veterans authorizing them to claim any uninhabited lands in the west. After the Supreme Court declared that the Tidelands were federal domain, Cord began buying up this scrip on the theory that under it he could claim Tidelands Oil.

Significantly, Sen. Malone not only helped block the compromise bill which would have helped Long Beach, who did not hire his assistant, but which would have hurt his new friend, Cord; but in addition Malone introduced a resolution friendly to those who had scrip claims to Tidelands Oil.

"Whereas," read the Malone resolution, "certain lands have been filed upon through certain 'scrip' authorized under prior successive congressional acts . . . etc. . . . Resolved, that the Senate of the United States through its proper committee investigate such applications under the National Oil and Gas Leasing Act and filings made under the 'scrip' authorized by prior congressional acts . . ."

Maybe the investigation of Vice Presidential Secretary Flo Bratton should be broadened.

A Great Philanthropist

Richard Reynolds, iron master of Coalbrookdale, Eng., may have been the greatest philanthropist of all time. Not because of the size of his charity, but because his yearly contributions amounted to 90% of his income. In the last twenty years of his life, when his annual income was $60,000, he gave to the poor $55,000 each year. Altogether he gave away $1,100,000 to house the sick and for schools in which both parents and children were fed, clothed and educated.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 29—The Herald Tribune and the New York Times have had the gall to try to put over on the public as the work of an honest author, the latest book by a notorious sneak and liar named Avedis Boghos Derounian, who goes under many false names including John Roy Carlson. I do not know why they have returned to him like the biblical dog. He seems to fascinate them. But this is a gloomy commentary on two New York papers which once were held in high esteem by much of the public and by all honest newspaper workers.

Why do they squander the public confidence which they formerly enjoyed to praise the exploits of one of the most notorious fakers of the time?

Carlson has produced a new book called "Cairo to Damascus," in which he writes that he assumed a variety of guises and went on dangerous adventures among Arabs, Fascists and Jews in Palestine.

The Times gave it two reviews. In one of them, covering almost a quarter of a page, Orville Prescott, a staff man, undertakes to assure the public, that "it is all true."

Another review in the Sunday section, says: "In 'Under Cover' and 'The Plotters,' Carlson established a reputation for veracity and accuracy which was never seriously challenged."

The Herald Tribune gave Carlson a quarter of a page in the weekly book review and more space in a gratuitous plug consisting of rank ballyhoo. The Sunday piece says he set down "'the absolute truth' as he was convinced he had discovered it."

It is doubtful that any other person purporting to be a reporter and author has a more notorious record.

In New York, a policeman named John L. Drew, who had served 17 years in a Jewish neighborhood with a clean record, was accused of anti-Semitism by Carlson.

Drew was exonerated in a departmental trial. Police Commissioner Valentine confirmed the verdict. Agitation continued and Mayor LaGuardia appointed former Police Commissioner McLaughlin and two distinguished jurists, Fred E. Crain and Edward R. Finch, of the Court of Appeals, to review the case. They vindicated Drew. Alfred J. Talley, formerly a judge of Special Sessions, said that in 50 years he had not encountered any person as reprehensible and untruthful as Carlson.

In Salt Lake City a group of plaintiffs recovered $10,000 in the federal court for false statements written by Carlson.

In Chicago, Federal Judge John P. Barnes, in a libel suit against E. P. Dutton, the publishers, said that if he had tried the case without a jury he would have assessed "very substantial" damages instead of the judgment of one dollar awarded by the jury. The cost to Dutton was much larger because Dutton had to pay the plaintiff's costs.

Judge Barnes said the book, "Under Cover," was "over 500 pages of twaddle with a few outrageous charges, of which any loyal citizen may very properly complain." The plaintiff had been charged with disloyalty to the United States.

"And I didn't hear any evidence of the truth of those charges," he continued. "It wasn't attempted to show that he was a Nazi agent. It wasn't attempted to show that he was anti-Semitic. I think this book was written by a wholly irresponsible person who was willing to say anthing for money. I wouldn't believe him on oath.

"I think that book was published by a publisher (Dutton) who was willing to publish anything for money. I don't think they made any adequate investigation of the author. If they had they would not publish it unless they cared more for the almighty dollar than they care for human decency."

Carlson and Dutton did not attempt to wipe out this stain.

In Boston, Conrad Chapman was accused by Carlson of having contacts with the Nazi ministry of propaganda. Carlson's lawyers, lacking evidence to support the charge, threw up their hands and Carlson, in effect, admitted that he was a liar and a faker when he signed a retraction and apology.

In the face of all this, Orville Prescott of the Times wrote that "all Americans who value liberty and love their country owe Mr. Carlson a debt of thanks. That debt is increased by the publication of * * * * 'The Plotters'."

Patrick Scanlon, the editor of The Catholic Brooklyn Tablet, challenged Prescott's review.

Prescott replied that Judge Barnes was biased and irresponsible. Scanlon dared Prescott to file charges against Judge Barnes. Prescott folded up.

Such was the Herald Tribune's obsession that Irita Van Doren, editor of the Weekly Book Review, wrote that she had "investigated" Carlson "and found his claims to be substantiated at every point by the State Department and the FBI with whom he worked at considerable danger to himself in the interest of his country's welfare."

Mrs. Van Doren later admitted that the State Department had never expressed any opinion on Carlson, J. Edgar Hoover wrote that for three months in 1942 Carlson was used as an "informant" but contributed little of value and was dropped. The FBI took him at the specific request of the spectacular O. John Rogge, who was chief prosecutor in the disgraceful mass sedition case. Rogge eventually left the Department of Justice and the indictments were dropped.

Carlson boasted that he had worked as a detective for the Friends of Democracy for six years. This organization maintains a private espionage system and appeals for contributions to promote "democracy."

Nevertheless, the Times and Herald Tribune doggedly attempt to put over his books as trustworthy reporting. It is a mystery and they never try to justify their strange conduct.

UN Anniversary Observed Locally

Woodstock, Oct. 29 — A large group of adults and school children gathered at the Woodstock Town Hall last Wednesday night to commemorate the sixth anniversary of the United Nations. Ceremonies opened with a short introduction by Houston Richards who said that "we meet here tonight to reaffirm the principles on which the UN was founded." He then read the preamble to the charter of the United Nations.

Following the entrance of the color guard, composed of former privates first class of the U. S. Marine Corps, G. Alfred Nussbaum and Robert Nussbaum, the Star Spangled Banner was sung, and the choir sang the United Nations Hymn, accompanied by Mrs. A. A. Champanier. The choir was led by Mrs. Einar Mundt, now of Woodstock and a former Danish opera singer. Other members of the choir were Mrs. Harry Kutzschbach, Mercy Ann Hillman, Margaret Graham and Mrs. Daniel C. Kleine.

David Carlson, former lieutenant commander in the U. S. Navy, gave the address. Speaking of only one of the aspects of the United Nations, he said that it was nothing more nor less than a magnified edition of the 13 colonies. "Instead of 13 colonies, we now have 60 nations." He drew a parallel between their common need to unite.

"The UN," he said, "has been born out of necessity—but perhaps that necessity is not too fully realized at this time." He went on to list a number of the organizations included in the UN which are going concerns, and are backed by the member nations. "They believe," he reported, "that they can stave off another war. If they can they are the only people who can do it."

"The two big goals," he concluded "are literacy and food for all the peoples of the world, and of course the one that overshadows all is peace."

Films Are Shown

The showing of two films completed the program, the first Green Gold, which traced the process of drawing big timber from the forests, beginning with the most primitive methods to those of the advanced nations today. Through proper logging and careful replanting the great forests may be saved and eroded land restored with fresh growth. One of the purposes of the UN is to educate nations on the conservation of their natural resources. "There is green gold in the forests," was the comment, "but the forests are not an unlimited gold mine."

The second film on the Work of the United Nations, was devoted to the program which brought complete and immediate assent from all member nations, that of the International Children's Emergency Fund. It was a deeply moving film, dramatically illustrating the urgent need of the world's children in war-devastated areas. It described how the machinery of the United Nations was used to bring about quick and uninterrupted relief to the small citizens of the world.

The following committee members were in charge of arranging the program: Mrs. Frank G. Boudreau and Mrs. Walter P. McTeigue, assisted by Miss Alice Wardwell and Mrs. Helen Buttrick. The films were shown by Walter Van Wagonen with the assistance of Carl Van Wagenen.

Business Group In Craft Parley

Woodstock, Oct. 29 — It has been announced that the Woodstock Business Association in cooperation with the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will enlarge the scope of the Craftsmen's Conference, sponsored by the New York State Educational Department's Bureau of Occupational Extension and Industrial Services and the Woodstock Board of Education, to include a group of business courses in the program. The conference which will open tonight at the Woodstock School at 8 o'clock will include not only a discussion on the vocational hand arts and crafts program for adults, but on the proposed courses on the following business subjects: Bookkeeping for Owners of Small Businesses, Law Everyone Should Know, Mathematics of Merchandising, Salesmanship, and Tow to Conduct a Business Conference.

In each of the business courses emphasis will be placed upon an informal manner of conducting sessions. Bookkeeping for Owners of Small Businesses has been developed to aid owners of small businesses or their employes in keeping the bookkeeping records necessary for successful business management and income tax purposes. For the purpose of this course, a small business is defined as one having four or fewer employes. No attempt has been made to train theoretical vocational bookkeepers, but rather practical applied bookkeeping has been stressed.

Adults are constantly meeting legal problems which must be solved promptly. The outline for Law Everyone Should Know was constructed for the purpose of developing an awareness and understanding of the legal aspects of everyday business transactions. When legal problems arise it is usually wise to engage the services of a well-qualified attorney. Serving as one's own lawyer is likely to be an unsatisfactory and expensive experience.

A subject of paramount importance to every individual which effects every home and every business is that of consumer buying. Included in the questions to be discussed and answered will be, what to buy, when to buy, where to buy and how to buy for the purpose of improving the standard of living. A vast and complex subject, the course will cover a wide range of allied topics.

Businessmen believe it is essential that their employes be accurate in figuring. Even a slight error may mean the difference between making a profit or suffering a loss. Therefore, the suggested outline of the course on mathematics of merchandising will include a clarification of the many duties of employes in retail and wholesale establishments which require the ability to solve problems in arithmetic quickly and accurately. If the employe understands the methods used in computing markup, merchandise turnover, discounts, etc., he will be a valuable member of the staff.

The subject of salesmanship will be taken up in a good vocational education course providing special instruction for a particular kind of job. The sales force is the store's personal representative. The sales training program is intended to aid retailers in solving the problem of presenting a well-trained sales staff to the public during the heavy buying seasons.

No Tuition Charged

Sooner or later a business or business group finds it necessary to hold a conference, and the suggestions on how to conduct a successful business conference are all included in the course planned, with emphasis on preparation for the conference, conducting the discussion and arranging subsequent meetings.

Anyone interested in taking any one or more of these courses is invited to attend the meeting tonight.

"We feel sure that this will be a successful and highly interesting program," said William Hand, president of the Woodstock Business Association, in announcing the addition of these courses to the new proposed program. There is no tuition charge for any of the courses.

Hurley to Speak To P-TA Members

Woodstock, Oct. 30—Shortly after the end of World War 2, the members of the American Theatre Wing Hospital Committee were hard put for new ideas on program entertainment for the hospitalized veterans. The military, naval and veterans hospitals had been the recipients of a wide and extensive program of entertainment which included singers, musicians, dancers, magicians, and celebrities in the sports world. But the patients needed a decided change in diet, many of them had been in hospitals for a year or two, and the sight of a pretty girl was no longer a novelty.

Finally several members of the hospital committee came up with the idea of asking the Federal Bureau of Investigation if someone might be permitted to talk informally to the men in the hospitals. The request was sent to the New York office and one of their top-notch agents was assigned, through the cooperation of the special agent in charge to speak at a large hospital auditorium.

The special agent was introduced, quiet fell, and he started to speak. He spoke steadily, for three hours, and at the end of the three hours the Red Cross girl signaled to the American Theatre Wing representative that it was way past time for the men to go back to their wards. Not without vociferous argument was the FBI agent let go by the shouting GIs. That was the beginning of one of the finest programs sponsored by the Theatre Wing and it continued for almost two years.

The FBI is always generous in lending its special agents for the purpose of giving civic and other organizations an opportunity to understand how the organization works. Woodstock will be so favored Thursday night, Nov. 1, when Special Agent Louis P. Hurley, Jr., will speak under the sponsorship of the Parent-Teacher Association at the Woodstock School at 8 p. m. Hurley also will show a film entitled Men of the FBI.

Top Art Films Will Be Shown on Nov. 16

Woodstock, Oct. 30—A special public showing of prize-winning art films from the recently acclaimed First Art Film Festival in America held at the Woodstock Playhouse during the Labor Day week-end, will be given in the Hunter College Auditorium, 69th street, between Park and Lexington avenues, Friday, Nov. 16, at 8:30 p. m.

Under the auspices of the same sponsors as the Woodstock festival—the American Federation of Arts, the Woodstock Artists Association, and the Film Advisory Center, the Hunter College program will include Images Medievales, Geometry Lesson, The Charm of Life, Il Demoniaco Nell' Arte, Be Gone Dull Care, and The Loon's Necklace.

In charge of the Nov. 16 showing are the co-chairmen of the Woodstock festival, Perry Miller, director of the Film Advisory Center, and William Chapman, the Center's Director of Art Films Program Service. Sidney Berkowitz, who was general chairman of the Woodstock event, will be honorary chairman of the Hunter evening and will supervise the presentation of awards to the prize-winners.

Petershams' Fourth Book Is Published

Woodstock, Oct. 30—Maude and Miska Petersham's latest book, the fourth in the series, This Is America, published this week, is entitled A Bird in the Hand. It consists of an illustrated collection of the sayings of Benjamin Franklin from his Poor Richard's Almanack.

The book is rich in color illustrations for the many familiar, and not so familiar sayings of Poor Richard, among them "Make haste slowly," "the sleeping fox catches no poultry," and one in particular with an unusual twist for "a true friend is the best possession."

The Petershams have written the following characteristically charming introduction to this latest book for young people: "If we had lived at the time of Benjamin Franklin, and if that kind gentleman had asked us to illustrate the sayings from Poor Richard's Almanack, here are the pictures we would have made. . . . You may ponder over these sayings now but you will find they are still true, really true and that they were said by a very wise man."

Maude and Miska Petersham are already at work on next year's book, the fifth in the series on Presidents of the United States.

Armistice Dance Plans

Woodstock, Oct. 30—Plans for the forthcoming Armistice Day dance, under the auspices of the Woodstock American Legion Post 1026, are going forward, according to G. Alfred Nussbaum, chairman of the dance program committee. The dance will be held Saturday, Nov. 10, at the Woodstock Town Hall at 8 p. m. A program of special entertainment is being arranged and music for dancing will be provided by Hobert Bates and his orchestra.

Church Turkey Supper

Woodstock, Oct. 30—The Wittenberg Methodist Church will hold a turkey supper, Saturday, Nov. 3, with servings at 5:30 and 6:30 p. m. at the church hall. Fancy articles will be available.

Portraits on Display

Woodstock, Oct. 30—In the Pennsylvania Academy's show of miniatures and the 49th water color exhibition, being held at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, are two miniature portraits by Mrs. Pamela Vinton Ravenel, of this village. The exhibition opened Saturday, October 27, and will continue through Dec. 2. The show includes miniatures, both antique and contemporary. Mrs. Ravenel's portraits are of Little Colored Girl, and Mrs. A.B. She is a member of a number of miniature societies in both this country and in Europe and has won prizes in both Paris and Brussels.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Oct. 30—Harvey Fite, sculptor of High Woods, who is at present having an exhibition of his work at the American Artists Galleries, in New York was the guest of Bill Slater Thursday at the Luncheon at Sardi's program. Fite spoke about his exhibit and also about his home here.

Mrs. A. J. Stratton and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stoutenberg attended the Stoutenberg Teller meeting at Hyde Park, Saturday, Oct. 20.

Cheer Committee In Need of Toys

There is a dire shortage of used toys for reconditioning, according to the Christmas Cheer Committee which is seeking them to distribute in this area.

"We need them badly," said Mrs. Sam N. Mann, publicity chairman of the committee.

Anyone desiring to donate toys may leave them at the Central Fire station on East O'Reilly street, she said, and they will be sent to Wallkill Medium Security Prison for repairs.

The prison has volunteered to recondition the playthings in its workshops, and officials at the institution are anxious that the toys be made available as soon as possible.

Mrs. George Moore, general chairman of the Christmas committee, stresses that this year's demands will be heavier than ever and it is her desire to help every needy child.

Mrs. G. D. Logan, finance chairman, urges that donors send checks to her address, 68 Garden street, for use by the cheer committee.

Case Is Continued

Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct 30 (AP)—District Judge G. Russell Miller yesterday continued to Nov. 13 the case of Robert and Betty Jane Cassinetti. They are charged jointly with the murder of St. Martin Bursey of West Chazy, N. Y., August 4 on the Broadmoor road, south of Colorado Springs. This was the fifth continuance.

The Mature Parent

One Way to Beat Our Fear Of Handling Our Children

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Five-year-old Kathy lives a life that is packed tight with what her mother calls her "activities."

Mornings, Kathy goes to kindergarten. Afternoons, she is conducted to a play center. Saturday mornings, she goes on educational tours with a "project" group with whom she visits anything from dairy farms to newspaper plants.

Were Kathy ever given any free time to digest the crowding impressions forced in on her, her "activities" might mean something. Unfortunately, Kathy's mother regards idle time as dangerous. Kathy might use it to present a problem.

Since her mother is only comfortable when Kathy is in the charge of people who have majored in college child psychology courses, she wants to avoid any situation which she feels she has neither the competence nor understanding to solve.

Kathy's mother is a victim of conflicting theories on the treatment of children's problems, and prefers to delegate her child's training to people who have been educated to make sense of the theories.

We should be deeply grateful that the best minds in the field of child guidance have become aware of the dilemma of thousands of parents like Kathy's mother. These experts are doing all they can to rectify the harm that has been done by bad interpretation of our role in children's development.

Now that it has been recognized that to give Kathy security, her mother has to have a little herself, we may expect less scolding and more encouragement, and more equal interest in human rights, whether the humans be young ones or older ones.

We should be grateful that some of the more intelligent people in the field of child guidance are trying to reverse the trend toward the complete subjection of parents to children.

If they were not doing something about it, family life as we know it, might have gone the way of the dodo and the Model-T Ford. We might have ended up with a social order like the ants who breed and educate a special type of their species to nurse, guard and train the young.

OUR CHILDREN AREN'T BOMBS

Child training experts like Adele Franklin and the late Agnes Benedict represent the new thinking that champions our right, as well as that of children, to dignity and self-respect.

In their fine, sensible book, Your Best Friends Are Your Children, they ask and answer the questions we've been wondering about for a long time: "Why should parents trust authorities when so few agree —and so many have turned out to be false prophets? Why should parents not be on the defensive when they are afraid?"

I'd go a step further, like the childrens' court judge who said to me: "Parents have been made so afraid of administering the wrong kind of discipline that they've given up and decided not to administer any discipline at all."

When we have reclaimed our rights in our homes, we won't feel a need to remove children from those homes because they occasionally challenge our claims.

As we lovingly and firmly teach them to acknowledge our rights, their presence will become a joy, instead of a strain and an agony of repression of thoughts and feelings.

As we overcome our own fears of free speech and action, we will become alert, understanding and compassionate toward the young ones' needs to overcome those same f ears.

It has been fear in us that makes us regard living with children the same way the London housewife used to regard living with an undetonated bomb in her backyard.

But our children aren't bombs. We don't have to call in the skilled technicians to handle them. As mature parents, we can do it ourselves.

No Trick to Treating 'Spooks' on Halloween

It's doorbell ringing time for hungry Halloween ghosts and goblins on Wednesday, so better have plenty of 1951 goblin fare handy. The spooks and spirits who'll be out in force won't be looking for traditional goblin dishes like root of hemlock and slips of yew. Today's ghosts and goblins are a two-fisted, gum-chewing, candy-eating species who'll reward you by flitting off to other happy haunting grounds if you make with the chewing gum and candy. There will be plenty of them around Halloween night, so it may call for a trip to the gum and candy counter—but be of good spirit, neighbor, it's worth it!

Citizenship Training

On Oct. 22 Mrs. William Powers of Kingston, county citizenship leader, conducted the first citizenship training school for Ulster County Home Bureau unit leaders. Mrs. Powers prepared a flannel board and silhouettes which she used in illustrating her discussion on How Our Officials Are Elected to Town, Village, County and School Boards.

The following leaders attended the training school: Mrs. Jack Weissman, Accord; Mrs. Ira Ingram, Bloomingdale; Mrs. E. B. TerBush, Jr., Ellenville; Mrs. Elmer Schoonmaker, High Falls; Mrs. Siegfried Abrahams, Kerhonkson; Mrs. Edward Sagendorf, Lake Katrine; Mrs. Lee Rognon, Mrs. Burton Ward, Modena; Mrs. V. J. Meleski, Port Ewen; Mrs. Harry Hulsair, Sawkill; Mrs. Augusta Grimes, Woodstock; Mrs. Robert Henderson, Yeagersville.

Dramatics Meeting

On Oct. 23 Miss Mary Eva Duthie, specialist in dramatics from the New York State College of Agriculture, conducted a second training meeting for Home Bureau leaders in skits and social dramas. The meeting was held at the Dutch Reformed Church Hall in Kingston. At this meeting the leaders went still a step further from the presentation of simple pantomimes to acting out skits using verbal discussion.

Leaders Hear Talk

Mis Blanche Armstrong, newly appointed health specialist from the New York State Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics, addressed the health and safety leaders of the Ulster County Home Bureau at the Dutch Reformed Church Oct. 23. The topic for the day was Preparedness in the Home for Various Emergencies. Fire Chief Joseph Murphy was present and discussed the selection of fire extinguishers and their uses. Dr. Rachel Holloway of Kerhonkson enumerated the articles to be kept in the family medical cabinet and discussed their specific uses. Mrs. Leonard Clarke of Milton explained the food supply. Miss Armstrong explained cooking equipment that could be used in time of an emergency when fuel and electricity was cut off. Dr. Robert Broad, county commissioner of health, reviewed the health resourses of the county. Miss Audrey Christie, newly appointed health educator, was introduced by Dr. Broad. Miss Katherine Murphy, executive secretary of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, and the assistant, John Connelly, were guests at the meeting.

Sewing Machine Class

Mrs. Alvin Stiller of Highland will conduct a second district meeting in Kingston Friday, Nov. 2, on the cleaning and adjustment of the sewing machine at the town of Ulster Highway Barn, Albany avenue extension. Mrs. Stiller took special training on the care and adjustment of the sewing machine at Cornell University in June. Enrollees will bring their machines to the meeting and take them apart, clean and reassemble them and learn how to put them in good running order. Each woman later adjusts her machine to produce a perfect stitch before leaving the meeting. There is still room for a few more interested people. Anyone interested in enrolling for the meeting should communicate at once with the Home Bureau Office in Kingston.

Meyer Basch Candidate For Alderman in Sixth

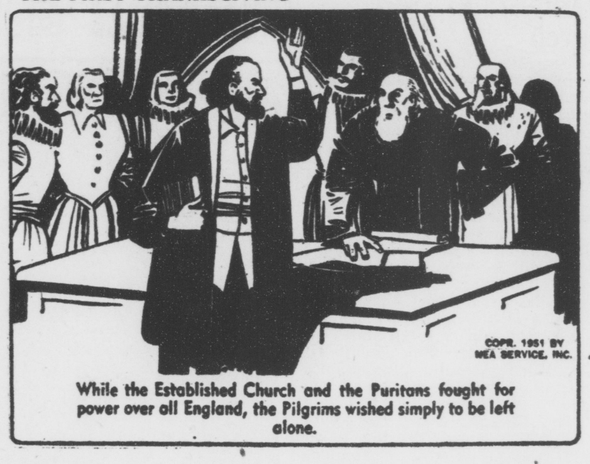

Meyer Basch, the Democratic candidate for alderman in the Sixth Ward, was born and raised in that ward, where he has lived for 36 years.

Mr. Basch lives at 22 Stuyvesant street with his wife and child and is engaged in the cattle business. He served almost five years in the armed forces in World War 2 during which time he was in the European and the Pacific Theatres of Operations. His campaign ribbons include three battle stars earned during service overseas.

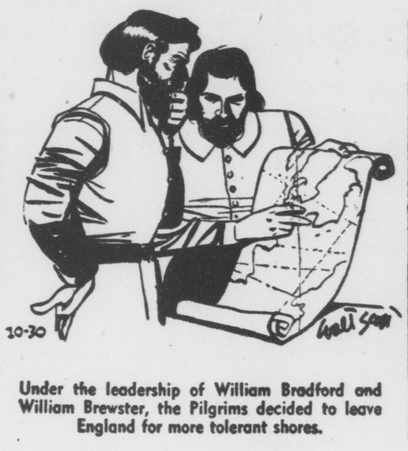

The U. S. Navy had a base in the Azores during World War 1.

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING

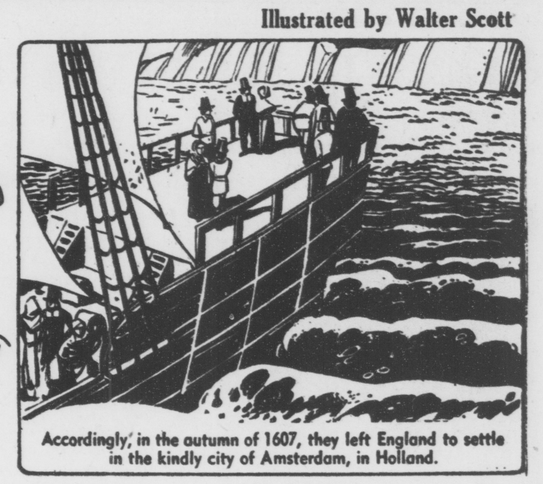

Illustrated by Walter Scott

While the Established Church and the Puritans fought for power over all England, the Pilgrims wished simply to be left alone.

Under the leadership of William Bradford and William Brewster, the Pilgrims decided to leave England for more tolerant shores.

Accordingly, in the autumn of 1607, they left England to settle in the kindly city of Amsterdam, in Holland.

Investor Forum

by Harry C. France

If you were to ask a Pittsburgh steel worker what he thought of the purchasing power of the dollar, he would doubtless shrug his shoulders and act indifferently.

Why not? During the past 15 years—ever since inflation took hold of America—he has had twelve boosts in pay, covering wage increases, fringe benefits and other related benefactions. These twelve pay hikes have totaled $1.269 an hour. For an eight hour day, that is $10.15. Small wonder, then, that steel workers can look rather complaisantly at inflation.

Furthermore, with inflationary pressures still on, it is probable that early in 1952 a thirteenth wage increase will come along. Wage contracts will expire then. Demand for steel is still tremendous. The industry is rather prosperous, so why should not wages be boosted?

Perhaps on the same street in Pittsburgh, a school teacher, a religious worker, a bank clerk or a grocery salesman is living with this steel employe. Ask any of these four persons what he thinks of the purchasing power of the dollar. The chances are that the reply will be quick and sharp: "Terrible!" And, if he is communicative, he may say that he is having a very hard job making ends meet and his savings are infinitesimal.

In recent years, great efforts have been made to alleviate social and economic injustices and disparities. In our legislative halls, a hundred laws have been passed to level off the economic tides that give millions of our people substandard living conditions. Agencies and commissions have been set up to lift men and women caught in the complex life of the country to a higher plane.

But in the midst of all this laudable effort, great chasms of inequalities have been created. The steel worker symbolizes the millions of wage earners who, highly organized, get higher and higher pay as inflation gathers momentum. The school teacher and her unorganized brothers and sisters symbolize that great army of persons who are batted from pillar to post as prices rise, taxes increase and salaries stagnate.

High wages can compensate for a lot of things. Think of it, in 1951, a steel worker in Pittsburgh is getting $10.15 more for an eight hour day than he received in 1936. These twelve wage boosts started during November of 1936.

Most industrial workers think little of interest or dividends. Take home pay is what counts. So, the average steel worker in Pittsburgh doesn't give a hoot what dividends steel stocks pay and high grade bonds yield. To him, everything must take the back seat when wages come along.

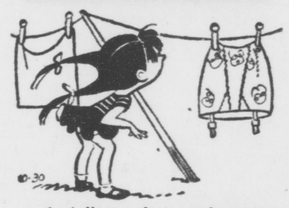

On the other hand, the teachers, clerks and white-collar folk—with no wage or salary champions in their corners — think much of thrift and saving. They should. The world in which they travel is often a place where they think of their financial future. To those who don't it is just too bad.

So, between the steel workers and the teachers we have two economic worlds. In one the deterioration of the purchasing power of the dollar is compensated for by steadily rising wages—12 boosts in 15 years. In the other, the unorganized minorities must shift as well for themselves as they can. But it is a cruel situation; industrial workers caring little about interest and dividends since they are protected by wage contracts and the great white-collar class powerless against the tides of inflation and painfully handicapped by the interest income from their savings.

Where is economic justice in these strange relationships? It is bottled up in the confusion of the times. As I have recently emphasized in this column, low interest rates penalize thrift and saving. The high wage worker can forget about thrift and saving. The higher food and clothing prices go, the surer he is that he will get another wage boost.

But the employe caught in the vortex of rising costs and stable earnings is further defeated when he puts out his savings at interest. It is right there that an avalanche of speculation may start one of these days. Billions of dollars of savings may flow into the risk markets in 1952; in which case it is anybody's guess what would happen to the stock market.

Brooklyn Man Sentenced, Fined

Catskill, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—A 50-year-old Brooklyn man who shot his wife three times during an argument was sentenced today to serve two to four years in Clinton prison and was fined $1,000.

Pasquale Mormando pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of second-degree assault. He had been indicted on a charge of first-degree assault.

Sentence was passed by Judge Paul Fromer in Greene county court.

Mormando shot his wife, Mildred, 45, three times with a .32 caliber revolver July 10 in their parked car during a quarrel over marital affairs.

One bullet lodged in her head. She was declared in good condition when discharged from Greene County Memorial Hospital, although doctors had been unable to remove the bullet.

No Trick to Treating 'Spooks' on Halloween

It's doorbell ringing time for hungry Halloween ghosts and goblins on Wednesday, so better have plenty of 1951 goblin fare handy. The spooks and spirits who'll be out in force won't be looking for traditional goblin dishes like root of hemlock and slips of yew. Today's ghosts and goblins are a two-fisted, gum-chewing, candy-eating species who'll reward you by flitting off to other happy haunting grounds if you make with the chewing gum and candy. There will be plenty of them around Halloween night, so it may call for a trip to the gum and candy counter—but be of good spirit, neighbor, it's worth it!

Citizenship Training

On Oct. 22 Mrs. William Powers of Kingston, county citizenship leader, conducted the first citizenship training school for Ulster County Home Bureau unit leaders. Mrs. Powers prepared a flannel board and silhouettes which she used in illustrating her discussion on How Our Officials Are Elected to Town, Village, County and School Boards.

The following leaders attended the training school: Mrs. Jack Weissman, Accord; Mrs. Ira Ingram, Bloomingdale; Mrs. E. B. TerBush, Jr., Ellenville; Mrs. Elmer Schoonmaker, High Falls; Mrs. Siegfried Abrahams, Kerhonkson; Mrs. Edward Sagendorf, Lake Katrine; Mrs. Lee Rognon, Mrs. Burton Ward, Modena; Mrs. V. J. Meleski, Port Ewen; Mrs. Harry Hulsair, Sawkill; Mrs. Augusta Grimes, Woodstock; Mrs. Robert Henderson, Yeagersville.

Dramatics Meeting

On Oct. 23 Miss Mary Eva Duthie, specialist in dramatics from the New York State College of Agriculture, conducted a second training meeting for Home Bureau leaders in skits and social dramas. The meeting was held at the Dutch Reformed Church Hall in Kingston. At this meeting the leaders went still a step further from the presentation of simple pantomimes to acting out skits using verbal discussion.

Leaders Hear Talk

Mis Blanche Armstrong, newly appointed health specialist from the New York State Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics, addressed the health and safety leaders of the Ulster County Home Bureau at the Dutch Reformed Church Oct. 23. The topic for the day was Preparedness in the Home for Various Emergencies. Fire Chief Joseph Murphy was present and discussed the selection of fire extinguishers and their uses. Dr. Rachel Holloway of Kerhonkson enumerated the articles to be kept in the family medical cabinet and discussed their specific uses. Mrs. Leonard Clarke of Milton explained the food supply. Miss Armstrong explained cooking equipment that could be used in time of an emergency when fuel and electricity was cut off. Dr. Robert Broad, county commissioner of health, reviewed the health resources of the county. Miss Audrey Christie, newly appointed health educator, was introduced by Dr. Broad. Miss Katherine Murphy, executive secretary of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, and the assistant, John Connelly, were guests at the meeting.

Sewing Machine Class

Mrs. Alvin Stiller of Highland will conduct a second district meeting in Kingston Friday, Nov. 2, on the cleaning and adjustment of the sewing machine at the town of Ulster Highway Barn, Albany avenue extension. Mrs. Stiller took special training on the care and adjustment of the sewing machine at Cornell University in June. Enrollees will bring their machines to the meeting and take them apart, clean and reassemble them and learn how to put them in good running order. Each woman later adjusts her machine to produce a perfect stitch before leaving the meeting. There is still room for a few more interested people. Anyone interested in enrolling for the meeting should communicate at once with the Home Bureau Office in Kingston.

Meyer Basch Candidate For Alderman in Sixth

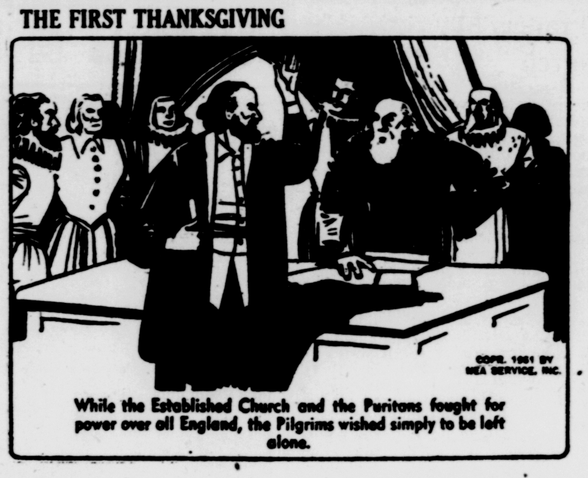

Meyer Basch, the Democratic candidate for alderman in the Sixth Ward, was born and raised in that ward, where he has lived for 36 years.

Mr. Basch lives at 22 Stuyvesant street with his wife and child and is engaged in the cattle business. He served almost five years in the armed forces in World War 2 during which time he was in the European and the Pacific Theatres of Operations. His campaign ribbons include three battle stars earned during service overseas.

The U. S. Navy had a base in the Azores during World War 1.

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING

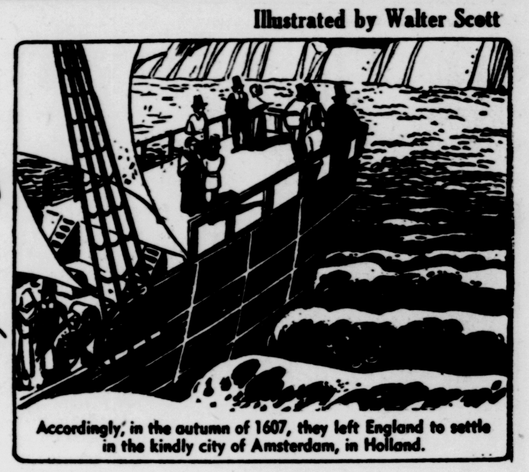

Illustrated by Walter Scott

While the Established Church and the Puritans fought for power over all England, the Pilgrims wished simply to be left alone.

Under the leadership of William Bradford and William Brewster, the Pilgrims decided to leave England for more tolerant shores.

Accordingly, in the autumn of 1607, they left England to settle in the kindly city of Amsterdam, in Holland.

Investor Forum

If you were to ask a Pittsburgh steel worker what he thought of the purchasing power of the dollar, he would doubtless shrug his shoulders and act indifferently.

Why not? During the past 15 years—ever since inflation took hold of America—he has had twelve boosts in pay, covering wage increases, fringe benefits and other related benefactions. These twelve pay hikes have totaled $1.269 an hour. For an eight hour day, that is $10.15. Small wonder, then, that steel workers can look rather complaisantly at inflation.

Shirley Piester Wed to Francis Maurer In St. Joseph's R. C. Church

The marriage of Miss Shirley Marie Piester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Piester, 1 Blauvelt street, Nanuet, to Francis I. Maurer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Maurer, of Connelly, took place Saturday, Oct. 27, at 2 p. m. in St. Joseph's R. C. Church. The Rev. John D. Simmons officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 100 guests was held at the Whiteport Inn and music for dancing was played by Rodney DuBois and his orchestra.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist and played traditional wedding music. Martin Kelly, soloist, sang Schubert's Ave Maria and Mother Beloved. Palms and chrysanthemums decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Skinner satin, styled with close fitting pointed bodice, sweetheart neckline embroidered with tiny seed pearls and long sleeves pointed over the hand. The full gathered skirt terminated in a long cathedral train. Her veil of French illusion was secured with a satin Juliet cap embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and mums.

Miss Shirley Schilling, Poughkeepsie, was maid of honor. She wore a cyclamen colored gown styled with a strapless velvet bodice, bouffant skirt of nylon tulle and matching tulle stole. Her headpiece was a velvet styled Juliet cap and she carried a cascade boquet of yellow roses and purple shaded mums.

John Schonger, 91 Lucas avenue, was the best man. Nicholas Reis and Joseph O'Rourke, college classmates of the groom were the ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurer left for a wedding trip through the New England states. For traveling, Mrs. Maurer wore a wine colored suit, black accessories, and a corsage of white mums.

Mrs. Maurer is a graduate of New Paltz State Teachers College where she was a member of Ago Sorority. She is a member of the faculty in the Spring Valley elementary school.

Mr. Maurer is a graduate of Manhattan College where he was a member of Phi Ro Pi fraternity. He is leaving for Laurence, Kans, Nov. 1, where he has accepted a position with Hercules Powder Company in the cost accounting department. Mrs. Maurer will join her husband in January.

Candidates on Republican Ticket

JOSEPH B. RODDEN

Joseph B. Rodden is the Republican candidate for alderman of the Seventh Ward. He was appointed to that office by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk to fill a vacancy in the Common Council and since taking office has distinguished himself in that body.

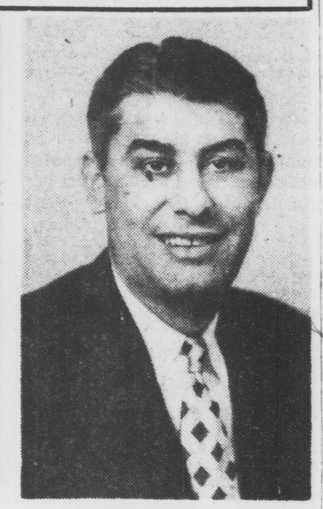

Mr. Rodden has lived in the Seventh Ward for the past 33 years and at present resides at 107 Hudson street with his wife and son.

He has interested himself in the affairs of the city and his ward for many years.

Fraternally he is a member of the Elks, Kingston Power Boat Association, and president of Local 720, International Brotherhood Boilermakers, Iron Shipyard Workers and Blacksmiths.

He is employed by the Island Dock, Inc.

His knowledge of the ward and its residents and his record in the Common Council qualify him to be elected to the governing body of the city.

JAMES DECICCO

The Republican candidate for supervisor in the Fourth Ward is a well known resident not only of his ward but the city as well. He has lived in the Fourth Ward for 25 years.

He has been an active worker in civic affairs of the city and also in the sporting circles. His friends are most familiar with his interest in baseball and bowling, and the residents of the ward know of his untiring efforts in securing a petition for bus service in the ward. He has appeared at public hearings in support of this petition and has addressed those conducting the hearings relative to the advisability of such service.

The Republican candidate is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Knights of Columbus and is a volunteer fireman.

He served in the European Theatre of Operations and was under General Patton in the Battle of the Bulge.

The residents of the ward and the city can be assured of able representation in the governing body of the county by electing James DeCicco as supervisor.

Sees Truman vs. Taft

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Senator Anderson (D-N.M.) predicted today the Democrats will come up with a Truman-Barkley ticket again in the 1952 presidential race. Anderson, who heads the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, told a reporter he believes Senator Taft (R-Ohio) will be the Republican nominee.

Diners Make Speeches

Each of the 42 diners attending a dinner meeting Monday evening at the Airport Inn were given an opportunity for practical application to their work as students of the Dale Carnegie course in effective speaking, by making a two-minute speech.

The dinner was attended by the students and their guests. The entertainment for the evening with Howard Fox, president of the class presiding, included electric guitar selections by Thomas Enty, Newburgh; several harmonica compositions played by Frank Bennett, a class director; and Hydrect Armstrong presented a tap dance routine. Martin W. Golden was master of ceremonies.

Joel Dolven Will Direct Mendelssohn Club Activities for 1952 Season

Joel Dolven, R.P.I. director of music since 1947, will be officially welcomed as director of the Mendelssohn Club, for the 1952 season, Tuesday, Oct. 30, at the organization's annual banquet to be held at Spindler's Resort, Maple Hill, at 6:45 p. m.

As director of the musical clubs at RPI, Mr. Dolven has brought his Varsity Glee Club to a position of national importance, his group having won several state championships and having appeared on national radio hookups. His chorus has been acclaimed by Fred Waring and others as one of the nation's outstanding male choruses.

Mr. Dolven prepared the chorus of 100 men and women from three Troy colleges who sang with the Boston symphony at the Rensselaer Field House on Oct. 17. In the past years he has appeared at the Mohawk-Hudson mass concerts at Schenectady and Middletown although he had no clubs represented there.

The new director for the Kingston group is a graduate of the University of Minnesota who took his advanced work at Northwestern and Michigan Universities. He has directed the RPI glee club since 1938. From 1937 to 1946, he was director of instrumental music for Albany High School, leaving that post to go to RPI. Since 1938 he has also been director of music for Westminster Church, Albany.

Edith Ann Williams Is Married October 21 To Cpl. John Wood

Miss Edith Ann Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Williams, Port Ewen, was married to Corporal John Edwin Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amedy Wood, 106 Hunter street, on Sunday, Oct. 21, in Trinity Methodist Church. The Rev. Ivan Gossoo, the rector, performed the ceremony and a reception for members of the family followed at Hilltop Inn, Stony Hollow.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin and tulle gown of ballerina length with fingertip veil and carried white chrysanthemums.

Miss Margaret Hayes, 18 O'Neil street, was the maid of honor and wore a long blue satin gown and a blue lace picture hat. She carried pink chrysanthemums.

Private Samuel B. Wood, U. S. A., Fort Lee, Va., was his brother's best man.

Corporal and Mrs. Wood went to Niagara Falls and Canada on their wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a tan gabardine suit with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow pompons.

Mrs. Wood attended the Kingston High School and is employed by King's Dresses.

Corporal Wood left Kingston High School in 1948 in his sophomore year to join the U. S. Army. He is a veteran of the Korean war where he was wounded in combat and returned to this country in July. He holds the Purple Heart award. He is now stationed at Fort Dix, N. J.

Shirley Piester Wed to Francis Maurer In St. Joseph's R. C. Church

The marriage of Miss Shirley Marie Piester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Piester, 1 Blauvelt street, Nanuet, to Francis I. Maurer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Maurer, of Connelly, took place Saturday, Oct. 27, at 2 p. m. in St. Joseph's R. C. Church. The Rev. John D. Simmons officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 100 guests was held at the Whiteport Inn and music for dancing was played by Rodney DuBois and his orchestra.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist and played traditional wedding music. Martin Kelly, soloist, sang Schubert's Ave Maria and Mother Beloved. Palms and chrysanthemums decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Skinner satin, styled with close fitting pointed bodice, sweetheart neckline embroidered with tiny seed pearls and long sleeves pointed over the hand. The full gathered skirt terminated in a long cathedral train. Her veil of French illusion was secured with a satin Juliet cap embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and mums.

Miss Shirley Schilling, Poughkeepsie, was maid of honor. She wore a cyclamen colored gown styled with a strapless velvet bodice, bouffant skirt of nylon tulle and matching tulle stole. Her headpiece was a velvet styled Juliet cap and she carried a cascade boquet of yellow roses and purple shaded mums.

John Schonger, 91 Lucas avenue, was the best man. Nicholas Reis and Joseph O'Rourke, college classmates of the groom were the ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurer left for a wedding trip through the New England states. For traveling, Mrs. Maurer wore a wine colored suit, black accessories, and a corsage of white mums.

Mrs. Maurer is a graduate of New Paltz State Teachers College where she was a member of Ago Sorority. She is a member of the faculty in the Spring Valley elementary school.

Mr. Maurer is a graduate of Manhattan College where he was a member of Phi Ro Pi fraternity. He is leaving for Laurence, Kans, Nov. 1, where he has accepted a position with Hercules Powder Company in the cost accounting department. Mrs. Maurer will join her husband in January.

Candidates on Republican Ticket

JOSEPH B. RODDEN

Joseph B. Rodden is the Republican candidate for alderman of the Seventh Ward. He was appointed to that office by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk to fill a vacancy in the Common Council and since taking office has distinguished himself in that body.

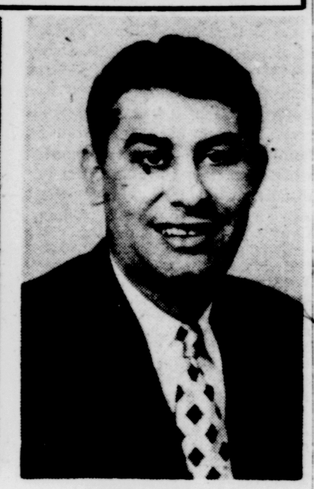

Mr. Rodden has lived in the Seventh Ward for the past 33 years and at present resides at 107 Hudson street with his wife and son.

He has interested himself in the affairs of the city and his ward for many years.

Fraternally he is a member of the Elks, Kingston Power Boat Association, and president of Local 720, International Brotherhood Boilermakers, Iron Shipyard Workers and Blacksmiths.

He is employed by the Island Dock, Inc.

His knowledge of the ward and its residents and his record in the Common Council qualify him to be elected to the governing body of the city.

JAMES DECICCO

The Republican candidate for supervisor in the Fourth Ward is a well known resident not only of his ward but the city as well. He has lived in the Fourth Ward for 25 years.

He has been an active worker in civic affairs of the city and also in the sporting circles. His friends are most familiar with his interest in baseball and bowling, and the residents of the ward know of his untiring efforts in securing a petition for bus service in the ward. He has appeared at public hearings in support of this petition and has addressed those conducting the hearings relative to the advisability of such service.

The Republican candidate is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Knights of Columbus and is a volunteer fireman.

He served in the European Theatre of Operations and was under General Patton in the Battle of the Bulge.

The residents of the ward and the city can be assured of able representation in the governing body of the county by electing James DeCicco as supervisor.

Community Voices Begin Rehearsals For Annual Messiah Presentation

Rehearsals will begin Wednesday evening, Oct. 31, in the choir room of the new building of the Old First Dutch Church, for the annual community presentation of Handel's Messiah which this year will take place Sunday, Dec. 23, in the church at 8 p. m. Donald Romme, minister of music at the church, will direct the performance.

The chorus is steadily growing. In its first performance, two years ago, there were 80 voices; last year the number increased to 98, and those in charge hope this year will bring added voices. Last year, the chorus, represented a total of 12 of the local churches and the communities of Rosendale, Creek Locks, New Paltz, New Hurley, Wallkill, Hurley, Port Ewen and Esopus. Any persons interested in singing the oratorio should be present this week for the rehearsal. For those who cannot participate in the Wednesday rehearsals, an additional rehearsal time may be arranged for Thursday at 8:30 p. m.

Mr. Romme describes the Messiah as "the greatest of oratorios." It was composed in 24 days by George Frederick Handel in 1741, and since its first performance in Dublin, Ireland, in 1742, has been the favorite work of its kind for both the singer and the listener. "There could be no finer or more appropriate opening to the week of Christmas than a performance of this oratorio, for the music has in the past two centuries become inseparably associated with the season," said Mr. Romme.

Workshop Slated At Paltz School

The guidance workshop which meets at State Teachers College, New Paltz for a two-day session on November 15 and 16 will discuss, among other guidance problems, the counseling of adults and out-of-school youth.

Guidance personnel throughout the state have been concerned with this problem for some time. In recognition of the urgency for action, George E. Hutcherson, chief, Bureau of Guidance, State Education Department, called a meeting of city and county supervisors of guidance in New York state at Syracuse in February 1951.

The purpose of this meeting was to develop immediate and long-range plans to assist youth who are faced with many problems created by recent world events. It was felt that guidance services should be available to servicemen and out-of-school youth and efforts should be made to encourage them to use these services.

It is the responsibility of the schools to provide adult counseling facilities for potential and returning servicemen and out-of-school youth.

In a survey made by the U. S. Office of Education in connection with adult education activities of the public schools, it was found that fewer than one out of every eight school districts with evening school programs provided counseling services.

It is expected that this workshop will make further recommendations to stimulate action to provide counseling facilities for out-of-school youth and servicemen.

B & P Club Hears About Pets, SPCA

The Business and Professional Women's Club of the YWCA had as their guest speaker last Wednesday evening at the weekly supper meeting, Edward Bauman who spoke of his deep love for all animals and touched upon the important work being done locally by the SPCA.

Mr. Bauman told his listeners that in his opinion no home is complete without a pet and the devotion which one receives from an animal more than compensates for any time and money expended in their care. He invited all interested persons to become members of the SPCA.

Tickets for the card party to be held by the club may be obtained from members or at the Y office.

The supper meeting Wednesday, Oct. 31, will feature a Halloween party. Those attending are requested to come in costume.

Community Voices Begin Rehearsals For Annual Messiah Presentation

Rehearsals will begin Wednesday evening, Oct. 31, in the choir room of the new building of the Old First Dutch Church, for the annual community presentation of Handel's Messiah which this year will take place Sunday, Dec. 23, in the church at 8 p. m. Donald Romme, minister of music at the church, will direct the performance.

The chorus is steadily growing. In its first performance, two years ago, there were 80 voices; last year the number increased to 98, and those in charge hope this year will bring added voices. Last year, the chorus, represented a total of 12 of the local churches and the communities of Rosendale, Creek Locks, New Paltz, New Hurley, Wallkill, Hurley, Port Ewen and Esopus. Any persons interested in singing the oratorio should be present this week for the rehearsal. For those who cannot participate in the Wednesday rehearsals, an additional rehearsal time may be arranged for Thursday at 8:30 p. m.

Mr. Romme describes the Messiah as "the greatest of oratorios." It was composed in 24 days by George Frederick Handel in 1741, and since its first performance in Dublin, Ireland, in 1742, has been the favorite work of its kind for both the singer and the listener. "There could be no finer or more appropriate opening to the week of Christmas than a performance of this oratorio, for the music has in the past two centuries become inseparably associated with the season," said Mr. Romme.

Workshop Slated At Paltz School

The guidance workshop which meets at State Teachers College, New Paltz for a two-day session on November 15 and 16 will discuss, among other guidance problems, the counseling of adults and out-of-school youth.

Guidance personnel throughout the state have been concerned with this problem for some time. In recognition of the urgency for action, George E. Hutcherson, chief, Bureau of Guidance, State Education Department, called a meeting of city and county supervisors of guidance in New York state at Syracuse in February 1951.

The purpose of this meeting was to develop immediate and long-range plans to assist youth who are faced with many problems created by recent world events. It was felt that guidance services should be available to servicemen and out-of-school youth and efforts should be made to encourage them to use these services.

It is the responsibility of the schools to provide adult counseling facilities for potential and returning servicemen and out-of-school youth.

In a survey made by the U. S. Office of Education in connection with adult education activities of the public schools, it was found that fewer than one out of every eight school districts with evening school programs provided counseling services.

It is expected that this workshop will make further recommendations to stimulate action to provide counseling facilities for out-of-school youth and servicemen.

B & P Club Hears About Pets, SPCA

The Business and Professional Women's Club of the YWCA had as their guest speaker last Wednesday evening at the weekly supper meeting, Edward Bauman who spoke of his deep love for all animals and touched upon the important work being done locally by the SPCA.

Mr. Bauman told his listeners that in his opinion no home is complete without a pet and the devotion which one receives from an animal more than compensates for any time and money expended in their care. He invited all interested persons to become members of the SPCA.

Tickets for the card party to be held by the club may be obtained from members or at the Y office.

The supper meeting Wednesday, Oct. 31, will feature a Halloween party. Those attending are requested to come in costume.

Rose Schatzel Boosts Average to 194 With 646 Blast in Major League

Takes Over Eighth Place in Nation With Scores of 254, 172 and 220

Rose Schatzel, a sharp-shooting young lady who has brought considerable bowling fame to Kingston, moved into the nation's select circle of high average bowlers last night, with a 646 blast in the Women's Major at the Bowlodrome.

The Dark Dynamiter assaulted the pins for solos of 254, 172 and 220 to send her average soaring to 194.13.

At the present time that mark is good enough for eighth place among the nation's female hotshots. The current national leader is Vicki Vukovichs of Milwaukee, Wis., with 214, but that figure is for only 14 games.

A couple of ill-placed splits deprived the New York State women's all-events champion of a possible "700" triple. In all she fired 21 strikes, but splits cropped up between strikes in the fifth frame of the second game and sixth box of the third game. She finished her brilliant performance with a flourish of three strikes in the 30th frame.

Lapine Cracks 559

Although the 646 represents her best triple of the current season, she has exceeded that total many times in her brilliant career which includes many city titles, match game victories and the New York State all-events crown.

The captain of the Sportsman's Park quintet set the pace for a night of unusual activity in the Women's Major. Charlotte Lapine hammered out a big 559. Elizabeth Bruck toppled 545 and Dot Rawding crashed the "500" circle with 504. Beverly Port, a brand new mother, returned to the bowling lanes with a respectable 493 series and Helen Broskie rolled 483.

Kaplan's Furniture extended its lead to two games with a three-game sweep over the improving Jones Dairy squad. Marge Jansen converted the 4-5-7 split and Dot Rawding knocked off the 4-10.

Tom Amato Rolls 610

Tom Amato's 610, with 196-201-213 in the City Minor League, was the best male triple reported during the night. Nick Savino was runnerup in that league with 223—603.

In all 27 bowlers reached the "500" mark proving that for sustained shooting the City Minor League is perhaps the finest circuit in local bowling. After eight weeks of play, the Broadway Chop House and Joe Epstein's are tied with 16 wins and 8 losses each.

W. Smith Raps 592

Twenty-six of the Tavern Association trundlers climbed over "500" in a performance comparable to that in the City Minor. Will Smith emerged as the individual leader with a rousing 160-220-212—592.

Hank Harder toppled 217—576, Joe Messinger 205—553; Fred Schryver 207—552; J. Secreto, ditto, and Steve Woyden 201—552. Other good pinfall was credited to Warren Sickler 220—544; Ed Cunningham 529; Ed Ougheltree 529; George Kuriger (208) and George Magley 528; J. Fatum and R. McDermott (211)—527; Mike Provenzano and Ken Newell 524 and Don Koeppen 521.

Secretary Mike Milano's 183-168-172—523 led the Electrol Night Shift, with Tom Sickler and Frank Zimmerman posting 508 apiece. Adam Thiel pounded 507. C. Brocco rolled 490; V. Stiller 489 and C. Tobias 488.

George Goldfarb's 224-184-172—579 was best-of-night in the Good Neighbor League, with Murray Greene rolling 549 for runner-up honors. Sam Markowitz tossed a 547 triple, Jay Melton 200—539; Ben Marcus 203—527; Danny Basch 525; Aaron Bahl 519; Phil Levy 515; Jack Blinder 201—510; Jack Singer 508 and Irving Levine 502.

Grunenwald Hits 589

Tom Welch accounted for 536; Orv Van Alstyne 525; L. Studt (204) and P. Cornish 521; Milt Cole, Jr., 520; Eugene Vogel 510; Don Vogel 508 and Milt Cole, Sr., 211—507.

Divisional leaders in the BYA circuit were Florence Beichert, 153-127-192—472, in the Senior and Edith Hungerford, 148-134-133—415, in the Junior division.

F. Davis shot 426 for runnerup honors in the Senior, with Gert Hoyt posting 413, Luella Port 406 and Nellie Alverson 401. Gen Whitmore was runnerup in the Junior circuit with 372.

(Editor's Note: League scores not received by 9 a. m. the day following the scheduled matches will not be published in the future. Also, carbon copies of special matches or league contests will not be published unless they are legible and correctly filled out.)

NATIONAL NOTES: As of Oct. 10, the H. H. Dickinson squad of Detroit led the WIBC's high score parade with a 1092 single and 3017 series. Hilda Groebel of Indianapolis and Vicki Vukovichs of Milwaukee had "700" each for high series and Marge Craig of Lafayette, Ind., has rolled a "300" score. Highest average keglerette in the nation was the same Vicki Vukovichs with 214 for 12 games. Three women—Liz Ciba, Great Falls, Mon.; Dorothy Weidner, McCook, Neb.; and Arlene Stoecker, Iowa, had converted the "big four" or "double pinochle" 4-6-7-10. For the second consecutive year, Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., has been named the "Woman Bowler of the Year." Her award was merited by piling up 42 out of a possible 58 first place votes. She had averages of 201, 199, 196 and 195 in four leagues. She won the all-star national championships at Chicago for the second time, missing a "200" average by only four pins over the 32-game route over 16 alleys. She also won the Michigan State all-events and was co-holder of the doubles title. On her western exhibitions she averaged 198 for 47 games and on eastern trips, 199 for 32 games. Pat Stirbeck of Indianapolis placed second in the poll and third spot went to Stephanie Balogh of Cleveland. Marion is very pretty and she can cook, too.

Felipe Converts Double Pinochle

Flip Felipe of the Turrets No. 2 squad in the Electrol Night Shift League qualified for an American Bowling Congress shoulder patch yesterday by cleaning off the 4-6-7-10 split at the Bowlatorium.

In doing so he joined a rather select group of local bowlers who have accomplished the trick. Felipe turned in the conversion by sliding the No. 6 pin across the alley, knocking down the No. 7 which in turn toppled the No. 4, with the ball taking out the No. 10.

Wee Willie Leads

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Wee Willie Shoemaker is the leading jockey of the Empire City-at-Jamaica race meeting. He booted home only one winner yesterday—Kader—but it paid a juicy $18.60. In 60 mounts, Shoemaker has had 17 winners, eight seconds and four thirds.

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Robert "Bob" Umpleby, hard-working, enthusiastic president of the Kingston Athletic Association, had hardly been installed for a second term when he began to plan for the 1952 Little League campaign.

"First there is the Little League banquet we plan to hold on Nov. 13, but after that everybody goes back to work. Next year will have to be bigger than this one," said Umpleby.

The league banquet will replace the KAA's annual Hot Stove League dinner and Bob has high hopes of bringing Mel Allen, the Voice of the Yankees, to town that night.

"Didn't the Yankees win our pennant, too?" he asked. "Who else could it be but Mel."

The first annual post-season dinner figures to be a rousing affair. The four Little League squads—Yankees, Giants, Dodgers and Red Sox—will be the honored guests and an effort will be made to have the families of all players attend.

"We want all the old line KAA regulars on hand, too," Umpleby said. "If our present plans materialize we'll have a nice show."

Speaking of the amazing growth of the Little League and its impact on Kingston, the KAA president traced the phenomenal progress of the Little League movement.

"Carl E. Stotz, who is the national commissioner, started Little League with three teams in Williamsport, Pa., in 1939," Umpleby pointed out. "In 1950, the LL had mushroomed to 306 leagues and in 1951 that figure had increased to 776 leagues sanctioned in 38 states."

"It is estimated that some 60,000 youngsters betwen the ages of 9 and 13, including reserves, played in these leagues," he went on. "It is estimated also that another 60,000 participated in the farm program."

In addition to the 38 states with franchised leagues, Little League baseball was played in Canada, Cuba, Canal Zone, Alaska and Hawaii. The figures cited by President Umpleby also establish that in 1951 Little League baseball had its greatest growth since its inception. A total of 3,333 were members of franchised leagues.

Eight of those 3,333 teams composed of "all stars" from their particular leagues won the championship of their region and, as a consequence, participated in the Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa., and had the time of their lives. They saw new places—lived in a fine hotel, and met other youngsters from different parts of the country. Members of the leading teams in the tournament returned home with trophies and medals. The hospitality extended by the citizens of Williamsport lacked nothing. And United States Rubber footed the bill.

But what about the other 3,325 Little League teams? Umpleby was asked.

"Participation in the World Series is a worthwhile goal—winning the championship is an outstanding honor, but when the overall picture is considered, it becomes trivial," he replied.

"If there is a single league in the entire country which measures its success by the progress it makes in winning sub-district, district, state or regional honors—that league is operating on an unsound basis.

"The success of the 776 leagues," he continued, "was measured on whether or not EVERY boy in the community within our age bracket was given an opportunity to play; on whether not the player selection system was adhered to, and, finally, was the schedule completed under adequate adult supervision?

"I think our community can yell a loud 'yes'," Umpleby said.

"Baseball for our boys is our objective and our world series will not become 'the tail that wags the dog.'"

Tom McNelis, the Kingston youth who is doing an excellent job as sports editor of the Fordham Ram, describes Ollie Matson, the Negro speedster of the San Francisco Dons as one of the finest college halfbacks he ever saw.

Ed Danowski, the Fordham coach, goes Tom one better.

Big Ed believes Matson could make any team in the country, college or professional. Other coaches who have seen the 21-year-old, six-foot, three-inch, 203-pounder, agree.

"He's very hard to bring down," asserts Danowski, "and he is so fast that chasing him is hopeless once he gets by the secondary." He ran kickoffs back for 95 and 90 yards against Fordham.

Matson, an Olympic sprinter possibility in 1952, has done 100 yards in 9.8, is a 60-minute man playing safety.

Charter's 684 Paces Dutchess Pin Win

Jake Charter, the minor league baseball catcher who spends his off season on the bowling lanes, led the Dutchess Recreation keglers to a 2806-2778 victory over the Manhattan Balls, in a weekend match at the Bowlodrome.

The pudgy catcher hit for 232-181-235 and was the lone kegler over the "600" mark. George Baird shot 225-588 for the winners. High man for Manhattans was Bill Lawrence with 233-592, while Chris Gallo had 237-581.

Louis Fails to Announce Retirement; Uncle Sam Still Pressing for Taxes

Bomber Plans Trip Through Japan

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—Joe Louis' possible compromise settlement of income tax indebtedness appeared delayed indefinitely today because of his reluctance to announce his retirement from the ring.

John T. Jarecki, collector of internal revenue for the northern Illinois district, said that a compromise is possible if Louis intends to quit fighting and proves inability to pay his full back tax.

"You can't get blood out of a turnip," Jarecki said. "The glamor is worn off Louis now. He's through (as a boxer)."

Jarecki declined to disclose the amount owed by the former heavyweight champion for 1947 and 1948. Unverified reports were that the sum approximated $100,000.

Theodore Jones, certified public accountant employed by Louis, also refused to discuss the amount Joe owed. He said he would visit Jarecki's office this week with a check to be applied to Louis' settlement.

The 37-year-old Brown Bomber, flattened in the eighth round by Rocky Marciano in Madison Square Garden Friday night, decided not to announce his retirement plans yesterday. He called off a scheduled press conference. Louis is to leave New York on Nov. 10 to make a boxing tour of Japan and will not announce any positive decision until his return.

Has No Cash

Jones said Louis has paid his taxes for 1945 and 1946 and has been depositing substantial amounts on his settlement offer since he started his comeback in September, 1950.

Jones told a (Chicago Tribune) reporter yesterday Louis has no assets that he can turn into cash, not even annuities. He said Louis cashed in his $50,000 worth of annuities during World War 2 to aid non-commissioned buddies.

Jones said Louis also had agreed to give his former wife, Marva, now the wife of Capt. Albert Spaulding of the Army Medical Corps, $500 a month for support of their children, Jacqueline, 9, and Joe Jr., 5, until each becomes of age.

Louis' tax troubles started when the government refused to allow a reported $70,000 item that was deducted from his 1946 return. The sum was given to Marva from Louis' $577,699 purse from his title bout with Billy Conn. It was for "services rendered as one of Joe's managers." The government, however, ruled it was not a services contract Joe had entered into with Marva but a divorce settlement agreement, and rejected the deduction.

Rose Schatzel Boosts Average to 194 With 646 Blast in Major League

Takes Over Eighth Place in Nation With Scores of 254, 172 and 220

Rose Schatzel, a sharp-shooting young lady who has brought considerable bowling fame to Kingston, moved into the nation's select circle of high average bowlers last night, with a 646 blast in the Women's Major at the Bowlodrome.

The Dark Dynamiter assaulted the pins for solos of 254, 172 and 220 to send her average soaring to 194.13.

At the present time that mark is good enough for eighth place among the nation's female hotshots. The current national leader is Vicki Vukovichs of Milwaukee, Wis., with 214, but that figure is for only 14 games.

A couple of ill-placed splits deprived the New York State women's all-events champion of a possible "700" triple. In all she fired 21 strikes, but splits cropped up between strikes in the fifth frame of the second game and sixth box of the third game. She finished her brilliant performance with a flourish of three strikes in the 30th frame.

Lapine Cracks 559

Although the 646 represents her best triple of the current season, she has exceeded that total many times in her brilliant career which includes many city titles, match game victories and the New York State all-events crown.

The captain of the Sportsman's Park quintet set the pace for a night of unusual activity in the Women's Major. Charlotte Lapine hammered out a big 559. Elizabeth Bruck toppled 545 and Dot Rawding crashed the "500" circle with 504. Beverly Port, a brand new mother, returned to the bowling lanes with a respectable 493 series and Helen Broskie rolled 483.

Kaplan's Furniture extended its lead to two games with a three-game sweep over the improving Jones Dairy squad. Marge Jansen converted the 4-5-7 split and Dot Rawding knocked off the 4-10.

Tom Amato Rolls 610

Tom Amato's 610, with 196-201-213 in the City Minor League, was the best male triple reported during the night. Nick Savino was runnerup in that league with 223—603.

In all 27 bowlers reached the "500" mark proving that for sustained shooting the City Minor League is perhaps the finest circuit in local bowling. After eight weeks of play, the Broadway Chop House and Joe Epstein's are tied with 16 wins and 8 losses each.

Ed Smedes pounded 213—581, Millie Berardi had 216—578 and Lou Secreto 230—571 to round out the Big Five. Other noteworthy efforts included Ed Thomas' 206—564; Daisy Schatzel 213-212—563; Ken Powell 558; Gil Scherer 552; Harry Secreto 546; R. Geisler 207—540; Hank Dart 532; Dom Clausi, Frank Nerone (213) and Charlie Port (216) with 531s.

W. Smith Raps 592

Twenty-six of the Tavern Association trundlers climbed over "500" in a performance comparable to that in the City Minor. Will Smith emerged as the individual leader with a rousing 160-220-212—592.

Hank Harder toppled 217—576, Joe Messinger 205—553; Fred Schryver 207—552; J. Secreto, ditto, and Steve Woyden 201—552. Other good pinfall was credited to Warren Sickler 220—544; Ed Cunningham 529; Ed Ougheltree 529; George Kuriger (208) and George Magley 528; J. Fatum and R. McDermott (211)—527; Mike Provenzano and Ken Newell 524 and Don Koeppen 521.

Secretary Mike Milano's 183-168-172—523 led the Electrol Night Shift, with Tom Sickler and Frank Zimmerman posting 508 apiece. Adam Thiel pounded 507. C. Brocco rolled 490; V. Stiller 489 and C. Tobias 488.

George Goldfarb's 224-184-172—579 was best-of-night in the Good Neighbor League, with Murray Greene rolling 549 for runnerup honors. Sam Markowitz tossed a 547 triple, Jay Melton 200—539; Ben Marcus 203—527; Danny Basch 525; Aaron Bahl 519; Phil Levy 515; Jack Blinder 201—510; Jack Singer 508 and Irving Levine 502.

Grunenwald Hits 589

Tom Welch accounted for 536; Orv Van Alstyne 525; L. Studt (204) and P. Cornish 521; Milt Cole, Jr., 520; Eugene Vogel 510; Don Vogel 508 and Milt Cole, Sr., 211—507.

Divisional leaders in the BYA circuit were Florence Beichert, 153-127-192—472, in the Senior and Edith Hungerford, 148-134-133—415, in the Junior division.

F. Davis shot 426 for runnerup honors in the Senior, with Gert Hoyt posting 413, Luella Port 406 and Nellie Alverson 401. Gen Whitmore was runnerup in the Junior circuit with 372.

(Editor's Note: League scores not received by 9 a. m. the day following the scheduled matches will not be published in the future. Also, carbon copies of special matches or league contests will not be published unless they are legible and correctly filled out.)

NATIONAL NOTES: As of Oct. 10, the H. H. Dickinson squad of Detroit led the WIBC's high score parade with a 1092 single and 3017 series. Hilda Groebel of Indianapolis and Vicki Vukovichs of Milwaukee had "700" each for high series and Marge Craig of Lafayette, Ind., has rolled a "300" score. Highest average keglerette in the nation was the same Vicki Vukovichs with 214 for 12 games. Three women—Liz Ciba, Great Falls, Mon.; Dorothy Weidner, McCook, Neb.; and Arlene Stoecker, Iowa, had converted the "big four" or "double pinochle" 4-6-7-10. For the second consecutive year, Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., has been named the "Woman Bowler of the Year." Her award was merited by piling up 42 out of a possible 58 first place votes. She had averages of 201, 199, 196 and 195 in four leagues. She won the all-star national championships at Chicago for the second time, missing a "200" average by only four pins over the 32-game route over 16 alleys. She also won the Michigan State all-events and was co-holder of the doubles title. On her western exhibitions she averaged 198 for 47 games and on eastern trips, 199 for 32 games. Pat Stirbeck of Indianapolis placed second in the poll and third spot went to Stephanie Balogh of Cleveland. Marion is very pretty and she can cook, too.

Rose Schatzel, long known as "The Queen" of the Hudson valley female bowlers, has elevated herself to eighth place in the nation as the result of her brilliant 646 triple last night in the Women's Major at the Bowlodrome. Her scores were 254, 172 and 220. ((Freeman Photo)

Felipe Converts Double Pinochle

Flip Felipe of the Turrets No. 2 squad in the Electrol Night Shift League qualified for an American Bowling Congress shoulder patch yesterday by cleaning off the 4-6-7-10 split at the Bowlatorium.

In doing so he joined a rather select group of local bowlers who have accomplished the trick. Felipe turned in the conversion by sliding the No. 6 pin across the alley, knocking down the No. 7 which in turn toppled the No. 4, with the ball taking out the No. 10.

Wee Willie Leads

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Wee Willie Shoemaker is the leading jockey of the Empire City-at-Jamaica race meeting. He booted home only one winner yesterday—Kader—but it paid a juicy $18.60. In 60 mounts, Shoemaker has had 17 winners, eight seconds and four thirds.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Robert "Bob" Umpleby, hard-working, enthusiastic president of the Kingston Athletic Association, had hardly been installed for a second term when he began to plan for the 1952 Little League campaign.

"First there is the Little League banquet we plan to hold on Nov. 13, but after that everybody goes back to work. Next year will have to be bigger than this one," said Umpleby.

The league banquet will replace the KAA's annual Hot Stove League dinner and Bob has high hopes of bringing Mel Allen, the Voice of the Yankees, to town that night.

"Didn't the Yankees win our pennant, too?" he asked. "Who else could it be but Mel."

The first annual post-season dinner figures to be a rousing affair. The four Little League squads—Yankees, Giants, Dodgers and Red Sox—will be the honored guests and an effort will be made to have the families of all players attend.

"We want all the old line KAA regulars on hand, too," Umpleby said. "If our present plans materialize we'll have a nice show."

Speaking of the amazing growth of the Little League and its impact on Kingston, the KAA president traced the phenomenal progress of the Little League movement.

"Carl E. Stotz, who is the national commissioner, started Little League with three teams in Williamsport, Pa., in 1939," Umpleby pointed out. "In 1950, the LL had mushroomed to 306 leagues and in 1951 that figure had increased to 776 leagues sanctioned in 38 states."

"It is estimated that some 60,000 youngsters betwen the ages of 9 and 13, including reserves, played in these leagues," he went on. "It is estimated also that another 60,000 participated in the farm program."

In addition to the 38 states with franchised leagues, Little League baseball was played in Canada, Cuba, Canal Zone, Alaska and Hawaii. The figures cited by President Umpleby also establish that in 1951 Little League baseball had its greatest growth since its inception. A total of 3,333 were members of franchised leagues.

Eight of those 3,333 teams composed of "all stars" from their particular leagues won the championship of their region and, as a consequence, participated in the Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa., and had the time of their lives. They saw new places—lived in a fine hotel, and met other youngsters from different parts of the country. Members of the leading teams in the tournament returned home with trophies and medals. The hospitality extended by the citizens of Williamsport lacked nothing. And United States Rubber footed the bill.

But what about the other 3,325 Little League teams? Umpleby was asked.

"Participation in the World Series is a worthwhile goal—winning the championship is an outstanding honor, but when the overall picture is considered, it becomes trivial," he replied.

"If there is a single league in the entire country which measures its success by the progress it makes in winning sub-district, district, state or regional honors—that league is operating on an unsound basis.

"The success of the 776 leagues," he continued, "was measured on whether or not EVERY boy in the community within our age bracket was given an opportunity to play; on whether not the player selection system was adhered to, and, finally, was the schedule completed under adequate adult supervision?

"I think our community can yell a loud 'yes'," Umpleby said.

"Baseball for our boys is our objective and our world series will not become 'the tail that wags the dog.'"

Tom McNelis, the Kingston youth who is doing an excellent job as sports editor of the Fordham Ram, describes Ollie Matson, the Negro speedster of the San Francisco Dons as one of the finest college halfbacks he ever saw.

Ed Danowski, the Fordham coach, goes Tom one better.

Big Ed believes Matson could make any team in the country, college or professional. Other coaches who have seen the 21-year-old, six-foot, three-inch, 203-pounder, agree.

"He's very hard to bring down," asserts Danowski, "and he is so fast that chasing him is hopeless once he gets by the secondary." He ran kickoffs back for 95 and 90 yards against Fordham.

Matson, an Olympic sprinter possibility in 1952, has done 100 yards in 9.8, is a 60-minute man playing safety.

Charter's 684 Paces Dutchess Pin Win

Jake Charter, the minor league baseball catcher who spends his off season on the bowling lanes, led the Dutchess Recreation keglers to a 2806-2778 victory over the Manhattan Balls, in a weekend match at the Bowlodrome.

The pudgy catcher hit for 232-181-235 and was the lone kegler over the "600" mark. George Baird shot 225-588 for the winners. High man for Manhattans was Bill Lawrence with 233-592, while Chris Gallo had 237-581.

Louis Fails to Announce Retirement; Uncle Sam Still Pressing for Taxes

Bomber Plans Trip Through Japan

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—Joe Louis' possible compromise settlement of income tax indebtedness appeared delayed indefinitely today because of his reluctance to announce his retirement from the ring.

John T. Jarecki, collector of internal revenue for the northern Illinois district, said that a compromise is possible if Louis intends to quit fighting and proves inability to pay his full back tax.

"You can't get blood out of a turnip," Jarecki said. "The glamor is worn off Louis now. He's through (as a boxer)."

Jarecki declined to disclose the amount owed by the former heavyweight champion for 1947 and 1948. Unverified reports were that the sum approximated $100,000.

Theodore Jones, certified public accountant employed by Louis, also refused to discuss the amount Joe owed. He said he would visit Jarecki's office this week with a check to be applied to Louis' settlement.

The 37-year-old Brown Bomber, flattened in the eighth round by Rocky Marciano in Madison Square Garden Friday night, decided not to announce his retirement plans yesterday. He called off a scheduled press conference. Louis is to leave New York on Nov. 10 to make a boxing tour of Japan and will not announce any positive decision until his return.

Has No Cash

Jones said Louis has paid his taxes for 1945 and 1946 and has been depositing substantial amounts on his settlement offer since he started his comeback in September, 1950.

Jones told a (Chicago Tribune) reporter yesterday Louis has no assets that he can turn into cash, not even annuities. He said Louis cashed in his $50,000 worth of annuities during World War 2 to aid non-commissioned buddies.

Jones said Louis also had agreed to give his former wife, Marva, now the wife of Capt. Albert Spaulding of the Army Medical Corps, $500 a month for support of their children, Jacqueline, 9, and Joe Jr., 5, until each becomes of age.

Louis' tax troubles started when the government refused to allow a reported $70,000 item that was deducted from his 1946 return. The sum was given to Marva from Louis' $577,699 purse from his title bout with Billy Conn. It was for "services rendered as one of Joe's managers." The government, however, ruled it was not a services contract Joe had entered into with Marva but a divorce settlement agreement, and rejected the deduction.

Tennessee Vols Solid Choice For No. 1 College Grid Team

Michigan State In Second Place

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Tennessee remained a solid choice as the No. 1 team in the country in the Associated Press fifth weekly football poll today.

The undefeated Vols, who swamped Tennessee Tech last Saturday, 68-0, garnered 1,213 points and 59 first-place votes from the sports writers and sportscasters across the nation.

Trailing in second place was Michigan State, which also was the runnerup last week. The Spartans notched 1,131 points but had only 25 first-place votes. They defeated Pitt, 53-26, Saturday.

The rest of the first ten included Illinois, No. 3; Maryland, No. 4; Georgia Tech, No. 5; Princeton, No. 6; Southern California, No. 7; Baylor, No. 8; California, No. 9, and Wisconsin, No. 10.

The first six teams in the poll are among the nation's undefeated and untied elevens. Southern Cal, seventh, has been beaten once, while Baylor is unbeaten but has been tied.

One Newcomer

Only one newcomer joined the first ten. That was Wisconsin, which jumped to 10th from 15th after its 41-0 triumph over previously undefeated Northwestern. Texas, which scored a 14-6 victory over Rice, dropped out of the select circle, winding up in 12th place.

There was some shuffling inside the first ten, though. Georgia Tech, which had been hot on the trail of both Tennesee and Michigan State, dropped to fifth. Southern California and Baylor also slipped one notch each.

As a reward for its startling 53-15 shellacking of Cornell, Princeton jumped from eighth to sixth. Illinois and Maryland also advanced in the rankings. They were, respectively, fourth and fifth last week.

The points were awarded on a basis of ten for first, nine for second and so on down the line.

		Points
1.	Tennessee (5-0) (59)	1,213
2.	Michigan S. (6-0) (25)	1,131
3.	Illinois (5-0) (15)	1,022
4.	Maryland (5-0) (22)	905
5.	Georgia Tech (6-0) (9)	904
6.	Princeton (5-0) (14)	891
7.	Southern Cal. (6-1) (7)	664
8.	Baylor (4-0-1)	345
9.	California (5-1)	319
10.	Wisconsin (3-1-1) (2)	287

IBM Reports Cage Sellout

Frank Fitzpatrick, of the IBM Country Club, said yesterday that the Nov. 13 basketball game featuring the Harlem Globetrotters at the IBM gymnasium is a sellout.

"We had 1,500 tickets printed for the game and they are sold," he declared.

He said that originally the plan had been to distribute tickets for public sale but the initial response was so terrific that the ducats were gobbled up in a few hours.

Halloween Parade

Disney film with much animation, technicolor and music. It is from the writings of Joel Chandler Harris and Uncle Remus is the central character.

The best of the Uncle Remus tales are in the film including the episodes with Brer Rabbit and Brer Fox. Songs include Sooner or Later, Zip-A-Dee Doo Dah, Uncle Remus Said, and others.

McAndrew Says Mayor Being Kept In the Background

Raymond A. McAndrew, Democratic candidate for mayor in a radio speech Monday evening charged that the Republican strategy apparently is to keep the mayor in the background, and to prevent him from meeting the issues and the charges he made.

His talk was as follows:

When I first spoke to you last Thursday evening, it was my sincere desire that this campaign for mayor would be conducted and debated by the respective candidates themselves. The Republican high command has apparently ruled otherwise. They have kept the third-term candidate for mayor off the air. Instead they had their candidate for alderman-at-large broadcast on Friday evening. He did not even mention my audress of the night before, and directed his attention entirely to an address of the Democratic county chairman. Republican strategy apparently is to keep the mayor in the background, and to prevent him from meeting the issues and the charges I made. I will not be misled by it. I am not running against the alderman-at-large, or any person other than the present occupant of the mayor's office in City Hall. The mayor evidently does not have the courage to debate the issues with me over this radio station. But surely, in the position of trust in which the people have placed him, he must realize that he has a solemn duty to speak directly to the people. That obligation is one he should have discharged before this time. His spokesman of last Friday night reminded you that it was only about ten days before election. Now it is only seven days before election, and the mayor has, even at this late date, failed to answer me. Is he withholding his answer until the last minute? If he is, please be mindful of what his spokesman said, when he warned you that last minute campaign statements are invariably false and untrue. In other words, it was conceded by the Republican candidate for alderman-at-large that you should not place reliance on what the mayor may say hereafter.

I feel confident that the voters of this city will not take seriously the imputation that I have started any viscious whispering campaign against the present city administration. That is entirely false. The Republican candidate for alderman-at-large knows that it is false. In all fairness to the people, he ought to admit that. He claimed he is always in favor of good sportsmanship. If he really is, he should prove his good sportsmanship and publicly repudiate these false implications he made about me.

The purpose of such vicious tactics is to divert the minds of the local taxpayers from the real issues of the campaign. Issues which we have enumerated—issues which we demand be discussed.

I charged, in my opening address, that many of the streets of the city are in terrible condition, especially in the Broadway crossing detours. That charge was admitted Friday night by the Republican candidate for alderman-at-large. His excuse, after calling vital repairs to our streets a "luxury" that we could not afford, was that nothing more could have been done because of budgetary limitations. Now that statement just isn't so. For as of Oct. 28, 1951, the books of the city treasurer showed a balance of over $57,000 remaining from a $75,000 bond issue for the resurfacing of streets. Where is that money, and why hasn't it been used to resurface our streets?

The 1951 Budget item for Highway Maintenance was five times as much as the same item in the 1949 Budget. In all, within the past two years, a total of a quarter of a million dollars was available to the present administration for the care and maintenance of our city streets. In view of the horrible condition of so many of our streets, what has the Mayor done with that enormous sum of money? Let him render his account to his employers, the citizens of Kingston. Let him give the people the facts.

The Democratic Party in this campaign has been quoted by the Republican Alderman-at-Large in his radio address last Friday evening, as favoring large wage increases and at the same time, promising to reduce taxes. Neither the Democratic chairman, nor myself, ever made such a statement. The very night this Republican candidate spoke over WKNY, the radio address of both the Democratic chairman and myself were printed in full in the Kingston Daily Freeman, the newspaper by which the alderman-at-large is employed. I have said that if the Mayor had renewed the illegal tax cuts and had brought about a complete re-assessment of properties, much of the funds required for wage increases would have been furnished, without costing the taxpayer a single additional penny. Apparently Mr. Kelly did not listen to our radio addresses. Nor did he read them in his newspaper. If he is really for good sportsmanship, as he claims, he will undoubtedly now admit to the public that he did not quote correctly from either address. I shall wait for him to publicly admit his error.

The front page of Saturday evening's Freeman sets forth a statement by the chairman of the Planning Commission. I had criticized the failure of that body to accomplish anything. Well, that statement proves that what I said was entirely true. The planning chairman said, (quote) "The most important step that had to be taken was the adoption of an official map of the city." (end quote). In other words, in over 14 months, the Planning Commission did nothing, which is exactly what I charged. And even that so-called official city map—the very existence of which has been hidden until now—won't even come before the common Council for actual adoption until after Election Day.

The present administration has finally been forced to admit that my charges about streets, and the failure of the Planning Commission to accomplish anything, were entirely true.

In my opening address I asked the mayor whether there would be any increase in taxes. He has never answered that question.

The Republican candidate for alderman-at-large, however, in his radio address of last Friday evening broke down and admitted that there would be some tax increases.

They have been forced to admit that there would be an increase in taxes. I ask again, Mr. Mayor, do you plan a payroll or a sales tax? Or do you plan to impose further real estate taxes on the already overburdened home-owner? Perhaps you will at this very late date tell the people the whole truth.

The Republican candidate for mayor wants you to put him back in City Hall for a third term. What has he done for you in the past four years? He has done one great big thing! He has raised your taxes by 79 per cent, and he now promises you a further increase! Please keep that in your mind on Election Day.

Hauser Is Held On Checks Charge; Under Indictment

Middletown, Oct. 30 (AP)—A former federal deputy collector of internal revenue, state police said today, has been arrested in Miami, Fla., on a charge of passing bad checks between here and Charleston, S. C.

Police said he had cashed the checks at a number of Elks Clubs since leaving Middletown about two weeks ago. The amount of the checks was not reported.

He was identified by police as Harry Hauser, 47, of Middletown.

He was the group's treasurer from 1944 to April 1951. He also was a deputy internal revenue collector here for the first two years, and afterwards a private auditor.

The $6,000 was money Hauser was supposed to forward to the federal government for amusement taxes during the last six years. Instead, he kept the money and juggled the association's books to cover the loss.

When the United States asked for the unpaid taxes and demanded a $3,000 penalty, Hauser was replaced as the association's treasurer and an investigation was started.

State Police Sergeant William Hamblin said he probably will go to Miami today to seek extradition of Hauser.

Arsenal Against Reds

Pittsburgh, Oct. 30 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson helped dedicate a huge new steel works today and said it symbolized the might of America's growth as an arsenal against Russia. Boasting that this country now produces as much steel in 13 weeks as the Soviet Union does in an entire year, Wilson said in his prepared remarks: 'Uncle Joe Stalin and his fellow occupants of the Kremlin may not be impressed by moral arguments or diplomatic persuasion, but they do read production figures. "They are fully aware that in modern warfare the decisive factor lies in industrial support of armies, navies, and air fleets. "So the greatest hope of avoiding a third world war is in maintaining superiority over that of the Soviet empire."

Trojans Coming

Los Angeles, Oct. 30 (AP)—A heavy favorite in its game with Army Saturday, Southern California ran defensive drills against T-formation plays in scrimmage yesterday. Coach Jess Hill said all his regulars will be ready for the game. He said his scouts report that Army is a coming ball club "that's on the improve and hustling all the time."

Sherwood Sees Dangerous Trend From Freedoms

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—The president of the New York State Grange today asserted that there was a "dangerous trend" toward loss of individual freedom in the United States.

Henry D. Sherwood of Pine Plains addressed about 1,300 delegates at the opening session of the Grange's 79th annual convention. Several hundred other farmers and their families also are attending the four-day meeting.

Sherwood said that conditions in the country today gave farmers "great concern."

"More and more there is being taken away from us those liberties that should remain forever with free people," he said, "for some reason or other the trend seems to be toward government planning and control. It is a dangerous trend and if we continue it will not be long before we will lose forever our rights as free people."

Has Seen Example

Sherwood said he had seen examples of "this trend constantly." Last summer, he stated, the government had ordered county agricultural meetings to obtain farmer opinion during the busy harvesting season.

"It looks as if it was intended to be a group of meetings packed with people on the government payroll who would express their opinions as being the true farmer opinion," the Grange president asserted. He added:

"It is difficult sometimes to believe that we have officials in places of responsibility that would deliberately scheme to set up meetings purposely at a time when true farmer representation could not possibly be registered. But it looks as if that might be the case * * *."

Must Regain Losses

Sherwood told the delegates they must "stop, think and work to hold what we have left and then go forward and regain what we have lost."

Sherwood, president for four two-year terms, advised the delegates he would not be a candidate for re-election in balloting at the close of the convention Friday.

Between today and Friday's election the delegates, representing 143,000 members in 895 local granges, will hear organizational reports and talks from other agricultural leaders. They also will consider resolutions prepared during the past year.

Election Symposium Scheduled Tomorrow

An election symposium will be held by the local chapter B'nai B'rith tomorrow at the Jewish Community Center building, 265 Wall street at 8:30 p. m.

The meeting which is to be conducted "Town Hall" style will be open to the public for discussion of the local mayoralty campaign.

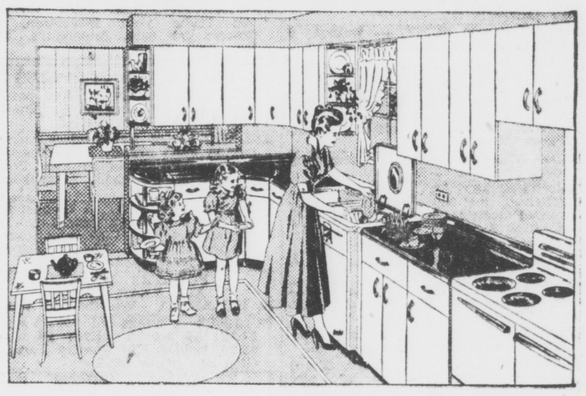

City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer will present the views of the Republican party and Bernard A. Culloton will give those of the Democratic party. The audience will be invited to participated in the discussion and ask questions of the speakers.

Tennessee Vols Solid Choice For No. 1 College Grid Team

Michigan State In Second Place

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Tennessee remained a solid choice as the No. 1 team in the country in the Associated Press fifth weekly football poll today.

The undefeated Vols, who swamped Tennessee Tech last Saturday, 68-0, garnered 1,213 points and 59 first-place votes from the sports writers and sportscasters across the nation.

Trailing in second place was Michigan State, which also was the runnerup last week. The Spartans notched 1,131 points but had only 25 first-place votes. They defeated Pitt, 53-26, Saturday.

The rest of the first ten included Illinois, No. 3; Maryland, No. 4; Georgia Tech, No. 5; Princeton, No. 6; Southern California, No. 7; Baylor, No. 8; California, No. 9, and Wisconsin, No. 10.

The first six teams in the poll are among the nation's undefeated and untied elevens. Southern Cal, seventh, has been beaten once, while Baylor is unbeaten but has been tied.

Strangely, Stanford of the Pacific Coast Conference, with a 6-0 mark, could do no better than eleventh. San Francisco, another team with an unblemished record —6-0—is No. 20.

One Newcomer

Only one newcomer joined the first ten. That was Wisconsin, which jumped to 10th from 15th after its 41-0 triumph over previously undefeated Northwestern. Texas, which scored a 14-6 victory over Rice, dropped out of the select circle, winding up in 12th place.

There was some shuffling inside the first ten, though. Georgia Tech, which had been hot on the trail of both Tennesee and Michigan State, dropped to fifth. Southern California and Baylor also slipped one notch each.

As a reward for its startling 53-15 shellacking of Cornell, Princeton jumped from eighth to sixth. Illinois and Maryland also advanced in the rankings. They were, respectively, fourth and fifth last week.

The points were awarded on a basis of ten for first, nine for second and so on down the line.

The first ten, with team records and first place votes in parenthesis:

	Points
1. Tennessee (5-0) (59)	1,213
2. Michigan S. (6-0) (25)	1,131
3. Illinois (5-0) (15)	1,022
4. Maryland (5-0) (22)	905
5. Georgia Tech (6-0) (9)	904
6. Princeton (5-0) (14)	891
7. Southern Cal. (6-1) (7)	664

IBM Reports Cage Sellout

Frank Fitzpatrick, of the IBM Country Club, said yesterday that the Nov. 13 basketball game featuring the Harlem Globetrotters at the IBM gymnasium is a sellout.

"We had 1,500 tickets printed for the game and they are sold," he declared.

He said that originally the plan had been to distribute tickets for public sale but the initial response was so terrific that the ducats were gobbled up in a few hours.

WILTWYCK GOLF CLUB HONORS ITS 1951 CHAMPIONS

McAndrew Says Mayor Being Kept In the Background

Raymond A. McAndrew, Democratic candidate for mayor in a radio speech Monday evening charged that the Republican strategy apparently is to keep the mayor in the background, and to prevent him from meeting the issues and the charges he made.

His talk was as follows:

When I first spoke to you last Thursday evening, it was my sincere desire that this campaign for mayor would be conducted and debated by the respective candidates themselves. The Republican high command has apparently ruled otherwise. They have kept the third-term candidate for mayor off the air. Instead they had their candidate for alderman-at-large broadcast on Friday evening. He did not even mention my address of the night before, and directed his attention entirely to an address of the Democratic county chairman. Republican strategy apparently is to keep the mayor in the background, and to prevent him from meeting the issues and the charges I made. I will not be misled by it. I am not running against the alderman-at-large, or any person other than the present occupant of the mayor's office in City Hall. The mayor evidently does not have the courage to debate the issues with me over this radio station. But surely, in the position of trust in which the people have placed him, he must realize that he has a solemn duty to speak directly to the people. That obligation is one he should have discharged before this time. His spokesman of last Friday night reminded you that it was only about ten days before election. Now it is only seven days before election, and the mayor has, even at this late date, failed to answer me. Is he withholding his answer until the last minute? If he is, please be mindful of what his spokesman said, when he warned you that last minute campaign statements are invariably false and untrue. In other words, it was conceded by the Republican candidate for alderman-at-large that you should not place reliance on what the mayor may say hereafter.

I feel confident that the voters of this city will not take seriously the imputation that I have started any viscious whispering campaign against the present city administration. That is entirely false. The Republican candidate for alderman-at-large knows that it is false. In all fairness to the people, he ought to admit that. He claimed he is always in favor of good sportsmanship. If he really is, he should prove his good sportsmanship and publicly repudiate these false implications he made about me.

The purpose of such vicious tactics is to divert the minds of the local taxpayers from the real issues of the campaign. Issues which we have enumerated—issues which we demand be discussed.

I charged, in my opening address, that many of the streets of the city are in terrible condition, especially in the Broadway crossing detours. That charge was admitted Friday night by the Republican candidate for alderman-at-large. His excuse, after calling vital repairs to our streets a "luxury" that we could not afford, was that nothing more could have been done because of budgetary limitations. Now that statement just isn't so. For as of Oct. 28, 1951, the books of the city treasurer showed a balance of over $57,000 remaining from a $75,000 bond issue for the resurfacing of streets. Where is that money, and why hasn't it been used to resurface our streets?

The 1951 Budget item for Highway Maintenance was five times as much as the same item in the 1949 Budget. In all, within the past two years, a total of a quarter of a million dollars was available to the present administration for the care and maintenance of our city streets. In view of the horrible condition of so many of our streets, what has the Mayor done with that enormous sum of money? Let him render his account to his employers, the citizens of Kingston. Let him give the people the facts.

The Democratic Party in this campaign has been quoted by the Republican Alderman-at-Large in his radio address last Friday evening, as favoring large wage increases and at the same time, promising to reduce taxes. Neither the Democratic chairman, nor myself, ever made such a statement. The very night this Republican candidate spoke over WKNY, the radio address of both the Democratic chairman and myself were printed in full in the Kingston Daily Freeman, the newspaper by which the alderman-at-large is employed. I have said that if the Mayor had renewed the illegal tax cuts and had brought about a complete re-assessment of properties, much of the funds required for wage increases would have been furnished, without costing the taxpayer a single additional penny. Apparently Mr. Kelly did not listen to our radio addresses. Nor did he read them in his newspaper. If he is really for good sportsmanship, as he claims, he will undoubtedly now admit to the public that he did not quote correctly from either address. I shall wait for him to publicly admit his error.

The front page of Saturday evening's Freeman sets forth a statement by the chairman of the Planning Commission. I had criticized the failure of that body to accomplish anything. Well, that statement proves that what I said was entirely true. The planning chairman said, (quote) "The most important step that had to be taken was the adoption of an official map of the city." (end quote). In other words, in over 14 months, the Planning Commission did nothing, which is exactly what I charged. And even that so-called official city map—the very existence of which has been hidden until now—won't even come before the common Council for actual adoption until after Election Day.

The present administration has finally been forced to admit that my charges about streets, and the failure of the Planning Commission to accomplish anything, were entirely true.

In my opening address I asked the mayor whether there would be any increase in taxes. He has never answered that question.

The Republican candidate for alderman-at-large, however, in his radio address of last Friday evening broke down and admitted that there would be some tax increases.

They have been forced to admit that there would be an increase in taxes. I ask again, Mr. Mayor, do you plan a payroll or a sales tax? Or do you plan to impose further real estate taxes on the already overburdened home-owner? Perhaps you will at this very late date tell the people the whole truth.

The Republican candidate for mayor wants you to put him back in City Hall for a third term. What has he done for you in the past four years? He has done one great big thing! He has raised your taxes by 79 per cent, and he now promises you a further increase! Please keep that in your mind on Election Day.

Hauser Is Held On Checks Charge; Under Indictment

Middletown, Oct. 30 (AP)—A former federal deputy collector of internal revenue, state police said today, has been arrested in Miami, Fla., on a charge of passing bad checks between here and Charleston, S. C.

Police said he had cashed the checks at a number of Elks Clubs since leaving Middletown about two weeks ago. The amount of the checks was not reported.

He was identified by police as Harry Hauser, 47, of Middletown.

Authorities reported that after Hauser left here an Orange county grand jury indicted him on a larceny charge for allegedly pocketing $6,000 of money belonging to the Middletown Community Concert Association.

Hauser was reported unaware of the indictment, handed up Oct. 17. The larceny charge is separate from the check charge, police said.

Miami police took Hauser into custody yesterday, authorities here said. They had no details on the Florida action.

Police gave this account of Hauser's dealing with the concert association:

He was the group's treasurer from 1944 to April 1951. He also was a deputy internal revenue collector here for the first two years, and afterwards a private auditor.

The $6,000 was money Hauser was supposed to forward to the federal government for amusement taxes during the last six years. Instead, he kept the money and juggled the association's books to cover the loss.

When the United States asked for the unpaid taxes and demanded a $3,000 penalty, Hauser was replaced as the association's treasurer and an investigation was started.

State Police Sergeant William Hamblin said he probably will go to Miami today to seek extradition of Hauser.

Arsenal Against Reds

Pittsburgh, Oct. 30 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson helped dedicate a huge new steel works today and said it symbolized the might of America's growth as an arsenal against Russia. Boasting that this country now produces as much steel in 13 weeks as the Soviet Union does in an entire year, Wilson said in his prepared remarks: 'Uncle Joe Stalin and his fellow occupants of the Kremlin may not be impressed by moral arguments or diplomatic persuasion, but they do read production figures. "They are fully aware that in modern warfare the decisive factor lies in industrial support of armies, navies, and air fleets. "So the greatest hope of avoiding a third world war is in maintaining superiority over that of the Soviet empire."

Trojans Coming

Los Angeles, Oct. 30 (AP)—A heavy favorite in its game with Army Saturday, Southern California ran defensive drills against T-formation plays in scrimmage yesterday. Coach Jess Hill said all his regulars will be ready for the game. He said his scouts report that Army is a coming ball club "that's on the improve and hustling all the time."

Sherwood Sees Dangerous Trend From Freedoms

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—The president of the New York State Grange today asserted that there was a "dangerous trend" toward loss of individual freedom in the United States.

Henry D. Sherwood of Pine Plains addressed about 1,300 delegates at the opening session of the Grange's 79th annual convention. Several hundred other farmers and their families also are attending the four-day meeting.

Sherwood said that conditions in the country today gave farmers "great concern."

"More and more there is being taken away from us those liberties that should remain forever with free people," he said, "for some reason or other the trend seems to be toward government planning and control. It is a dangerous trend and if we continue it will not be long before we will lose forever our rights as free people."

Has Seen Example

Sherwood said he had seen examples of "this trend constantly." Last summer, he stated, the government had ordered county agricultural meetings to obtain farmer opinion during the busy harvesting season.

"It looks as if it was intended to be a group of meetings packed with people on the government payroll who would express their opinions as being the true farmer opinion," the Grange president asserted. He added:

"It is difficult sometimes to believe that we have officials in places of responsibility that would deliberately scheme to set up meetings purposely at a time when true farmer representation could not possibly be registered. But it looks as if that might be the case * * *."

Must Regain Losses

Sherwood told the delegates they must "stop, think and work to hold what we have left and then go forward and regain what we have lost."

Sherwood, president for four two-year terms, advised the delegates he would not be a candidate for re-election in balloting at the close of the convention Friday.

Between today and Friday's election the delegates, representing 143,000 members in 895 local granges, will hear organizational reports and talks from other agricultural leaders. They also will consider resolutions prepared during the past year.

Election Symposium Scheduled Tomorrow

An election symposium will be held by the local chapter B'nai B'rith tomorrow at the Jewish Community Center building, 265 Wall street at 8:30 p. m.

The meeting which is to be conducted "Town Hall" style will be open to the public for discussion of the local mayoralty campaign.

City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer will present the views of the Republican party and Bernard A. Culloton will give those of the Democratic party. The audience will be invited to participated in the discussion and ask questions of the speakers.

Macri Is Acquitted

New York, Oct. 30 (AP) Benedict Macri has been acquitted of the slaying of an AFL organizer whose union offered a $25,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the killers. A Manhattan jury cleared Macri last night of the fatal stabbing of William Lurye, organizer for the AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union. Lurye, 40, was attacked in a telephone booth in a garment district building lobby on May 9, 1949. He died several days later, and 65,000 garment workers quit work for four hours in a funeral day demonstration.

Additional Tax, Withheld From Your Pay in November And December, Will Probably Cover Average Boost for '51

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
NEA Special Correspondent

If you, as a taxpayer, have been worrying about the new tax law, you can relax. Your share of the $5,700,000,000 in new taxes won't amount to much in 1951.

For instance, take a married couple with two children and a $75-a-week salary. Beginning with the first pay check in November, they'll have an additional 40 cents withheld for taxes. That amounts to an extra two per cent, after allowing for dependents.

Most taxpayers will find that the additional two per cent, taken out during November and December, will cover the entire increase they owe for 1951. You probably won't have to dig up anything extra when the March 15 deadline for filing returns comes around.

That's the most important thing, to the average taxpayer, in the new bill. This is just a preliminary look at the bill's high spots. In NEA's 11th annual Income Tax Primer, which is now being prepared, the changes will be spelled out in detail. But here are the important revisions:

Some taxpayers will get a break under the new law. An unmarried person maintaining a home for members of his family will now get part of the tax break given married couples filing joint returns.

If you sold your house during 1951 for a profit and buy another costing as much or more within a year, you do not have to report the profit made on the sale. However, if your new home cost less than what you got for the old one, there will be a tax on the difference.

Taxpayers over 65, who don't file on the short form, can deduct all medical expenses not exceeding $5000 for a married couple and $2500 for a single taxpayer. Younger taxpayers can still deduct medical expenses that exceed five per cent of the income.

Members of the armed forces will continue to get an exemption for time spent in Korea. Taxes owed by servicemen who die in Korea, or from wounds, disease, or injury incurred there, will be cancelled for any year during which they spent as much as a day in Korea.

Your dependents can now earn up to $600 in 1951 and still be claimed on your return. Formerly, if they earned over $500 you could no longer claim them as a dependent.

The new tax bill increases corporation taxes and many excise taxes. The gasoline tax is up one-half cent a gallon. The tax on whiskey will go up from $1.80 to $2.10 a fifth.

Each person who is in the business of accepting bets for profit will owe Uncle Sam a tax of 10 per cent of the bets. This does not apply to pari-mutuel betting licensed under state law. The excise taxes will go into effect November 1 if the President signs the bill by October 21.

The bill has an unusual feature. All tax increases automatically expire April 1, 1954. That is, unless Congress make a change in the meantime.

EXAMPLES OF HOW THE WITHHOLDING TAX WILL RISE IN NOVEMBER

	Weekly Salary	Present tax Withheld	Tax withheld In November	Increase
Single person	$ 75	$11.20	$12.40	$1.20
Married couple, no children	75	8.90	9.90	1.00
Married couple, 2 children	75	4.30	4.70	.40
Single person	100	16.10	17.90	1.80
Married couple, no children	100	13.80	15.40	1.60
Married couple, 2 children	100	9.20	10.20	1.00
Single person	125	20.60	22.90	2.30
Married couple, no children	125	18.30	20.40	2.10
Married couple, 2 children	125	13.70	15.20	1.50

Will Concentrate on Newspaper Promotion

Curtice Brothers Co., of Rochester, has launched its fall campaign featuring Blue Label Tomato Ketchup, and other products of the Blue Label Line. At this time, Blue Label is introducing a new addition to the family, Blue Label Sliced Pickled Beets, which have already met with an enthusiastic reception in test areas and are attaining broad distribution rapidly.

The fall campaign will concentrate on newspaper promotions throughout the New England territory. In addition, Marjorie Mills, famous home economist, will tell her thousands of enthusiastic radio listeners about Blue Label foods twice a week. New England's favorite food magazines, Woman's Day and Family Circle will also carry large color ads, reports A. W. Dana, recently appointed Northeastern Sales Representative for Curtice Brothers Company.

Surface-Piercing Peaks

The Azores are among the few surface-piercing peaks of the submerged mid-Atlantic mountain range, according to the National Geographic Society.

O. S. Doolittle Dies

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Orrin Sage Doolittle, 87, retired chemist and one of the oldest graduates of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, died yesterday in Doctors Hospital. He lived in Yonkers. He was graduated from M.I.T. in 1886, then became a chemist for the Pennsylvania Railroad. Subsequently he joined the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. In later years he was general sales manager in New York for the Semet Solvay Company of Syracuse.

Pension Advice Is Given to Veterans

F. William Sheehan, officer-in-charge of the local Veterans Administration office, 286 Fair street, reminds veterans who are currently in receipt of pension benefits of a nonservice connected nature that they must file if they feel that they are eligible for the additional monetary benefits authorized by Congress over the President's veto. Such act is effective November 1 and if eligible veterans are to receive this new monetary grant it will be necessary for them to file on or before that.

Such application must either be postmarked prior to November 1st, or received by the Veterans Administration office on that date.

Retailing Class Makes Displays

An interesting display on winter sports was the work of Crew 5, including Red Hinkley, Thomas Rundle, and Leo Wells. The display included basketball and football articles which were loaned through the courtesy of Tommy Maines Sports Shop.

A hunting display was the project of Crew 6 and included guns, shells, hunters clothing and boots. These articles were loaned through the courtesy of Montgomery Ward.

Periods 3 and 4 also made show case displays, One, with materials loaned by Kramor Young Folks Shop, included baby blankets, hot plates, bottle holders, toys and other baby articles arranged on an orchid background by Elaine Tucker, Nora Bunt and James DiPeri. Another arrangement of a sports nature was done with materials loaned by Potter Brothers and consisted of basketballs, gym socks, tennis shoes and a maroon and white jacket and trunks. A book of basketball was also shown.

Says System Considered

San Francisco, Oct. 30 (AP)—Every major city in New York state is considering plans for fluoridation of drinking water, a process designed to reduce tooth decay. Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, and Dr. David B. Akst, director of the State Health Department's Bureau of Dental Health, made that report today at the 79th annual meeting of the American Public Health Association. Through controlled fluoridation of drinking water, they contended, "it may be possible to reduce dental decay by 60 to 65 per cent, and together with current dental practice to reduce tooth loss from decay to almost the vanishing point."

HAROLD G. CHRISTIANA

S. R. Harold G. Christiana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Christiana, 169 Murray street, recently spent a 14-day leave with his parents after completing boot training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. Since the expiration of his leave, he was shipped to California and is now en route to Japan.

Three on Des Moines

They are Chris Lay, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Lay, 10 Smith avenue; Kenneth Lowe, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lowe, 99 Shufeldt street and Robert Budington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Budington, St. Remy. Seaman Budington, who recently signed for another four-year hitch with the navy, is a second class boiler tender.

Home on Leave

John Patrick Carpino, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carpino, 124 South Manor avenue, is now home on leave after finishing boot training at the Bainbridge, Md., navy base. He has applied for submarine duty.

Kingsburg Kept Busy as Yeoman On Naval Vessel

Being the captain's yeoman, a full time job within itself, is just one of many jobs of Henry Kingsburg, yeoman, first class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Kingsburg of 83 W. Union street, Kingston.

"King's," as he is known throughout the ship, is the leading petty officer of the captain's office. A few of the many jobs of this officer include handling the central files, incoming-outgoing mail, officers' records, and preparation of all correspondence.

Kingsburg enlisted in the naval service July 10, 1944 at Poughkeepsie, and received his recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Sampson. Upon completion of this training he reported aboard the transport USS Griggs and spent 11 months in the Pacific area. Returning to the states, he was discharged June 7, 1946.

Reenlisting in the navy, Sept. 9, 1947, he went aboard the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea in September 1948 to Commander Air Force, Atlantic Fleet, based at Norfolk, Va. Leaving there, Kingsburg reported aboard the aircraft carrier USS Leyte April 5, 1950 and was with her during her service in Korea. The Leyte is presently on a tour of duty with the Sixth Fleet operating in the Mediterranean area. Today the Sixth Fleet is the navy's second largest operational fleet on the high seas. It covers the entire Mediterranean Sea, continuously participating in fleet training exercises, and making good will calls to many foreign ports. It is the navy's present policy to rotate ships about every four months on this duty.

Kingsburg is entitled to wear the following decorations: Good Conduct Medal, American Theatre, Asiatic-Pacific, World War 2 Victory Medal, Philippine Liberation, Korean Campaign and Occupation Medal.

He graduated from Kingston High School with the class of 1947 in Kingston.

Petersen Is Promoted

Sgt. Raymond Petersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Petersen, Sr., 116 Wrentham street, has been promoted to staff sergeant. He is stationed at the George Wright Air Force Base, Fairchild, Wash.

Constable Promoted

With the Eighth Army in Korea—Francis Constable, 207 Wall street, Kingston, now serving with the 30th Ordnance Battalion in Korea, was recently promoted to corporal. Before entering Korea seven months ago, Cpl. Constable was stationed at the Ordnance Depot in Fuchu, Japan. A regular army man, he spent over a year at Fort Bliss, Tex.

Additional Tax, Withheld From Your Pay in November And December, Will Probably Cover Average Boost for '51

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
NEA Special Correspondent

If you, as a taxpayer, have been worrying about the new tax law, you can relax. Your share of the $5,700,000,000 in new taxes won't amount to much in 1951.

For instance, take a married couple with two children and a $75-a-week salary. Beginning with the first pay check in November, they'll have an additional 40 cents withheld for taxes. That amounts to an extra two per cent, after allowing for dependents.

Most taxpayers will find that the additional two per cent, taken out during November and December, will cover the entire increase they owe for 1951. You probably won't have to dig up anything extra when the March 15 deadline for filing returns comes around.

That's the most important thing, to the average taxpayer, in the new bill. This is just a preliminary look at the bill's high spots. In NEA's 11th annual Income Tax Primer, which is now being prepared, the changes will be spelled out in detail. But here are the important revisions:

Some taxpayers will get a break under the new law. An unmarried person maintaining a home for members of his family will now get part of the tax break given married couples filing joint returns.

If you sold your house during 1951 for a profit and buy another costing as much or more within a year, you do not have to report the profit made on the sale. However, if your new home cost less than what you got for the old one, there will be a tax on the difference.

Taxpayers over 65, who don't file on the short form, can deduct all medical expenses not exceeding $5000 for a married couple and $2500 for a single taxpayer. Younger taxpayers can still deduct medical expenses that exceed five per cent of the income.

Members of the armed forces will continue to get an exemption for time spent in Korea. Taxes owed by servicemen who die in Korea, or from wounds, disease, or injury incurred there, will be cancelled for any year during which they spent as much as a day in Korea.

Your dependents can now earn up to $600 in 1951 and still be claimed on your return. Formerly, if they earned over $500 you could no longer claim them as a dependent.

The new tax bill increases corporation taxes and many excise taxes. The gasoline tax is up one-half cent a gallon. The tax on whiskey will go up from $1.80 to $2.10 a fifth.

Each person who is in the business of accepting bets for profit will owe Uncle Sam a tax of 10 per cent of the bets. This does not apply to pari-mutuel betting licensed under state law. The excise taxes will go into effect November 1 if the President signs the bill by October 21.

The bill has an unusual feature. All tax increases automatically expire April 1, 1954. That is, unless Congress make a change in the meantime.

EXAMPLES OF HOW THE WITHHOLDING TAX WILL RISE IN NOVEMBER

	Weekly Salary	Present tax Withheld	Tax withheld In November	Increase
Single person	$ 75	$11.20	$12.40	$1.20
Married couple, no children	75	8.90	9.90	1.00
Married couple, 2 children	75	4.30	4.70	.40
Single person	100	16.10	17.90	1.80
Married couple, no children	100	13.80	15.40	1.60
Married couple, 2 children	100	9.20	10.20	1.00
Single person	125	20.60	22.90	2.30
Married couple, no children	125	18.30	20.40	2.10
Married couple, 2 children	125	13.70	15.20	1.50

Will Concentrate on Newspaper Promotion

Curtice Brothers Co., of Rochester, has launched its fall campaign featuring Blue Label Tomato Ketchup, and other products of the Blue Label Line. At this time, Blue Label is introducing a new addition to the family, Blue Label Sliced Pickled Beets, which have already met with an enthusiastic reception in test areas and are attaining broad distribution rapidly.

The fall campaign will concentrate on newspaper promotions throughout the New England territory. In addition, Marjorie Mills, famous home economist, will tell her thousands of enthusiastic radio listeners about Blue Label foods twice a week. New England's favorite food magazines, Woman's Day and Family Circle will also carry large color ads, reports A. W. Dana, recently appointed Northeastern Sales Representative for Curtice Brothers Company.

O. S. Doolittle Dies

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Orrin Sage Doolittle, 87, retired chemist and one of the oldest graduates of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, died yesterday in Doctors Hospital. He lived in Yonkers. He was graduated from M.I.T. in 1886, then became a chemist for the Pennsylvania Railroad. Subsequently he joined the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. In later years he was general sales manager in New York for the Semet Solvay Company of Syracuse.

Pension Advice Is Given to Veterans

F. William Sheehan, officer-in-charge of the local Veterans Administration office, 286 Fair street, reminds veterans who are currently in receipt of pension benefits of a nonservice connected nature that they must file if they feel that they are eligible for the additional monetary benefits authorized by Congress over the President's veto. Such act is effective November 1 and if eligible veterans are to receive this new monetary grant it will be necessary for them to file on or before that.

Such application must either be postmarked prior to November 1st, or received by the Veterans Administration office on that date.

Sheehan further states that applications to apply for this benefit are available at the VA office.

Retailing Class Makes Displays

Crews 5 and 6 of the retailing class, 1952, completed two displays during the week of Oct. 22, in periods 1 and 2.

An interesting display on winter sports was the work of Crew 5, including Red Hinkley, Thomas Rundle, and Leo Wells. The display included basketball and football articles which were loaned through the courtesy of Tommy Maines Sports Shop.

A hunting display was the project of Crew 6 and included guns, shells, hunters clothing and boots. These articles were loaned through the courtesy of Montgomery Ward.

Periods 3 and 4 also made show case displays. One, with materials loaned by Kramor Young Folks Shop, included baby blankets, hot plates, bottle holders, toys and other baby articles arranged on an orchid background by Elaine Tucker, Nora Bunt and James DiPeri. Another arrangement of a sports nature was done with materials loaned by Potter Brothers and consisted of basketballs, gym socks, tennis shoes and a maroon and white jacket and trunks. A book of basketball was also shown.

Says System Considered

San Francisco, Oct. 30 (AP)—Every major city in New York state is considering plans for fluoridation of drinking water, a process designed to reduce tooth decay. Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, and Dr. David B. Akst, director of the State Health Department's Bureau of Dental Health, made that report today at the 79th annual meeting of the American Public Health Association. Through controlled fluoridation of drinking water, they contended, "it may be possible to reduce dental decay by 60 to 65 per cent, and together with current dental practice to reduce tooth loss from decay to almost the vanishing point."

HAROLD G. CHRISTIANA

S. R. Harold G. Christiana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Christiana, 169 Murray street, recently spent a 14-day leave with his parents after completing boot training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. Since the expiration of his leave, he was shipped to California and is now en route to Japan.

Three on Des Moines

They are Chris Lay, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Lay, 10 Smith avenue; Kenneth Lowe, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lowe, 99 Shufeldt street and Robert Budington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Budington, St. Remy. Seaman Budington, who recently signed for another four-year hitch with the navy, is a second class boiler tender.

Home on Leave

John Patrick Carpino, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carpino, 124 South Manor avenue, is now home on leave after finishing boot training at the Bainbridge, Md., navy base. He has applied for submarine duty.

Kingsburg Kept Busy as Yeoman On Naval Vessel

Being the captain's yeoman, a full time job within itself, is just one of many jobs of Henry Kingsburg, yeoman, first class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Kingsburg of 83 W. Union street, Kingston.

"King's," as he is known throughout the ship, is the leading petty officer of the captain's office. A few of the many jobs of this officer include handling the central files, incoming-outgoing mail, officers' records, and preparation of all correspondence.

Kingsburg enlisted in the naval service July 10, 1944 at Poughkeepsie, and received his recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Sampson. Upon completion of this training he reported aboard the transport USS Griggs and spent 11 months in the Pacific area. Returning to the states, he was discharged June 7, 1946.

Reenlisting in the navy, Sept. 9, 1947, he went aboard the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea in September 1948 to Commander Air Force, Atlantic Fleet, based at Norfolk, Va. Leaving there, Kingsburg reported aboard the aircraft carrier USS Leyte April 5, 1950 and was with her during her service in Korea. The Leyte is presently on a tour of duty with the Sixth Fleet operating in the Mediterranean area. Today the Sixth Fleet is the navy's second largest operational fleet on the high seas. It covers the entire Mediterranean Sea, continuously participating in fleet training exercises, and making good will calls to many foreign ports. It is the navy's present policy to rotate ships about every four months on this duty.

Kingsburg is entitled to wear the following decorations: Good Conduct Medal, American Theatre, Asiatic-Pacific, World War 2 Victory Medal, Philippine Liberation, Korean Campaign and Occupation Medal.

He graduated from Kingston High School with the class of 1947 in Kingston.

Petersen Is Promoted

Sgt. Raymond Petersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Petersen, Sr., 116 Wrentham street, has been promoted to staff sergeant. He is stationed at the George Wright Air Force Base, Fairchild, Wash.

Constable Promoted

With the Eighth Army in Korea—Francis Constable, 207 Wall street, Kingston, now serving with the 30th Ordnance Battalion in Korea, was recently promoted to corporal. Before entering Korea seven months ago, Cpl. Constable was stationed at the Ordnance Depot in Fuchu, Japan. A regular army man, he spent over a year at Fort Bliss, Tex.

About 25 species of fish and shellfish are caught commercially in Alaska.

Robs Boxoffice

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—A movie cashier told police last night that a man called her and said: "You are being watched. You will be robbed shortly, so behave." A few minutes later Miss Gertrude Amodeo said, a young man appeared at the Star and Garter Theatre and offered 35 cents for a ticket. "You're short," she told him, referring to the price of admission. "Oh, no, you're going to be short—I want all the money you got," he said, making a motion as though he were carrying a gun. He fled with $100 from the boxoffice till.

Jurors Excused At Monday Court

Jurors not engaged on the case being tried in Supreme Court were excused for the term Monday by Justice Herber D. Hamm. In excusing the jurors Justice Hamm thanked the members for their attendance at the term.

A negligence action brought by Louis Von Bory against Elizabeth Hanisch was continued. This is an action to recover for injuries suffered when the cars of parties collided at the parking grounds of the Empire Market. Plaintiff alleged injuries. William A. Kaercher and Elmor H. Nathan appear for plaintiff. Charles W. Jenkins is attorney of record for defendants.

An inquest was heard by Justice Hamm Monday in an action brought by Zoltan Kellner against John Taggett, an action for damage to plaintiff's car in an accident in the town of Wawarsing. Plaintiff was awarded $750.

Action on Note

An inquest was also taken in an action on promissory note brought by Kingston Horse Market, Inc., against Charles Gegen, Jr., and the court awarded plaintiff $78.60, the balance due on the note. A counter claim was dismissed. Henry Grusky was attorney of record for plaintiff and Heinz A. L. Hellmold for defendant.

An action for work, labor and services brought by Minnie Coutant against Geraldine Peters Nathan, as administratrix, etc., was settled. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and Elmor H. Nathan for defendant.

A fraud action brought by Fred Heintzelman against Carla Jensen and another, was settled. Stanley Faulkner for plaintiff and Moses Nergman for defendants.

Nos. 115 and 171, actions brought for partition and to appoint a receiver by Jane M. Goldrick, individually, etc., against Merton L. Goldrick, individually, etc., were stricken from the calendar.

Two negligence actions brought by George S. Bogert and another and Grace Humphrey against V. J. Costanzi, were also stricken from the calendar. David Corwin for plaintiffs and Cook & Cook for defendant.

About the Folks

Mrs. Everett Glass, West Hurley, is convalescing at the Kingston Hospital where she has undergone an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight McEntee of 95 Orchard street are registered at the Berkeley Carteret Hotel, Asbury Park, N. J.

Lieut. Robert E. Morris, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight McEntee of 95 Orchard street, is on sick leave from Fort Eustis, Va., where he recently underwent an appendectomy. After a visit with his wife and two daughters with relatives in Kingston, Lieut. Morris will be transferred to Alaska for a tour of duty, leaving about December 18 from Seattle, Wash.

Worse Famine Ahead

New Delhi, India, Oct. 30 (AP)—India will face a famine threat next year worse than in 1951, a food ministry spokesman said today in an interview. Drouths have destroyed crops or cut yields seriously in eight states, the spokesman added. This means India will have to import 5,000,000 tons of food grains next year—the same amount as she imported in 1951.

Ulster Clerk Dies At His Home Today

Edward M. Every of 42 Esopus avenue, town clerk of the town of Ulster for the past six years, died early this morning following a lengthy illness. He is survived by his wife the former Laura Klothe; a son, Frank M. Every of New Brunswick, N. J.; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Mooney of Kingston and a granddaughter, Laura Barbara Every.

Mr. Every was an employe of the town of Ulster for 20 years and held the office of collector before he was elected town clerk. He was a nominee for the office of town clerk in the November election to succeed himself and had the endorsement of both major parties. He was a member of Town of Ulster Fire Department No. 5. About 18 years ago he was injured in a slide at a local sandbank while drawing sand and the effects of the accident were a severe handicap to him for many years.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Jenson & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street and relatives and friends are invited to attend. Burial will take place in Mt. Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the chapel at any time.

Fall Show

Twelve Men Killed in Wreck, Nine Are Missing at Buffalo

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—Twelve seamen were reported dead or missing today after a freighter struck a gasoline-loaded barge and a resulting explosion set three vessels afire in Buffalo harbor.

The coast guard said a charred mass of debris in the cabin of the tug Dauntless probably contained bodies. At first, the coast guard had reported the mass was a pile of at least four bodies.

The Great Lakes freighter Penobscot rammed the loaded oil barge Morania shortly after 9 p. m. (EST) last night, and the barge exploded. Its 800,000 gallons of gasoline showered the freighter and the tug, which was pushing the barge.

The 454-foot, 6,500-ton freighter was one of the largest on the Great Lakes.

Night Was Clear

The cause of the accident was not determined. The harbor was dark, but the night was clear. The Coast Guard and owners of the craft were investigating.

The Penobscot, which had unloaded a grain cargo Sunday, was leaving the harbor for Detroit and Duluth. The barge was inbound.

The Coast Guard said the pile of bodies found on the tug could account for the six members of the crew that had been listed as missing. The body of one unidentified tug crewman had been found earlier. The captain escaped with minor injuries.

Two crewmen from the Penobscot and one of the two bargemen were listed as missing.

Capt. Louis Guyette of the Penobscot and his helmsman, Roy Richardson, 56, both of Port Huron, Mich., died heroically in the freighter's pilot house. Their bodies also were recovered earlier.

Churchill Names

appointed later to head the three departments.

Crookshank as minister of health will administer Britain's giant national health service. As the government's deputy leader in Commons, he will do much of the day to day work of organizing the House's business. Anthony Eden is leader of the House.

Churchill named Eden and seven other key cabinet members on Saturday.

Meeting Called

Churchill called a meeting of his new cabinet for today. Prime subjects are the latest developments in Britain's oil dispute with Iran and the row with Egypt over defense of the Suez Canal zone.

Also before the cabinet are the pressing problems of a coal and power shortage and heavy losses in both sterling and dollars in foreign trade.

There were indications Churchill's cabinet may total 16 or 17 members he has nearly 70 more key government posts to fill.

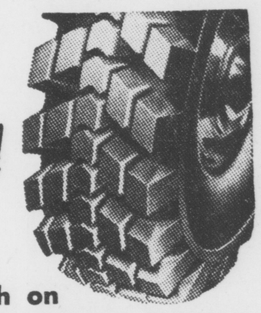

The new prime minister, whose party won a scanty majority of 18 House of Commons seats in Thursday's general election, has been assembling his new government since he took office late Friday afternoon.

Twenty-mile-long icebergs were sighted in 1948 by Australian air reconnaissance in the Antarctic.

Robs Boxoffice

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP)—A movie cashier told police last night that a man called her and said: "You are being watched. You will be robbed shortly, so behave." A few minutes later Miss Gertrude Amodeo said, a young man appeared at the Star and Garter Theatre and offered 35 cents for a ticket. "You're short," she told him, referring to the price of admission. "Oh, no, you're going to be short—I want all the money you got," he said, making a motion as though he were carrying a gun. He fled with $100 from the boxoffice till.

Truck Crash in Which Two Were Hurt

Jurors Excused At Monday Court

Jurors not engaged on the case being tried in Supreme Court were excused for the term Monday by Justice Herber D. Hamm. In excusing the jurors Justice Hamm thanked the members for their attendance at the term.

A negligence action brought by Louis Von Bory against Elizabeth Hanisch was continued. This is an action to recover for injuries suffered when the cars of parties collided at the parking grounds of the Empire Market. Plaintiff alleged injuries. William A. Kaercher and Elmor H. Nathan appear for plaintiff. Charles W. Jenkins is attorney of record for defendants.

An inquest was heard by Justice Hamm Monday in an action brought by Zoltan Kellner against John Taggett, an action for damage to plaintiff's car in an accident in the town of Wawarsing. Plaintiff was awarded $750.

Action on Note

An inquest was also taken in an action on promissory note brought by Kingston Horse Market, Inc., against Charles Gegen, Jr., and the court awarded plaintiff $78.60, the balance due on the note. A counter claim was dismissed. Henry Grusky was attorney of record for plaintiff and Heinz A. L. Hellmold for defendant.

An action for work, labor and services brought by Minnie Coutant against Geraldine Peters Nathan, as administratrix, etc., was settled. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and Elmor H. Nathan for defendant.

A fraud action brought by Fred Heintzelman against Carla Jensen and another, was settled. Stanley Faulkner for plaintiff and Moses Nergman for defendants.

Nos. 115 and 171, actions brought for partition and to appoint a receiver by Jane M. Goldrick, individually, etc., against Merton L. Goldrick, individually, etc., were stricken from the calendar.

Two negligence actions brought by George S. Bogert and another and Grace Humphrey against V. J. Costanzi, were also stricken from the calendar. David Corwin for plaintiffs and Cook & Cook for defendant.

About the Folks

Mrs. Everett Glass, West Hurley, is convalescing at the Kingston Hospital where she has undergone an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight McEntee of 95 Orchard street are registered at the Berkeley Carteret Hotel, Asbury Park, N. J.

Lieut. Robert E. Morris, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight McEntee of 95 Orchard street, is on sick leave from Fort Eustis, Va., where he recently underwent an appendectomy. After a visit with his wife and two daughters with relatives in Kingston, Lieut. Morris will be transferred to Alaska for a tour of duty, leaving about December 18 from Seattle, Wash.

Worse Famine Ahead

New Delhi, India, Oct. 30 (AP)—India will face a famine threat next year worse than in 1951, a food ministry spokesman said today in an interview. Drouths have destroyed crops or cut yields seriously in eight states, the spokesman added. This means India will have to import 5,000,000 tons of food grains next year—the same amount as she imported in 1951.

Fall Show

In the fall when green chlorophyll ceases to be dominant in trees, red, orange and yellow pigments have their chance to show.

Ulster Clerk Dies At His Home Today

Edward M. Every of 42 Esopus avenue, town clerk of the town of Ulster for the past six years, died early this morning following a lengthy illness. He is survived by his wife the former Laura Klothe; a son, Frank M. Every of New Brunswick, N. J.; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Mooney of Kingston and a granddaughter, Laura Barbara Every.

Mr. Every was an employe o. the town of Ulster for 20 years and held the office of collector before he was elected town clerk. He was a nominee for the office of town clerk in the November election to succeed himself and had the endorsement of both major parties. He was a member of Town of Ulster Fire Department No. 5. About 18 years ago he was injured in a slide at a local sandbank while drawing sand and the effects of the accident were a severe handicap to him for many years.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Jenson & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street and relatives and friends are invited to attend. Burial will take place in Mt. Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the chapel at any time.

Twelve Men Killed in Wreck, Nine Are Missing at Buffalo

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—Twelve seamen were reported dead or missing today after a freighter struck a gasoline-loaded barge and a resulting explosion set three vessels afire in Buffalo harbor.

The coast guard said a charred mass of debris in the cabin of the tug Dauntless probably contained bodies. At first, the coast guard had reported the mass was a pile of at least four bodies.

Three bodies had been recovered earlier.

The coast guard listed nine men, six from the tug, as missing.

The Great Lakes freighter Penobscot rammed the loaded oil barge Morania shortly after 9 p. m. (EST) last night, and the barge exploded. Its 800,000 gallons of gasoline showered the freighter and the tug, which was pushing the barge.

The 454-foot, 6,500-ton freighter was one of the largest on the Great Lakes.

Night Was Clear

The cause of the accident was not determined. The harbor was dark, but the night was clear. The Coast Guard and owners of the craft were investigating.

The Penobscot, which had unloaded a grain cargo Sunday, was leaving the harbor for Detroit and Duluth. The barge was inbound.

The Coast Guard said the pile of bodies found on the tug could account for the six members of the crew that had been listed as missing. The body of one unidentified tug crewman had been found earlier. The captain escaped with minor injuries.

Two crewmen from the Penobscot and one of the two bargemen were listed as missing.

Capt. Louis Guyette of the Penobscot and his helmsman, Roy Richardson, 56, both of Port Huron, Mich., died heroically in the freighter's pilot house. Their bodies also were recovered earlier.
